LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Temple—The Great Silvester Troupe.
Probate Notice.
Chatterbox Magazine—Joseph H. Foster.
Life and Fire Insurance Co.—John S. Harvey.

...A Citizens' Lyceum Course is soon to be inaugurated at Armory Hall, Kittery. Rev. C. M. Dinsmore, James P. Bartlett, Rev. James DeNormandie and others, have been engaged to deliver lectures. It is proposed to have a series of six, closing with a grand concert.

The first lecture is to be delivered on Tuesday evening next, at Armory Hall, by Col. R. C. Shannon of Biddeford, subject, "Land of the Southern Cross."

☞ The Third Annual Teachers' Institute for the County of Rockingham, will be held at South Newmarket, commencing on Monday, Feb. 6th, at 2 o'clock, P. M., and continuing through the week. A very able Board of Instructors has been engaged, who will make every exercise interesting and profitable.

☞ An advertisement elsewhere gives notice of a very curious entertainment to come off at the Temple, Thursday evening, Jan. 26. The Boston Journal says of it:

Monday evening we visited the Adelphi Theatre, where we had the satisfaction of witnessing the "Masks and Faces," or Lights and Shadows of Character with the Human Face, by Miss Angelique Schott, pupil of Mr. A. Silvester. In these days it is difficult for us to find anything that is really new and relishable as a performance; in this case, we are happy to say that we have found something that is entirely new, interesting, and at times extremely humorous. The different representations of a beard, moustachios upon the face of Miss Schott, are certainly very effective illusions, and combined with her conversational powers, render this portion of the programme very entertaining. Part Third introduces to us the "Talking Lion." We saw this lion, and heard him talk and roar, saw him scratch his nose with his paw, and must confess that the illusion of Mr. Silvester is decidedly the best we have ever seen.

HOME INSURANCE CO. OF NEW HAVEN.

Extract of a Circular to their Agents dated January 5, 1871.

"It is with extreme regret that I have to inform you that the Home Insurance Company has this day made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. So soon as the Court shall approve of a Trustee, he will advise you what action to take to secure what claims you or your customers may have against the Company. In the mean time, for the protection of Policy-Holders, I would advise that you cancel all Policies issued at your Agency at once, and be in readiness to forward a full list of Policies cancelled, with the number of Policy, amount Insured, rate, amount of Premium, and amount due thereon, so soon as the Trustee shall call for the same."

Yours truly, L. W. CLARKE,
Late Secretary Home Ins. Company.

By the above it will be seen the Home is closing up its affairs as fast as possible. I can give no guarantee, but it is generally thought the Company will soon pay a part or the whole of the back premium.

I want every Policy-Holder to bring in their Policies to me immediately and be insured in some other good Company. I have the Insurance Co. of North America, Phila., the oldest and strongest Co. in the United States, with a business of 75 years and about three million dollars Assets. Phœnix of Hartford, one of the best in Connecticut, nearly two million dollars Assets—the Pacific of San Francisco, nearly two million dollars in Gold.—Springfield of Mass., a very strong and reliable Company—and some others.

I have done Insurance business about 20 years, and every loss has been promptly paid at this Agency to the satisfaction of all. Thanking my friends and the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity for their patronage, I hope to continue the Insurance business with better success and prosperity than ever before. JOHN S. HARVEY, Insurance agent.

THE WAR.—Having read the charge made before the Board of Aldermen by the Overseers of the Poor against Rev. Canon Walsh, of having behaved with ungentlemanly rudeness to the Matron of the Almshouse, and the Canon's account of the affair also, we perceive a slight discrepancy between the two stories. Without expressing any opinion as to the correctness of either account, we may say that one thing struck us very forcibly when reading the Rev. gentleman's letter, viz.; that the worthy Canon must have been in a most unclerically bitter fit of ill-temper when he delivered that cannonade of sneers at the lady whom he blandly styles "our worthy Queen."

However, we have no objection to a clergyman getting mad if he wants to or thinks he has cause, as well as other men; but it is too bad that the Mayor and Aldermen should be so hardly dealt with by him. That respectable but afflicted body of men are accused of having "tried, judged and condemned" the Canon "without a hearing, or one to defend" him. Here at least he is mistaken. The Aldermen accepted a communication from the Overseers—as they are in courtesy bound to do any communication from any source, if couched in respectful terms—and referred the matter to a Committee, who were to report in one week; but the week has passed and the report has not yet been made, the reason given being that only one side has yet been heard. This does not look as though the Board were inclined to be unjust to any one.

The unhappy Aldermen have a gloomy enough prospect ahead of them, in having to submit to the dictates and to listen to the interminable harangues of the great legal luminary who was not nominated as candidate for Governor this year, without having to face the undeserved frowns and censures of Rev. Mr. Walsh.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ The workmen at the Navy Yard now labor alternately, stopping off four days at a time.

☞ The new ship at the Raynes yard will be launched to-day at 12 M. She sold for $38,000.

☞ The Journal says that if the citizens of Portsmouth could vote on the City Marshal question, Mr. Frank B. Johnson would receive a larger majority than any Mayor of Portsmouth ever had.

☞ The skating on the North mill pond is nice, and the young and old are improving the opportunity. A son of Mr. Geo. P. Edny broke through the ice, Friday, but was rescued by his companions with great difficulty.

☞ It is reported that an unknown man fell into the water, from Railroad wharf, Thursday evening, and that his cries were heard by two men, who procured a boat and went to his assistance but did not find any trace of him.

☞ President Grant has nominated Isaiah Hanscom, Esq., for Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs, vice John Lenthall, Esq. Mr. Hanscom was for many years attached to this Naval Station, and was one of the most capable Constructors in the naval service. He is just the man for his new position.

NEWS FROM THE SAGINAW CASTAWAYS.—Paymaster George H. Read, of the U. S. steamer Saginaw, writes to his family from Ocean Island, Nov. 15th:—"We shall not want for meat, as there is abundance of fish, seal and turtle, so that we have no fear of starving. Our flour is rice, and our bread will last for about two and a half months more. Most of the sails were saved and we are all comfortable in good tents. We have dug wells, but found no fresh water. At present we have a good condenser from the boiler that we had on board. I am sure that there never was a ship-wrecked crew having more conveniences than we ha.ve"

☞ The Portsmouth correspondent of the Boston Transcript says an improvement in the shoe business is noticeable. The establishment of Mr. Thos. S. Nowell, is running in full force, employing about 200 hands. Large orders have recently been received from New York, the West and California. The business of this firm has exceeded $300,000 the past year, and many orders remain unfilled. Another manufactory is soon to be started on the corner of State and Water streets.

The Rockingham House, with its addition and thorough renovation, will be finished by early spring, and will be one of the finest hotels in New England. The old landmark where Lafayette spoke from the balcony—the popular Franklin House—is to be remodelled and enlarged in time for summer travel. The balcony still remains attached to the house as in "ye olden times."

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—The dirty Seabrook case, Jacob and Sarah Rowe vs. Joseph and Eliza Evans, resulted in a verdict awarding $100 damages.

On trial, case Patrick Kiley vs. James Lennihan.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA, have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

The First Through Line Across the State

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

			Difference in Cash	Incr'd annual Int. Exchange.

10-40's,		"	155.00	2.14 " " "
Central Pacific's		"	25.00	1.29 " " "

The cash difference paid on some of the above will be somewhat modified after the payment of the January coupons.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq., Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank, SAMUEL LORD, Esq., Cashier First National Bank, Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer.
32 Pine Street, New York.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

7 PER CENT. GOLD

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND FREE OF U. S. TAX, Principal and Interest Payable in Gold, ISSUED BY THE Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency. Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.]

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 65 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All Marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

JIM WOLF and TOM CATS.

BY MARK TWAIN.

I knew by the sympathetic glow upon his bald head—I knew by the thoughtful look upon his face—I knew by the emotional flush on the strawberry on the end of the old free liver's nose, that Simon Wheeler's memory was busy with olden times. And so I prepared to leave, because all these were symptoms of a reminiscence—signs that he was going to be delivered of another of his tiresome personal experiences—but I was too slow; he got the start of me. And so I can remember the infliction was coucked in the following language.

"We were all boys then and didn't care for nothing, and didn't worry about nothing only to shirk school, and keep up a revivin' state of divilment all the time. This yar Jim Wolf and I was talking about the 'prentice, and he was the best hearted feller, he was, and the most forgivin' and onselfish I ever see—well, there couldn't have been a bullier boy than he was, take him how you would, and sorry enough I was when I saw him for the last time.

Me and Henry was always pestering him and plastering hoss bills on his back, and putting bumble bees in his bed, and so on, and sometimes we'd crowd in and bunk with him, nothwithstanding his growling, and we'd let on to get mad and fight across him, so as to keep him stirred up like. He was 19; he was long, and lank, and bashful, and we was 15 and 16, tolerably worthless and lazy.

So that night, you know, that my sister gave a candy pullin,' they started us off to bed early, so that the company could have full swing, and we run into Jim's to have some fun.

Our room leoked out onto the roof of the ell, and about ten o'clock, a couple of old tom-cats got to rarin' and chargin' about it, and carrying on like sin. There was four inches of snow on the roof, and it was frozen on so there was a right smart crust of ice on it, and the moon was shining bright, and we could see them cats like daylight. First, they would stand off and e-you powwow, just the same as if they were cussin' each other, you know, and bow up their backs and push up their tails, and swell around and spit, and then all of a sudden the gray cat he'd catch a handful of fur out of the yellow cat's ham, and spin him round like the button on a barn door. But the yeller cat was game and he'd come, and scratch, and the way they'd gouge, and bite, and howl, and the way they'd make the fur fly was powerful.

Well, Jim, he got disgusted with the row, and 'lowed he'd climb out there and shake 'em off the roof. He hadn't reely any notion of doin' it, likely, but we everlastin'ly dogged him, and bullyragged him, and we 'lowed he'd always bragged how he wouldn't take a dare; and so on, till bimeby he histed up the winder, and lo and behold, he went—went exactly as he was; nothing on but a shirt, and it was short. But you ought to have seen him cre-ep-pin over that ice, and digging his toe-nails in to keep from slipping; and, above all, you ought to have seen that shirt tail flappin' in the wind, and them long, rediculous shanks of his glistening in the moonlight.

Them company folks were down there under the eaves, the whole squad of 'em under the onery shed of old Washington bower vines, all settin' round about two dozen sassers of hot candy, which they'd sot in the snow to cool. And they was langhin' and talkin' lively; but bless you, they didn't know nothin' about the panorama that was goin' on over their heads. Well, Jim went sneakin' up unbeknown to them tom-cats—they was swishin' their tails, and yow-yowin' and threatenin' to clinch, you know, and not payin' any attention—he went a sneakin' right to the comb of the roof, till he was within a foot'-a-half of 'em, and then all of a sudden he made a grab for the yeller cat! But by gosh he missed fire and slipped; his heels flew up, and he flopped on his back, and he went off'm that roof like a dart!—went a slashin' and a smashin' and crashin' down through them old rusty vines, and landed in the centre of them company people! sat down like a yearthquake in them two dozen sassers of red hot candy, and let off a howl which was heard from the tomb! Them gals—well they looked, you know. They see that he wasn't dressed for company, and so they left. All done in a second. It was just one war-whoop and a whish of their dresses, and blame the wench of them was in sight anywhere.

Jim, he was a sight. He was gormed with the hot molasses-candy clean down to his heels, and he had more busted sassers hanging to him than if he was an Injun princess—and he came a prancin' up stairs just a hoopin' and a cussin', every jump he made he shed some china, and every squirm he fetched he dropped some candy!

And blistered! Why, bless your soul, that poor creature couldn't reely sit down for as much as four weeks."

—A curious contribution to the marvellous in nature has recently been unkenneled in Indiana. It was found in a kitchen chained to a chair. Its shape and physical attributes are all human with the exception of the head, which is that of a monkey and entirely covered with hair, except a little ring around each eye. This queer beast enacts the part of a monkey to the life. It crawls over the back of the chair to which it is chained, chatters and grins, and comports itself in the simian fashion. [illegible] which it was found acknowledges herself to be the mother of this strange creature. The man-monkey is several years old, and is chained to the chair for the purpose of keeping it out of mischief.

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

RACHEL'S WAR.

Mrs. Pettigrew had come in ostensibly to borrow Rachel's large dripping pan; and she meant to inquire, before the call was over, whether Rachel intended to use her preserving kettle on the following week. But there was an admirable indirectness about the good woman's mode of proceeding; so she settled down in a comfortable rocking-chair, which creaked with her weight, and took off her sun-bonnet and smoothed out the folds of her gown.

Rachel was making pumpkin-pies; and the etiquette of the country did not oblige her to forego her occupation on account of her visitor. There was a pan of sifted pumpkins upon the table and a pan of golden milk, showing the richness of fall pasturage, and eggs, and butter, and whiffs of cinnamon perfume were coming and going. Rachel held up a blue pie-plate upon her hand, and slitted the crust from about the edge with dexterity.

At the moment, in that not unpicturesque attitude, with the plump bared arm and well-poised head, Rachel was a fit representative of the genuine Yankee girl. Nature had put no journey work upon her. The clear positive lines of her face told that. If she was not strictly handsome, there certainly was no other girl in Basset with the spirit and courage of Rachel Henderson.

"Have you got acquainted with the Braytons, Rachel?" Mrs. Pettigrew was inquiring as a sort of a roundabout introduction to the quince "sass" and the preserving kettle. "You know that family that has bought the old Shorter place?"

"No, I haven't" returned Rachel, with a slight jerk in her tone, which showed her disposition was not unmitigated sweetness; "but I know their pigs and chickens too well," she added. "They have been overrunning the garden for a month past, and father is so easy he won't say boo to a neighbor, whatever happens; but, at last, I have taken the matter into my own hands and declared war. We keep our animals at home, and expect other folks to do the same, or else take the cousequences."

"I know what you can do, Rachel, when you get your dander up; but it seems to me you have got a breachy cow of your own," remarked Mrs. Pettigrew, who took peculiar comfort in touching up her friends on their weak points.

"Oh, yes," returned Rachel, carelessly; "old Bess was trying in that respect last summer. But we always paid damages, and now father keeps a board on her head, and looks well to the fences."

"Wal"—and Mrs. Pettigrew sighed—"I don't know why the Lord put such propensities into critters; but I s'pose rooting and scratching is all the pigs and chickens have of arning a living, though some of 'em do seem to be totally depraved. And if I wanted to prove total depravity, I'd pint to them shotes we had a year ago come next spring."

"As a general thing, if pigs and chickens have enough to eat at home, they won't trouble the public," remarked Rachel, with a little asperity, as she opened the oven door, and tried the temperature with her hand.

"The Braytons haven't had time to get things ship-shape. Old Eli Shorter was dreadful shiftless, and let the place run down at the heel. Besides, Rachel, don't spile your market. There's a likely young man over there. Everybody has a good word for Herman Brayton. Folks say he has been through college, and knows a sight; but he don't put on any airs, and has chosen to be a farmer rather than to go lawing or doctoring."

"I am not acquainted with the young man," said Rachel, coldly; "but I can tell him one thing—it takes more than college learning to teach some people to observe the rights of others."

"Look out, Rachel," and old Mrs. Pettigrew screwed her eyes into an odious wink. "I've heard girls talk jest as you do afore now, but there's no knowing what may happen. I must tell you of a remark Philander made last night just as he was blowing out the candle. It seemed to strike him suddenly; and says he 'Huddy, I shouldn't be a bit surprised if one of these times, Rachel and Herman Brayton struck up a match. For you see the farms jine; and it would look, as we might say, providential.'"

"Folks needn't trouble themselves about making matches for me," broke in Rachel, with her face in a flame. "I can attend to my own affairs without anyone's interference, and Herman Brayton is the last man I should ever look at."

"Come, Rachel, don't get riled," the old lady made haste to say, in a purring tone. "It was all a joke, and Philander, says, says he, 'Rachel Henderson is as smart as a whip, and any man who gets her will be doing plaguey well; but she'll be awful partickler, I know she will.' Deary me, how late it is! I must be going. Now I think of it, Rachel, could you lend me your big dripping-pan? Sister Blake is coming over with her family to-morrow, and mine won't take in an extra-sized roast."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and Inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of those organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR.

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as retain one can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE WAR.

The Germans say that Gen. Bourbaki n the 17th renewed his attack upon on Werder's entrenched position, outh of Belfort, was again repulsed ith great loss, is in full retreat to the outhward and that the attempt to relieve Belfort is completely frustrated.

The French say that Bourbaki attacked the Prussians on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with the object of crossing the Sissaine and seizing St. Valbest. The enemy resisted the movement, and Bourbaki returns to his former position.

A London dispatch says that the German losses in these battles was 4200, while the loss of the French was 7800. No guns were captured by the Germans and but few prisoners.

The French army of the north continues its march, and has already reached Corbie. The French, on taking St. Quentin, seized two guns and the baggage of French prisoners left behind by the Germans in their retreat.

All the members of the diplomatic corps remaining in Paris, with the exception of the American minister, have applied to the Prussian military authorities for permission to withdaw from the city, but the request has been refused.

German guns have been dismounted by some of the new French batteries in front of Paris.

Earl Granville has accepted the indemnity offered by Prussia for the English vessels sunk in the Seine.

Favre has asked for a safe-conduct to go to Versailles.

A balloon has landed in Belgium, with advices from Paris to the 18th. The bombardment was causing considerable damage, but the fires occasioned by it were easily extinguished.

Bourbaki has retreated from Montebiliard to Clamart, but is not being pursued.

The Parisians claim that they have provisions sufficient to last into the middle of March.

☞ Filkins, who is under arrest for he murderous assault on the express messenger on the Boston & Albany Railroad, recently, has been fully identified by Halpine, the messenger, as the would-be murderer and robber. He selected him out of five other men, all of whom were strangers to him. The examination of Filkins has been continued, and the drift of the testimony is strongly against him. The young man who sold the pistol used identifies him as the purchaser.

NAVAL.—Among the war vessels fitting out at the Brooklyn Navy Yard are the Shawmut, Canandaigua, Wachusett and Omaha. The Omaha will be ready for sea in about two months; her destination has not yet been fixed. The Canandaigua and Wachusett will probably be sent to the Pacific squadrons. The frigate Minnesota is fitting out as the flagship of the European squadron, to relieve the Franklin. The greatest activity prevails.

☞ A little son of Mr. Wm. Hanscom of South Berwick, Me., was drowned last week. He, with a companion was coasting on the river, when the sled ran into a small hole in the ice, where the current was running very swiftly. It went down some rods under the ice, and came up in the stream; but the boy was never seen again.

☞ A Connecticut man who had gone from Hampden to the shore at West Haven, clamming, Friday, got lost in the dense fog that suddenly rose, and the tide coming rapidly in, he was unable to find the shore. His horse soon sank from exhaustion. The man's cries were at last heard, and he was rescued when almost dead from exposure.

☞ The reports of trouble between the striking and working miners in the Shamokin (Penn.) region are increasing. On Wednesday a party of armed men and women stopped the Langdon colliery near Shamokin, where they broke the tools of operatives and fired into the office of the superintendent.

☞ The French iron-clad corvette Bellequeuse arrived at Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 26. She is on the lookout for North German ships, and her destination is New Caledonia. The Nord Brobant arrived at Melbourne from San Francisco on the same day as the French cruiser.

☞ King William has been crowned Emperor of Germany at Versailles, and has issued a proclamation on the occasion.

☞ Mr. William Kenney of Lawrence was drowned while skating on the 20th.

CAT-WHALING.—Down on Nantucket Island all the male inhabitants are seafaring men. They are whalers, absent for years; at home only for weeks. But during these brief intervals from toil these hardy sons of the salt sea tell over the dangers they have passed; the hair-breadth escapes, when whales proved unruly or the wind blew great guns. The boys of the Island listen with rapt attention and open ears to these yarns, and inwardly resolve that they will go on a whaling voyage when they get to be men. The whole Island is oily and nautical. Over all the female inhabitants there hangs a cloud of anxiety. Many a fond, fearful wife lies wide awake and trembling all night as she hears the wild wind sweeping down upon the island as if to carry it from its mooring, and then off upon the water lashing the waves into fury. She thinks of the loved one far, far away, perhaps wrecked, or his white bones bleaching upon some desert coast. The duties of the clergymen of the Island are largely those of vigilation, to give personal consolation to these neptunian widows.

It was a sunny afternoon on Nantucket, when Rev. Mr. Cheerful called upon Mrs. Bobstay, whose husband, an old whaler, had just sailed for the "spermy-city" of the broad Pacific sea. Mrs. Bobstay was low down in her mind, and required a cheering word from the good man. On the contrary, her son of eight years old, Jack Bobstay by name, was full of nerve and hope. The old man had filled his son's mind with sea yarns sufficiently thrilling for a dime novel, and the lad nightly dreamed of spearing whales, of reefing ice-plated sails off the ever boisterous Cape Horn, of "taking in," "trying out," etc., all of which he had heard his father talk and swear about. Many an eighty barrel whale had Jack captured while sleeping snugly in his little bed, which his father had triced up hammock fashion.

The scene was a quiet one; the dominie was earnest in his low words of comfort; the mother, her heart away upon the outspread ocean which she could see stretching away southward to where the good ship Oiltub disappeared against the lowering sky, listened attentively, gratefully. Jack, on a little stool, sat drinking in the pictures on the "Pirate's Own Book." In the open door the house cat lay napping in the warm sunshine, which streamed gloriously in through the open door. The good man had his heart in his work; he calmed the fears of the sorrowing wife, told her of the help and comfort she would have in her boy Jack, who would soon be a man, and was about to place a soothing climax upon his words of consolation by an appeal to the throne of grace, when a denouement of a most startling character burst upon the prevailing serenity like a fatal bolt from a smiling sky.

In listening the mother had dropped her knitting—a stocking just begun; the ball of yarn lay in her lap unheeded. All unnoticed Jack pulled several fathoms and coiled it with sailor-like nicety upon the floor. That done a new thought struck him. A large carving fork lay upon the table; Jack secured it. He ran the prongs through the newly begun stocking. Then, just as Rev. Mr. Cheerful was about to kneel, Jack poised his ingeniously-constructed, impromptu, harpoon. Placing his left foot forward, as he had heard his father tell of having done, he drove the harpoon with all his force at the unconscious cat sleeping in the sun. His aim was true; he struck the feline as his father would have termed it just "abaft the starboard for'ard fluke.

Persons sleeping in rooms with sheds adjacent which are nightly frequented by cats, can possibly imagine the yell that arose from that half-impaled Tabby. She sprang to her feet, darted out the door, her speed running out the coiled yarn rapidly, while above her screams rose the voice of the delighted boy whaler who lustily shouted as he plunged for the ball of yarn, "pay out, mother, G— Almighty; pay out; there she blows." The attitude, the flashing eye, the startled dominie, the crushed look of the troubled mother, all presented a picture the effect of which stifled the intended prayer. The minister ran off, as Jack "coiled in," while the mother mourned over this emphatic demonstration of the bias of the boy's mind. This was years ago and Jack is now "paying out" in the chill north Pacific waters.

PERSONAL.—Eugenie is melancholy.

Liberty Billings, formerly of Concord, is a senator in the Florida legislature.

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln is in London and is to make an Italian tour.

The Siamese twins have fifteen children.

Rev. H. F. Durant is reviving Bristol.

☞ Gen. Stevens will endeavor to have his bill regulating the rank of staff and line officers put through the House, to-day. It is the last opportunity for this session.

☞ Henry Welcome, a French boy 17 years old, was hanged at Windsor, Vt., on the 20th, for the murder of Mr. Perry Russell, a respected farmer aged 76 years, in October, 1868.

☞ Letters received from the Osage agency in Kansas report that those Indians have been outrageously abused and ill-treated by the whites, and that their lives are not safe.

☞ John Harborg, a Swede, killed himself at St. Paul, Minnesota, on Wednesday, drinking a quart of whiskey on a wager.

CLERICAL INAPTITUDE. — Unworthy men will occasionally find their way into the ministry of every denomination. As a rule, however, their misdeeds are generally discovered. The following instance of impertinent clerical officiousness, promptly rebuked, comes to us from a Kansas correspondent:

Old Dr. —— is a Kentuckian, fond of a cigar and a little game of cards. In his employ was a young man who, though professedly a Methodist, had so far backslidden as to play a little sometimes. The two were sitting in the house one rainy day having a game of euchre. The Rev. Mr. ——, the resident Methodist minister, dropped in, and after glancing at the doctor's hand passed around behind the young man, took a seat, and quietly watched the game. The young man was about to play a certain card, when the minister whispered to him:

"Don't play that; if you do you'll be euchered, sure."

Whereupon the doctor, waxing irate, said:

"See here, Mr. ——, I ain't playing this game against the whole Methodist Conference. If the Conference wants to put up a V, I'll play them a rub."

This reverend brother was soon discovered to be a "mistake," and was deposed from the ministry.—EDITOR'S DRAWER, in Harper's Mag. for Feb.

THE FENIANS.—Five Fenian convicts who have been released by the British government and who arrived at New York on the 20th, had a terrible time over their "reception." Two rival delegations went for them, and greatly embarrassed the Fenians by their altercations. A New York paper says:—

The contest between Tammany Hall with the Irish organizations on the one side and Collector Murphy with the Irish Republican Brotherhood on the other, as to who should receive the exprisoners first, caused quite an excitement. In a political light the result of the contest between Tammany and Collector Murphy is viewed with considerable interest, as it is known that should the Collector succeed in securing the martyrs as the guests of the Republican party, the more prominent of the released prisoners will at once receive appointments in the Custom House; while on the other hand, if they are guests of Tammany, positions will be made for them in the City Hall Park, it being a mere question as to whether they be employed at the south end upon the new Post Office, or at the north end upon the new County Court House.

The Fenians very sensibly refused to accompany either party, but took private lodgings on their own hook.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Lesson of Nature.

Torpor is the characteristic of winter. Vegetation dies or falls into a state of trance. The whole aspect of inanimate nature teaches us that there is a paralyzing influence in the air, and ought to teach us that our bodies require an increase of vital power to contend with it. Some of even the warm-blooded animals bury themselves in the earth and remain in a state of partial stupefaction until the season is over, and the elixir of the spring sunshine stimulates their stagnant blood, and restores their vigor. But man, although he feels the influence of the season, can protect himself against its inclemency. He has fuel to warm him externally, and can tone and strengthen his internal organization and endow it with the extra amount of vitality which the circumstances require. Of all invigorants that have ever been recommended for this purpose, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the purest and the best. Fortified by the daily use of this wholesome vegetable tonic, the human system may defy the chills and damps of winter in any latitude. Its effect is to promote a brisk and regular circulation of the blood, and activity in all the secretive organs. Without the slightest tendency to produce fever, it imparts a healthful glow to the surface, and stimulates the exterior vessels to discharge, in the form of gentle perspiration, the useless matter eliminated from the blood. Thus the system is kept unclogged. Fever and ague, biliousness, indigestion and colic, all of which are the common consequences of the searching damps and low temperature of winter, may be avoided (as well as cured) by a course of this genial tonic and alterative. 1wdaw

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children in the school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for blister and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should have their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

His mysterious feats, entitled "The Marvel of Mecca" and "Talking Hand" are not only immense, but should be seen by all admirers of scientific and marvellous experiments. We can, and do, recommend Silvester's performance, and we will say to all who wish to pass a very enjoyable evening, go and see Silvester.

☞ The Boston Journal's correspondent says a survey has been held on the English iron steamer "Clotilde," which went ashore on Wells Beach some weeks since, and she has been condemned. Her cargo, an iron ferry boat, has been removed, and is on the shore and has been taken charge of by the underwriters. It is in pieces, some of which are fifty feet long and very heavy. The Clotilde will probably be sold at auction. She has been afloat once, and can probably be got off next summer.

Communication.

WHO SHALL BE CITY MARSHAL? is a question of considerable importance to our city, and if one may judge by the number of applicants for the position, and the outside pressure brought to bear in favor of the several candidates quite an interest is manifest in the matter. And well there might be.

The Aldermen have failed to elect their candidate, twice nominated, and now other names are proposed to heal the breach. But what is the objection to the present incumbent of the office? Has he not served the city well? All will admit that he has. Then why not re-elect him? It is the custom of well governed cities to keep good men on the police force as long as they can. Our City Fathers should do the same. Rotation in local affairs is not always necessary nor beneficial to local interests. Some say the present Marshal has held the office long enough; so say we all of us if another candidate can be found who will serve us any better. Mr. Johnson's past experience has made him what he really is—a first-class officer, such as any city might be proud of. And now as capable as he is, a few of our City Fathers are conniving to supersede him. And why? Because some one else has an axe to grind! Let it not be done, is the voice of three-quarters of our citizens. And if our Aldermen wish to serve for the people's interest, as they are sworn to, let them re-elect Frank B. Johnson, to whose ever watchful eye, and his Assistants, our city is indebted for its orderly streets and freedom from burglarious raids. CITIZEN.

☞ Marshal Johnson and Asst. Marshal Entwistle, on Sunday, detected five young men in the act of gambling at a Mrs. Welsh's at the North End. They were gobbled up and with their cards and money taken to the Station House.

☞ The Manchester Union says that the City Council of that place, which we called Democratic, stands 4 Democrats and 28 Republicans. Don't see it. The 28 may be called Republicans, but they were elected by the same men who defeated the Republican candidate for Mayor and most of them sailed in on the run-craft.

ROCKINGHAM AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of the Rockingham Agricultural Society was held at Exeter, on Dec. 31st, when the Treasurer made his report: Balance on hand at the beginning of the year, $263.92; taken during the year $1,422.27, making a total of $1,686.19; paid out, $1,485.05, and there remains some $400 to $500 unpaid premiums, with a balance of $201.14 to pay with, showing that the Society is in debt.

The meeting failed to choose a board of officers, and, at some future time, a new Society will be formed.

HOME INSURANCE CO. OF NEW HAVEN,
Extract of a Circular to their Agents dated January 9, 1871.

"It is with extreme regret that I have to inform you that the Home Insurance Company has this day made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. So soon as the Court shall approve of a Trustee, he will advise you what action to take to secure what claims or your customers may have against the Company. In the mean time, for the protection of Policy-Holders, I would advise that you cancel all Policies issued at your Agency at once, and be in readiness to forward a full list of Policies cancelled with the number of Policy, amount Insured, rate, amount of Premium, and amount due thereon, so soon as the Trustee shall call for the same."

Yours truly, L. W. CLARKE,
Late Secretary Home Ins. Company.

By the above it will be seen the Home is closing up its affairs as fast as possible. I can give no guarantee, but it is generally thought the Company will soon pay a part or the whole of the back premium.

I want every Policy-Holder to bring in their Policies to me immediately and be insured in some other good Company. I have the Insurance Co. of North America, Phila., the oldest and strongest Co. in the United States, with a business of 75 years and about three million dollars Assets. Phœnix of Hartford, one of the best in Connecticut, nearly two million dollars Assets—the Pacific of San Francisco, nearly two million dollars in Gold.—Springfield of Mass., a very strong and reliable Company—and some others.

I have done Insurance business about 20 years and every loss has been promptly paid at this Agency to the satisfaction of all. Thanking my friends and the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity for their patronage, I hope to continue the Insurance business with better success and prosperity than ever before. JOHN S. HARVEY, jan 21 3w Insurance agent.

BAD WORK.—Mrs. Mary Anderson, widow residing in Baltimore, was shot and killed by Peter Hesburg on the 20th. He then shot himself through the head, causing instant death. Hesburg was a seaman, and boarded with Mrs. Anderson when in the city. He had proposed marriage, which she declined.

A young man named James Bowser, living near Indianapolis, Ind., shot a man named Blausener on Thursday, and then shot himself.

Albert S. Seymour about 20 years old, committed suicide at Hartford on the 20th, by shooting himself through the head with a pistol.

At Wayland, N. Y., on the 19th, Mrs. Mary Hess, after fatally killing William H. Lewis and fatally shooting her brother, Warren Northrop, who died next day, closed the bedroom door and turned toward the son of Mr. Northrop, who was in the sitting room, but before she could fire upon him she was seized and the revolver taken from her. Mrs. Hess was taken into custody, and upon being interrogated as to why she had committed this double murder, replied that she would learn Lewis not to be the cause of as much talk as there had been about her. It is stated that she had not been on friendly terms with her brother. Lewis called upon her on business, and she met him at the door and shot him dead.

☞ Miss Motley, daughter of the late minister to England, was married on the 19th, at Dorsetshire, Eng., to Mr. Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

☞ Three robbers of the Central Pacific Railroad express train, in Nevada, have been sentenced each to 30 years in the State prison.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.
Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

JOSEPH PETTIGREW'S,
No. 1 CONGRESS ST., opposite North Church

Morning Chronicle.

kettle also accomplished, Mrs. Pettigrew went off, swinging the dripping-pan lustily; and Rachel Henderson, in the interval of watching her pies, stood at the window to cool her flushed face. Constitutionally, she hated the gossip of a little country neighborhood; and it nettled her to know that her name had so soon been joined with Herman Brayton's.

Now, with a positive feeling of dislike, she looked across the pleasant fields—with broideries of red and purple and gold hung upon the fringe of forest trees, and corn lands ready for the sickle, undulating upon the little knolls until their russet touched the blue of the sky—to where the chimney-stacks of the old Shorter place came out from admidst their nest of trees.

"Rachel! Rachel!" called a half-grown boy, running at that moment round the corner of the house, and holding up the lifeless form of a fine cock, "You told me to let fly if I see any of Mr. Brayton's hens on the place; so when I ketched this tall strut at the cabbages, I just chucked him a stone, and he plumped as dead as a door-nail."

"That was right, Jack; upon my word, you have killed the Shangahe rooster." And Rachel felt a little twinge of remorse, knowing the expense and rarity of the dead specimen before her. "However, I am not a bit sorry," she said, after a moment's reflection. "Experience costs dear, the copy book says; and I guess in time, our neighbors will find out that we are not to be imposed upon. Take the rooster home, Jack, and throw it over the dooryard fence. It will be a declaration of war."

"If father should find it out," said Jack, reflectively, "he might scold like Sam Hill. Then I s'pose you could bear the brunt, Rachel, eh?"

"Did you ever know me to shirk responsibility?" inquired Rachel Henderson, loftily. "Go along, Jack, and don't be a coward."

When Jack came in with the men-folks at dinner-time, he looked sulky and out of sorts, and kept telegraphing in dumb show to Rachel across the table; until at last, when she got up to cut the pie, he followed her to the buttery and shut the door.

"I tell you what it is, Rachel," he broke out, "that was a sneaky business and I don't mean to do any more such jobs. I threw the rooster into Brayton's yard, and then I got behind a tree; and pretty soon one of the girls came out and found it, and began boo-hooing like a baby. As near as I could make out, it was a present to her, and she had raised it in a basket, and I felt as if I had been stealing a sheep."

"Let them boohoo," replied Rachel, with severe dignity, "they ought to think enough of their choice fowls to keep them at home."

After the dinner dishes were out of the way, and the chores all done up, Rachel Henderson replenished her fire, and put on an extra-sized kettle of water to heat. Then she went up stairs and changed her dress; and when she came down again there was a bit of lace collar with transferred work, and a cherry bow at the throat of her delaine dress over which she wore a jaunty black silk apron with braided pockets.

She seated herself at the sitting-room widdow almost as if looking for company, and let her gaze wander down the visible stretch of road where golden-rod and asters bloomed and the sumach bushes beside the old stone walls appeared to drip with scarlet color and the pokeberry was turning a vivid purple.

Presently her eye lit up with a gleam of triumph. There were the Brayton pigs nosing along the dust of the road; and for once, she was glad to see the pests. They were long-snouted, slab-sided animals, with plentiful marks of the slough upon their coats, and insatiable appetites.

Rachel watched with a grim species of amusement to see them turn in, from habit, toward the Henderson side-gate, which was shaded by a huge black cherry tree, and began the process of rooting under. They dug with the nozzle, beat the fore legs, inclined the dorsal column and lifted powerfully, until the gate was unlatched, and the whole bristly tribe poured into the yard with grunts of satisfaction.

Under one of the kitchen windows lay a tempting pile of potato parings, previously prepared for bait, which a vicious female, the mother of numerous disreputable children, immediately scented. They gathered together, pushing and struggling for the titbits, when slap dash came down a pail of boiling water upon the backs of the miscreants, and with heart-rending squeals they galloped in a body from the yard.

It was evident to Rachel's mind that the hair and hide of her enemies had suffered considerable damage; but still she replenished the fire, and put on more water, determined to be prepared for action should the porkers return. However, during the remainder of the afternoon, there was peace along the border; and Rachel went to bed that night flushed with a consciousness of victory.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

RACHEL'S WAR.

The next morning early, Mr. Henderson and his men went off to a distant detached meadow, to do a job of top dressing, and took their dinner with them. The patridges had been heard whirring through the bright woods for some days past, which caused Jack to shy away with the long shooter from the garret—an ancient firearm, supposed to worthy of much reverence, because of a tradition which connected it with the war of 1812. It would "kick beastly," as Jack expressed it; and by a deal of coaxing managed to go off one time in ten.

Rachel had enough on hand to keep her pleasantly occupied for two or three hours. There was a tray of solid, golden butter standing upon the shelf, which must be worked over and laid down for winter use, and the last scald given to her sweet pickles.

She opened the window and let the warm air in, ladened with the mellow ripened smell of apples dropping from the orchard trees, and the chrysanthemum and peony blooming about the dooryard. Over the prismatically-tinted woods, softened by a tender haze, crows were circling, and their loud caws alone broke the stillness, which always seems deeper of a dreamy autumn day.

Rachel was contented in the midst of her busy loneliness. There was something about the mild glow of the morning, and the beauty of the world, and the soft wind coming in through the south window, that filled her with rest. She had almost forgotten the annoyance of yesterday, and those provoking Braytons, and was stepping about at her work, singing "Greenville," in a clear, sweet, but untutored voice, when a gawky lad all of a color—from his tow trowsers, hitched in the back by improvised suspenders, to the straggling locks that strayed from below the rim of a torn straw hat—made his appearance at the door.

"I thought I'd stop and tell the folks," said he, putting his head in, "that Brayton's cows are in your corn. Gosh! they have stuffed themselves till they're ready to burst!"

Instantly the strain died on Rachel Henderson's lips, the spirit of peace went out of her, and she was prepared to act on the old law of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.

"They shall go to pound," instantly, she exclaimed. "The men folks are away from home; but if you will help me, Tim, I will see you get paid for it."

"I'd do it to oblige you, Rachel, as quick as wink; but you see father sent me down to the blacksmith's after a coulter. The horses are up and ready to do a job of fall ploughing, and if I should stop by the way, he would whale me."

"Go along, then," said Rachel, proudly, "I will drive them to pound myself;" and at the moment she looked and felt equal to anything. At starting, Rachel tied on her sunbonnet and armed herself with a long carriage-whip having a particularly vindictive snap.

The cornfield, which was rustling with ripened grain almost ready for the sickle, lay on a cross-road, and it gave Rachel a peculiar feeling of satisfaction to know that she would be able to drive the cows past her enemy's very door, and thus cast another act of defiance in their teeth. Secretly she hoped to find the whole Brayton dairy of thirty cows browsing and crushing the tall stalks; but, instead of that, only two animals had broken bounds, and having eaten to the point of satiety, they were now stupidly standing by the gap in the rail fence.

Rachel drove them out into the road at a smart trot; but, as she neared the Brayton place she slackened her gait, and looked up at the front windows. But none of the family were visible, and thus a part of the triumph proved abortive.

The pound was a good long country mile distant. Rachel Henderson was in a hurry, for she left unfinished work at home. The heat of the autumnal mid-day appeared to come down, with scarcely a breath of air stirring; and Rachel did not spare the cows. When she arrived, hot and tired, at her destination, the pound-master, who was a jolly, fat man, came out to meet her.

"Well, now, Rachel," said he, as he took in the situation, "you are a spunky little girl; and I tell my wife I wouldn't give a brass farthing for a girl that hasn't some snap to her."

"We couldn't stand it any longer," said Rachel, defiantly. "The Brayton animals were overrunning us, and it's my opinion there's a point where patience ceases to be a virtue."

"That's true as preachin', and all the better for my trade," said the man, walking slowly round one of the cows, which was shaking and quivering now as if in an ague fit. "But it strikes me you must have drav a pretty good jog," he added, with a refreshing disregard of grammar. "This one acts as if she was sick. She had eat herself as full as a tick; and it ain't safe to stir critters much in such a case. They sometimes die in less than twenty four hours. That would be a bad piece of business.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and elegant for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of feeling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1871.

THE WAR.

A severe engagement has taken place between the army of General Faidherbe and the Germans under Gen. Von Goeben, near Saint Quentin. After the capture of the latter place by Gen. Faidherbe, Gen. Von Geoben was heavily reinforced, and on the following Friday (20th) morning commenced a general attack upon Faidherbe's lines, with infantry and artillery, and after a severely contested battle, in which the Germans lost heavily, the French army was driven from every position, and forced to flee through the town of Saint Quentin, leaving baggage and camp equipage in the hands of the Germans, who immediately occupied the place, which was sacked and pillaged before the proper discipline could be enforced. The German troops it is said were infuriated on account of their having been surprised and driven from Saint Quentin the previous day by the connivance of the inhabitants.

Despatches of later date positively assert that the French army was utterly defeated, the route being complete, and that Von Goeben is in hot pursuit of the French, who are retreating upon Amiens in a confused and demoralized condition.

On Thursday (19th) morning the forts defending Paris opened a vigorous cannonade on the German lines, under cover of which a large body of troops emerged from the city, and a severe engagement ensued, resulting in a complete repulse for the French with great loss. It is believed that this is the first of a series of grand sorties about to be attempted by Gen. Trochu.

After being repulsed the French troops fell back, and at night remained massed in great force on the plateau immediately under the protection of the guns of Mont Valerien. It is reported that the attack was renewed on the following day, but with what result has not been ascertained.

Von Werder is still pursuing Bourbaki's army.

Chanzy's army is demoralized. It is reported that Gen. Paladines is to resume his former command.

Heavy reinforcements of fresh German troops are shortly expected to arrive, and that the entire German armies in France at the end of the present month will probably number over 1,500,000 strong.

Bourbaki lost 8000 men in recent assaults on Werder's position. The Germans lost 5000, taking no guns and few prisoners.

Despatches from Gen. Bourbaki report that, although the heavy reinforcements recently received by the Germans have enabled Gen. Von Werder to successfully resist his three attacks, he has succeeded in inflicting serious loss upon them. The weather being very unfavorable for a forward movement, he deemed it prudent for the present to remain on the defence, and his troops have accordingly returned to the position occupied by them before the last engagement.

On the 12th instant, off Vigo, Spain, the corvette Augusta ran down and sunk a French gunboat, and four of her officers and twenty-six of her crew were made prisoners.

☞ A school house in Newburyport, on Washington Street, occupied for a grammar and two primary schools, caught fire from the heating apparatus, Monday forenoon, and was destroyed. Loss $15,000.

☞ The Canadians are having their usual winter snow-shoe races, and getting both health and recreation from them. They prefer this exercise to skating, of which they have also an abundance.

☞ The Naumkeag Steam Cotton Mill will lose nearly $300,000 by the failure of Francis Skinner & Co., of Boston. A pretty bad skinning.

THE CENSUS—CITIES OF OVER 20,000 POPULATION.—There are in the United States sixty-seven cities with a population of over 20,000 inhabitants. Washington, which in 1860 stood number fourteen on the list, now stands number twelve—Louisville, Albany and Newark having been outnumbered, while San Francisco has outstripped the four and taken its position tenth on the list. St. Louis and Chicago have passed Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans and Cincinnati, and stand fourth and fifth on the list; while Baltimore, which stood fourth in 1860, now stands sixth. In the matter of percentage of gain Kansas City, Missouri, is far in the lead; while New Bedford in the North, and Savannah in the South, are the only cities which show an actual decrease.

In 1860 the aggregate population of the ten leading cities was 2,608,987. In 1870 the same cities show a population of 3,649,666, a gain of 940,679, or an average of 34.7 per cent.; and a corresponding increase, which seems more than probable, for the next decade, would give in these cities a population of nearly five millions.

The table will be found very interesting to those who desire to analyze it, and convenient to all for reference:

TWO SENATORIAL CONTESTS.—In Missouri, the division in the Republican ranks has resulted in the choice of Gen. Francis P. Blair, Jr., to the U. S. Senate, vice Hon. John B. Henderson. There is not much mourning over the result, as Henderson was one of the recreant Senators whose vote prevented the removal of Andrew Johnson in impeachment times. We prefer an open enemy to a professed friend who would act the part of an assassin. We cannot rejoice over the election of Blair, but we can throw up our hat over the defeat of Henderson.

In Nebraska, Hon. P. W. Hitchcock, Republican, has been chosen Senator in place of Gen. Thayer. The latter thought he held the State in his breeches pocket. He was charged with bribery and of making a bar keeper of himself, hoping that money and rum would re-elect him. We have a better opinion than ever of the people of Nebraska, now that Thayer is defeated. The Omaha Tribune has vigorously opposed Thayer and contributed no small influence towards the result. We congratulate it and its able conductor, Hon. Jos. B. Hall, formerly of Portland, Me.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Undertakers grow rich and grave yards reek with the mouldering bones of thousands who prematurely fall as victims to those relentless destroyers, Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption. The two latter diseases are but the children of the former, which is easily and surely cured by using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, while for the cure of the two latter diseases nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. Both medicines are sold by druggists, or the Catarrh Remedy may be obtained by enclosing sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Lesson of Nature.

Torpor is the characteristic of winter. Vegetation dies or falls into a state of trance. The whole aspect of inanimate nature teaches us that there is a paralyzing influence in the air, and ought to teach us that our bodies require an increase of vital power to contend with it. Some of even the warm-blooded animals bury themselves in the earth and remain in a state of partial stupefaction until the season is over, and the elixir of the spring comes stirring their stagnant blood, and restores their vigor. But man, although he feels the influence of the season, can protect himself against its inclemency. He has fuel to warm him externally, and can tone and strengthen his internal organization and endow it with the extra amount of vitality which the circumstances require. Of all invigorants that have ever been recommended for this purpose, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the purest and the best. Fortified by the daily use of this wholesome vegetable tonic, the human system may defy the chills and damps of winter in any latitude. Its effects promote a healthy and regular circulation of the blood, and activity in all the secretive organs. Without the slightest tendency to produce fever, it imparts a healthful glow to the surface, and stimulates the exterior vessels to discharge, in the form of gentle perspiration, the useless matter eliminated from the blood. Thus the system is kept unclogged. Fever and ague, biliousness, indigestion and colic, all of which are the common consequences of the searching damps and sudden temperature of winter, may be avoided (as well as cured) by a course of this genial tonic and alterative. 1wdaw

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, it has made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured by the powers of this remedy, and have been restored to health and usefulness, as testified by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most delicate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. This climate is what I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain of disease; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is once gained, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida are also usually recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are too liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are afflicted with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1860, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact that persons in Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the sanguineous temperament. On the other hand, about one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives would be clearly informed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they regard as trifling enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and rather stiff cold; and the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their effects. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of Schenck's Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient says to great-hungry! I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes strength, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and shows the ripening of the disease; night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let no a patient take exercise enough within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as curable as any other disease, when it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The first stands undisputed on record, and Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the jaws of death by the use of these medicines.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, or any disease comes, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would avoid the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients generally learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines. Call on or address, and you can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Cable Screw Wire Boots & Shoes.
Eighth Entertainment—P. M. L. A.

☞ The proprietors of the Boston Advertiser have presented Mr. Orwin Griffin of this city with a gold Waltham Watch. Mr. Griffin sells papers on the P. S. & P. R. R., and receives the third prize offered for the largest proportional increase in sales of the Advertiser.

☞ Schooner White Rover, Capt. Downs, which started from the Isle of Shoals Sunday, to save two men in a boat, was wrecked on Ipswich bar same night. The crew were saved, badly frost-bitten. They were kindly cared for by the Ipswich Light Keeper. The men in the boat were saved. The vessel was lost.

☞ The Rockingham (Exeter) Agricultural Society has fizzled out at last. The treasurer reports that he has $200 left, to pay premiums to the amount of $400 or $500. Well, that is what we expected, when Exeter rallied so strong at the annual meeting at Hampton, four or five years ago, and turned out all the Portsmouth Directors. The Piscataqua Society here live's yet, and it is proposed to hold the State Fair on their fine grounds next Fall.

SOCIAL ASSEMBLIES.—A series of Social Assemblies at Congress Hall commences this evening, under the auspices of the members of the Masonic bodies and the Odd Fellows. The management is in the hands of some of our best citizens, the music engaged is of the best, and the course will be the course of the season. All brethren of "the Orders" will be welcomed, whether they have received personal invitations or not; and can procure evening tickets at the door this evening.

ANOTHER SUDDEN CHANGE IN THE WEATHER occurred early Sunday morning. The day previous was warm and people working out-of-doors found it quite comfortable working without jackets or coats. The wind arose to a gale, Sunday morning, blowing from the north-west, and the cold increased in severity as night approached. Buildings rocked and everything movable kept up a continuous clatter. At 5 o'clock, A. M., Monday, the mercury was reported at 15 degrees below zero, and at sunrise it ranged from 8 to 12 below, in various places. Sunday was emphatically the coldest day of the season. The wind blew but little on Monday, and the weather moderated, with indications of a storm.

SURPRISE PARTY.—On Saturday evening one of our oldest citizens, Mr. John Somerby, was the recipient of a very agreeable surprise, in the shape of a visit from his descendants—children and grandchildren—at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Oliver Frye, of whose family the old gentleman is an inmate. The company included Mrs. Hannah Somerby, (a sister of the old gentleman) Mr. John Somerby and wife, of Salem, Mr. Joseph Somerby and wife, of Boston Highlands, Mr. Sherburne Somerby and wife, of Exeter, and other ladies and gentlemen of Portsmouth, who sat down to a choice collation at Mr. Frye's on arriving. Various gifts (including a well-filled purse) were presented to the old gentleman, with an appropriate speech, to which he responded personally with a readiness hardly to be looked for in one who has seen his 85th birthday. The affair was a perfect and happy surprise so far as he was concerned, and a pleasing reunion for all present.

Communication.

Messrs Editors; I see by a paragraph in one of your late papers, that there is a petition before the Board of Aldermen to alter the name of Anthony Street to Union Street. Now as a general thing the attention of the name of any street is all wrong. In another generation who can tell by his old deed where to find his property, except by tradition? And especially it is wrong where any historical reminiscence is connected with the name. In the present instance, Anthony is in honor of the old and respectable name of Wibird and certainly it would be much more proper to change Union to Anthony than the reverse. Jaffrey Street was given to the Town upon the condition that it should be so called, and Pitt Street was named in honor of our old friend in the British Parliament. Why should we have forgotten our old friends to call them Court Street? Other instances could be mentioned of the same uneasy disposition to gratify some restless temper or selfish purpose. Nothing but the most cogent reasons can warrant the change of the name of any Street, and in the present instance it is to be hoped the petition will not be granted. A LOOKER ON.

THE CITY MARSHAL QUESTION — Whether J. Horace can or J. Horace Kent be elected.

☞ Attention is called to the card of Cable Screw Wire Boots and Shoes. These goods claim a superiority over both pegged and sewed work.

☞ The lecture before the M. L. Association this evening will be well worth listening to. Dr. Parsons' lecture last year was one of the best of the Course.

☞ The Fearnaught horses are well named.—We see it stated that Mr. B. S. Wright of Boston, has sold his Fearnaught stallion, Minoken Boy, which has been kept at Augusta, for the sum of $8000. The purchaser is a Mr. Brown of Michigan.

☞ Our friend of the "copper horn" advertises the Chronicle and managers to have a personal fling at most of the Republican Aldermen, in a half-column of twaddle on "personalities in journalism!" a rich subject to be treated of in that quarter; but the gist of the whole farrago is in the closing paragraph, in which the "copper-horn" blower finds fault with us because we don't let alone his "brass mouth-piece".

HOME INSURANCE CO. OF NEW HAVEN,

Extract of a Circular to their Agents dated January 9, 1871.

"It is with extreme regret that I have to inform you that the Home Insurance Company has this day made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. So soon as the Court shall approve of a Trustee, he will advise you what action to take to secure what claims you or your customers may have against the Company. In the mean time, for the protection of Policy-Holders, I would advise that you cancel all Policies issued at your Agency at once, and be in readiness to forward a full list of Policies cancelled with the number of Policy, amount Insured, rate, amount of Premium, and amount due thereon, so soon as the Trustee shall call for the same."

Yours truly, L. W. CLARKE,
Late Secretary Home Ins. Company.

By the above it will be seen the Home is closing up its affairs as fast as possible. I can give no guarantee, but it is generally thought the Company will son pay a part or the whole of the back premium.

I want every Policy-Holder to bring in their Policies to me immediately and be insured in some other good Company. I have the Insurance Co. of North America, Phila., the oldest and strongest, Co. in the United States, with a business of 75 years and about three million dollars Assetts. Phoenix of Hartford, one of the best in Connecticut, nearly two million dollars Assets—the Pacific of San Francisco, nearly two million dollars in Gold.—Springfield of Mass., a very strong and reliable Company—and some others.

I have done Insurance business about 20 years and every loss has been promptly paid at this Agency to the satisfaction of all. Thanking my friends and the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity for their patronage, I hope to continue the Insurance business with better success and prosperity than ever before. JOHN S. HARVEY.
jan 21 3w Insurance agent.

☞ On the day before Christmas, the Harrisonburg (Virginia) Enterprise had a long article on fires, urging the authorities to procure an engine, &c. The article began thus, Fire.—There has not been a fire, but there's going to be one—and as an enterprising journalist, it is our duty to furnish it to the public as much in advance as possible. The next morning a fire broke out, and swept, not only the Enterprise office but seventeen other buildings from the business portion of the town.

☞ The Utica Observer says "the Clearfield fair consisted of a calf, a goose and a pumpkin. We are told that it rained so hard the first night that the goose swam off, the calf broke loose and ate the pumpkin, and a thief prowling around stole the calf, and that ended the fair."

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA, have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

The cash difference paid on some of the above will be somewhat modified after the payment of the January coupons.

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to ensure them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

You would not like to kill a neighbor's cow, now would you?"

"Of course not," returned Rachel, sharply, with a dreadful sinking of the heart. "You don't mean to tell me there is any such danger?"

"I'm afraid so," he replied, eyeing the cow professionally; "it looks a little scaly; but you had better go and find Herman Brayton, and tell him all about it; he is better posted on cattle diseases than half the cow-doctors in the country; and if anybody can save the critter's life he can."

Rachel turned back on the road, feeling half dazed and wholly frightened. Her father was slow to anger; but she did not like to think what the consequences might be, should he discover that his girl had been instrumental in killing a neighbor's cow. Her pugilistic spirit had oozed out, and left her in a buds crape. How could she beg pardon and assistance, as it were, of Mr. Herman Brayton, toward whom she had begun to feel a settled dislike?

While she was hurrying along, with burning cheeks, turning over these wretched thoughts in her mind, and feeling very humble, a young man sprang over the low wall by the road side, and politely raised his hat. He wore a farmer's blouse and checked shirt; but the lines of his form were graceful, and his manner had a charm quite foreign to the homespun youth of the neighborhood.

"Excuse me, Miss Henderson," he said at once. "I knew you by sight, and seeing you go by, thought I would take the opportunity to send word to your father that six of his cows are in my barn-yard. Of course, he can have them on demand. Old Bess, I believe they call her, has a vicious pair of horns. She slipped her hammer, and let the others into my buckwheat field. I shall leave it to Mr. Henderson to estimate the damages; for, from what report says of him, I know he will be inclined to do the fair thing."

For a moment, Rachel stood quite overwhelmed by the lesson in Christian forbearance which Herman Brayton had unconsciously taught; but at last the tears would come to relieve her painfully excited state of feeling, and I must admit that for the moment her conduct was not all in keeping with the character of a high-strung, spirited girl. How confession was made I do not quite know; but certain it is that Herman, as old Mrs. Pettigrew expressed it, "took a shine" to Rachel, even in her tears.

"Don't distress yourself about Brindle," he said, soothingly, as matters were made plain to him. "I understand cow-doctoring pretty thoroughly, and think I know just what to do for her. You have been sadly pestered with our unruly animals this summer; but I must say by way of apology, that the old place when we moved in was neither hen or pig-proof. Crops were pressing, hands short; and of course some things were neglected. Be assured you shall have nothing of the kind to complain of in the future, Rachel Henderson, unless you take me up for trespassing; for I mean to come over some day and see if we cannot arrange a treaty of peace."

That evening Herman Brayton sent a messenger to say the cow was out of danger, and a strange new flutter awoke in Rachel's heart.

A few weeks later, when the first snows were lying on the ground, one Sunday morning in Church the parson took for his text these words: "Love your enemies—do good to them that hate you and despitefully use you;" and Rachel, turning around, caught a glance from Mr. Brayton's eyes, which shot forth mischief and triumph. When she walked away at noon, Herman joined her in the most natural manner possible.

"Do you know, Rachel Henderson," said he, "how I construed the minister's text? To me it sounded like this: Love them that stone your chickens, and scald your pigs, and drive your cows off to pound; and it did not seem a very difficult command to obey."

Mrs. Pettigrew, who was walking behind, nudged her daughter, Esther, and whispered—"I allus told you how it would come out."

Now the Henderson and Brayton farms are united in one, and Herman has demonstrated to his neighbors, by his tall grain and fat meadow lands, the reasonableness of scientific farming. He never tires of joking his wife, Rachel, about her war; and if she expects to hear the end of it during her natural life, I fear she will be disappointed.

—A South Bend, Ind., man married a girl on sight, and for a few months she made it lively for him, holding semi-weekly clawing soirees, in which he became nearly bald. Returning from work one noon lately, he was set back by finding the carpet torn to shreds, the stove tipped over, crockery and furniture smashed, and a note from his tender spouse saying that "he could get along just as well without her, and that she had left matters in good condition for him to keep on housekeeping," a vein of delicate irony which he didn't appreciate worth a cent.

—A Canadian lady having caught a troublesome rat in a trap, determined upon having some sport with it. She took the trap into the sitting room, called in a terrier opened the trap, jumped upon a chair and the fun commenced. The rat first whipped the dog, and then finished a tame raccoon, which the lady had called to her assistance, then fought a seconddog and the broom for an hour and fifteen minutes, and finally escaped through the window.

—A man in Syracuse, N. Y., ate upon a wager, one quart of oysters, two dozen eggs and one mince pie and drank one quart of ale. He lived one hour.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st 1871 thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. JACK AND ME.

Here y'are, ---? Black your boots boss,
Do it jest for five cents;
Shine 'em up in a minute,
That is 'f nothing prevents.
Set your foot right on there, sir;
The mornin's kinder cold
Sorter rough on a feller
When his coat's gettin' old.
Well yes—call it a coat, sir,
Though 'taint much mor'n a tear;
Can't get myself another—
Aint got the stamps to spare.
Make as much as most on 'em—
That's so; but then, yer see,
The' ve only got one to do for;
There's two on us, Jack and me.
Him? Why—that little feller,
With a doubled up sorter back,
Sittin' there on the gratin'
Sunnin' himself—that's Jack.
Used to be round selling papers,
The cars there was his lay.
But he got shoved off the platform
Under the wheels one day;
Yes, the conductor did it—
Gave him a reg'lar throw—
He don't care if he killed him;
Some on 'em is just so.
He's never been all right since, sir,
Sorter quiet and queer—
Him and me go together.
He's what they call cashier—
High old style for a boot black—
Make all the fellows laugh—
Jack and me had to take it,
But we don't mind no chaff.
Trouble—I guess not much, sir,
Sometimes when bis gets slack.
I don't know how I'd stand it
If twasn't for little Jack.
Why, boss, you ought to hear him,
He says you needn't care
How rough luck is down here, sir,
If some day we get up there.
All done now—how's that, sir?
Shine like a pair of lamps.
Mornin'!—give it to Jack, sir,
He looks after the stamps.

☞ The Lewiston Journal has the following good story:

One of our city clergymen exchanged pulpits, a Sabbath or two since, with a brother clergyman of Lewiston. It so happened that the pulpit was too low for his near-sighted optics, and he was under the necessity of piling up Bible and hymn books whereon to place his manuscript. He opened his sermon and was delivering it with wonted enthusiasm, when by a luckless gesture, he struck the cover of the Bible, up it flew and tipped his sermon to the floor. Hymn books, bible, stationery, fell with a loud noise to the floor. To add to the misfortune, the sheets of the sermon were loose and were scattered hither and thither like autumn leaves, over the church. The crisis for the minister—how to get out of it. With the utmost coolness and self-possession, the minister, taking a bird's eye glance at the wreck of his affairs on the floor below, turned to the congregation and said: "I trust, my friends, this may be an emblem that the good seed may be sown as these sheets have been sown," and without troubling the disbelved manuscript further, took up the thread of his discourse and extemporized the latter half of the sermon with general acceptance.

INEBRIETY.—When this vice has taken fast hold of a man—farewell industry, farewell emulation—farewell to things worthy of attention—farewell love of virtuous society—farewell decency of manners—and farewell to even a decency of person. Everything is sunk by this predominant and brutal appetite. In how many instances do we see men who have begun life with the brightest prospects before them, and who have closed it without any ray of comfort or consolation. Young men with good fortunes, good talents, good tempers, good hearts and good constitutions, only by being drawn into the vortex of the drunkard, have become by degrees the most loathsome and despicable of mankind.

In the house of the drunkard there is no happiness for any one. All is uncertainty and anxiety. He is not the same man for any one day at a time. No one knows of his outgoings or his incomings. When he will rise, or when he will lie down to rest, is wholly a matter of chance. That which he swallows for what he calls pleasure brings pain as surely as night brings morning. Poverty and misery are in the train. To avoid these results we are called upon to make no sacrifice; abstinence requires no aid to accomplish it. Our own will is all that is requisite; and if we have not the will to avoid contempt, disgrace and misery, we deserve neither relief nor compassion.

—A Dutchman once met an Irishman on a lonely highway. As they met, each smiled; thinking he knew the other. Pat, on seeing his mistake, remarked, with a look of disappointment, "Faith, an' I tho't it was you, an' you tho't it was me, an' its nather of us." The Dutchman replied, "Yah, dat is dhrue; I am auder man, and you is not yourself. We be some other bodies."

—It has been stated that the leaning tower of Pisa treatened to fall. It has been threatening so long that few will be alarmed.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopeas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and elegant for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent its from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1871.

THE WAR.

The French army is again inside of Paris. They numbered 100,000.

Emperor William reports the loss of the French at St. Quentin as 15,000, of whom 9600 are unwounded prisoners.

Faidherbe says his army fought superior numbers.

Valenciennes has been flooded.

The Prussians were repulsed by the garrison of Longwy on the 21st.

Great dissatisfaction and despondency prevails in Paris in consequence of General Trochu's failure in his last effort to break through the lines of the enemy. It is reported that a large and available force of artillery and infantry reserves took no part in the action. Trochu's policy is loudly denounced as weak and temporizing.

Bismarck has been made a Lieut.-General.

An encounter took place in the Pacific, the exact locality not being given, about the 20th of December last, between the Prussian frigate Medusa and two small French gunboats, the Curieux and Bruoix, resulting in the sinking of both the French vessels. The Curieux carried four brass 12 pounders and one 24 pounder, while the Prussian ship was armed with 24 guns of heavy calibre. The French frigate Cercel left Montevideo in search of the Medusa immediately on receiving the news.

An attempt has been made by the Prussian troops to recapture Dijon, but they sustained a repulse from the troops of Gen. Garibaldi after a severe battle of 12 hours duration. The Prussians lost every position they held, and were finally driven back by the victorious French columns, who now fully occupy the town.

Bismarck has refused a pass for M. Favre, delegate to the European Conference.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Lesson of Nature.

Torpor is the characteristic of winter. Vegetation dies or falls into a state of trance. The whole aspect of inanimate nature teaches us that there is a paralyzing influence in the air, and ought to teach us that our bodies require an increase of vital power to contend with it. Some of even the warm-blooded animals bury themselves in the earth and remain in a state of partial stupefaction until the season is over, and the elixir of the spring sunshine stimulates their stagnant blood, and restores their vigor. But man, although he feels the influence of the season, can protect himself against its inclemency. He has fuel to warm him externally, and can tone and strengthen his internal organization and endow it with the extra amount of vitality which the circumstances require. Of all invigorants that have ever been recommended for this purpose, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the purest and the best. Fortified by the daily use of this wholesome vegetable tonic, the human system may defy the chills and damps of winter in any latitude. Its effect is to promote a brisk and regular circulation of the blood, and activity in all the secretive organs. Without the slightest tendency to produce fever, it imparts a healthful glow to the surface, and stimulates the exterior vessels to discharge, in the form of genial perspiration, the useless matter eliminated from the blood. Thus the system is kept unclogged. Fever and ague, biliousness, dyspepsia and colic, half of which are the common consequences of the searching damps and low temperature of winter, may be avoided (as experienced by a course of) this genial tonic and alterative. 1wdaw

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the dry and bracing Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and the accommodations at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive has succeeded in himself in frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged blood, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week, and my practice was extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the oftener used, the likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact, that people of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third of the population are liable to die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another cold, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a supply of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required, and accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride, or every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry: I have heard of cases of which I could not hear that the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, from which, if not diseased

She is a pensioner, and had her pocket picked of $90 a few days since, shortly after receiving it; but the loss was made up by her friends. Her father was the late Col. Samuel Sherburne.

—The public showed their good taste last evening in their able and flattering support of Prof. Silvester and his pretty assistant, Miss Angelique Schott. Those who remember the marvellous performance of Heller, not many years ago, would have been delighted to have seen the wonderful and novel tricks performed by Silvester. It was not a common mountebank exhibition that he presented, but something that appealed as well to the intelligence, as to the sense of wonder of his auditors. We speak in high terms of both the Professor and Miss Schott, without any desire to laud or puff them, for they are meritorious in a degree that deserves the highest of compliments. The whole entertainment was also replete with humorous jokes, and the "talk" was therefore quite as good and entertaining as a lecture by Nasby or Mark Twain.—N. Y. Exchange.

☞ Hon. Wm. W. Stickney, so long the able Judge of Probate for this County, it is said will go out of office this year under the provision, of the Constitution that permits no person to hold the office of Judge of any Court, Judge of Probate or Sheriff after he has attained the age of seventy years. Hon. William C. Patten of Kingston has been named as a suitable person to be appointed to the office when a vacancy occurs.

It is said that in view of Mr. Small's election to Congress both Exeter and Portsmouth will present a candidate for the solicitorship of this county.

Judge Odell will vacate his seat upon the "Supreme Bench" of this city some time during the present year; whether Exeter will desire to present a candidate for that expected vacancy we are not yet informed.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE. We have already chronicled the daring humanity of the master and crew of the schooner White Rover, of the Shoals, who put to sea in the bitter gale of Sunday to rescue two men who were out in an open boat,—their rescue of the men and the subsequent wreck of the schooner on Ipswich Bar. The cold on land kept most people within doors on that day, but at sea, exposed to the full fury of the wind and drenched with water which became ice almost as it struck them, the sufferings of the brave men were terrible; and we hope some more substantial token of appreciation of their gallant conduct than mere praise will be received by the hardy fishermen, whose names we take pleasure in recording—and that Messrs. Caswell of the Shoals, to whom the White Rover belonged, will not be allowed to bear their loss unaided. The names of the schooner's crew are; Henry E. Downs, master; Charles Gardner, Henry Caste, George Seeley, William Robinson and Josiah Haley. The two boatmen saved by them are named John C. Huntress and John Fritz. The schooner has totally disappeared.

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—On the 23d, several civil cases were disposed of. Geo. G. Lougee recovered $50 from the town of Hampton, for injury to a carriage from the branches of tree which overhung the highway.

The trial of Marble and Murphy for the alleged murder of Mrs. Marble at Plaistow was commenced.

Correspondence.

NORTH HAMPTON, Jan. 23.

Messrs. Editors:—In the absence of a regular singing school in this town, this winter, the young folks have supplied its place by occasional sings and good times at private houses; and the "Ladies Social Union" has held meetings fortnightly, where the latest news and the usual amount of small talk is disposed of, after which about an hour is occupied in listening to songs, dialogues, speeches, &c., closing with prayer by the pastor. The People's Free Course of lectures in the Vestry is also in a flourishing condition. Last Wednesday evening, Mr. J. P. Bartlett of your city read one of Goldsmith's plays to a large audience, who were delighted with his admirable style of reading. The earnest attention and the frequent smiles on the faces of his hearers, showed plainly the effect of his fine voice and manner and at the close, called forth rounds of applause. Should he favor us again not only every seat but every inch of available standing room would be occupied. The fifth lecture will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Robie of Greenland; Subject, "The Study of History."

The "Stratham and North Hampton Choral Society" gave a concert in the Vestry last week, giving universal satisfaction. The same programme, with some additions, will be repeated at Hampton Town Hall, Wednesday evening, Jan. 24th, commencing at 7 1-2 o'clock. If the weather is unfavorable —Thursday evening. The harvest of ice in the neighboring towns has been nearly completed. It is of superior quality this year and nearly all of the boarding houses have packed away a sufficient quantity to keep their patrons cool the coming season. J. W. B.

"F." writes of Mr. Bartlett's reading:—"As 'She stooped to conquer' the days of Auld Lang Syne were rapidly passed in review, so that even the most sober and sedate could not resist the infection, but were convulsed with laughter as their youthful dreams were so clearly depicted. Mr. Bartlett chose a happy subject and rendered it to the satisfaction of all, if we may judge from the perfect sympathy manifested between the speaker and audience. We wish him continued success in his future efforts.

Dr Augustus Rowe of Exeter, who has devoted many years to the studies of diseases of animals, gives as his opinion, based on scientific investigation, that although the milk of cows afflicted with the cattle disease may be injurious, the meat of cattle afflicted with the disease is in no way affected as regards its uses as an article of food; and his opinion is supported by the highest medical authorities.

☞ George H. Brown who was recently arrested for swindling certain parties in York county and carried to Biddeford for examination and released, was again arrested at Portland on Thursday night. On his person were found numerous drafts and checks on persons having no business acquaintance with him.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The work remaining to be done, to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small portion of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 5½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Correspondence.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.

Years ago, so long ago that young men have since grown old, "Papanti's" was the fashionable school for dancing, and nearly a score of years since the Papanti Assemblies were the creme de la creme of Boston dances. The assemblies are numbered amongst things that were, but "Papanti's" is still the school where our young aristocracy are taught to put their foot in it. Every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon fine carriages, lined with silk or satin; driven by liveried coachmen; drawn by splendid horses, with gold or silver-mounted harnesses; draw up at an unpretending door on Tremont Street. Out of these equipages dismount puny and sickly scions of money, bright and healthy children of an aristocracy that means more than wealth, fragile and lovely children of a super-intellectual parentage. For several hours they learn grace and are benefitted by exercise under Papanti's tuition, and then the same gorgeous equipages gather in line to convey them to their magnificent homes on Beacon, on Arlington, or some other aristocratic street. Your own favorite old teacher, Mr. Lamprey, must be gaining fast on Papanti for length of years in service, even though he may not have gathered quite so much of the world's goods.

Boston has a "Pine Tree Cottage." The nondescript edifice erected to the westward of Scollay's Building, — a cross between a dissenting chapel and an Omaha bar-room in architecture,—has been christened as a cottage for the exhibition of a section of one of the great trees of California, 46 feet in circumference.

There is one branch of the artistic which Portsmouth people should surely patronize at home; that is Photography. The excellent work of your Messrs. Davis Brothers is highly lauded in Boston, while their prices are very low as compared with those of leading artists in larger cities. Of their stereoscopic views (of the Shoals, the Beaches, and the city,) some are really little gems of landscapes, while all are taken and finished in the nicest manner.

The second and last reception by the guests of the St. Cloud Hotel, New York, came off on Tuesday evening last. The very commendatory notices of this hop in the New York Dailies makes me almost regret not making the long trip from the Hub to the Metropolis to participate. The Express says:

A crowd of carriages reached up 42d street and that portion of Broadway in front of the St. Cloud, and a crush of exquisitely dressed people filled the spacious dinning room at an early hour, for this was a ball given by the wealthy and fashionable inmates of the hotel, and their friends came in swarms, like flocks of tropical birds to a rose garden. The music by Grafulla's Band was beyond praise. The toilettes were exquisite—in some instances magnificent. Laces and diamonds glowed to the light in every direction, and some of the most beautiful women of the city graced the occasion, for these St. Cloud balls are unique, and, being under the rigid control of a committee of invitations, are peculiarly select. Thus, though thronged to its full capacity, the vast dancing hall displayed all the features of a private party in some gentleman's mansion.

Both the Telegram and Express land the super-excellence of the supper, pronouncing it an "epicure's dream," &c., and the latter pays this deserved tribute to the worthy "Sons of Portsmouth:"

The Rand Brothers, with the forethought of clear-headed business capacity, and the generosity of courteous gentlemen, have left no department of this hotel incomplete, as they have the best talent that money can secure, and that talent is always put forth to the utmost when they and their guests give an entertainment.

In pursuance of their design to have every department of the St. Cloud Hotel first-class, the Messrs. Rand, feeling dissatisfied with the old billiard rooms, took this department into their own hands, and on Thursday evening last their handsome new billiard rooms were the scene of an exciting match between the ex-champion Rudolphe and Maurice Daly. About 400 gentlemen witnessed the exhibition, which terminated in favor of Rudolphe.

A squash in the window of one of our restaurants bears this inscription, scratched upon it while growing, and growing with it:

BEN. BUTLER
for President.

Admiting all the man's great capabilities in certain lines, let me hope the squash wont be the first nominator of a successful candidate. In case of B. B.'s election to the Presidency, I should anticipate the decay of the Union in about as short time as that of the squash.

Another restaurant hangs out a poor labelled "Hands off." Any one who has ever attempted to caress one of these sweet song birds will consider the caution gratuitous.

A good example of the benefits of advertising is shown in the fact that the "Leicestershire Sauce" has nearly crowded out the once popular "Worcestershire" from our public tables. The former may be good enough in its way, but is very tame compared to the latter, very much what one might suppose a pint of Worcestershire would be if diluted to make a gallon. It may be more "wholesome," as claimed; so is water more wholesome than tea or coffee, but it will hardly displace them at present.

Parker tells me that Noah was the first archæologist, but that fellow lies so that I don't know when to believe him. M.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st 1871 thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

KITTERY ANNIE'S DREAM.

BY CELIA THAXTER.

"What ponder you, Kittery Annie,
That idle you sit in the sun,
Rocking the chair before you,
While your work lies all undone?"

Little Annie turned to her mistress,
"I think of my dream," she said;
"It lies on my mind the livelong day,
A weight as heavy as lead."

"What dreamed you, Kittery Annie?
Come tell your dream to me;"
"Oh, I thought I could not hear your voice,
For the thundering of the sea!

From east and west and north and south,
It gathered fierce and fast,
And raged about the quiet house,
And reached the door at last.

And just as if it raised a hand,
And struck an angry blow,
A great wave beat against the door,—
Then silence seemed to grow."

"Did no one answer, Annie,
That awful knock at the door?"
"No, waves were still, and winds were still,
And I heard nothing more."

The mother thought of her bonny sons,
And there crept to her heart a chill,
And ever she thought of the ravening sea,
And the dream that boded ill.

"Oh, is it my bonny boys it seeks,
Lashing the house around?
Or is it their comrade, tried and true,
Must in his prime be drowned?"

With his clear, gray eyes and golden beard,
Like a strong young king of the sea,
The younger came, and, "Mother!" he said,
"O mother! listen to me."

She answered him with a sudden cry;
"Our friend is gone!" he said,
"O mother! our comrade, tried and true,
At the foot of the rock lies dead.

The breaker cuffed his shining head,
And struck him from the light;
And with a hundred arms the waves,
Swift drew him out of sight.

Oh, darkened are his kind, blue eyes,
That were so fair to see,
And still and cold the ready hands,
That worked so faithfully."

Sore mourned the younger brother,
But the elder did not speak;
He bowed his head upon his breast,
With the salt tears on his cheek.

And no voice had the mother,
For her heart that beat so wild,
But wistfully her eager eyes,
Embraced each sorrowing child,

And as she saw from the windows,
The breakers flash and gleam,
She shuddered afresh at the warning,
In Kittery Annie's dream.

[—From the Atlantic Monthly for February.

"SPIT OUT DE PREJUDICE."—At the public breakfast, given in New York, to 200 ministers, at which Dr. Cather expounded his scheme of union in moral science, Rev. Mr. Oliver, a black man, pastor of a colored church, told the following story:—

He said he was delighted with the meetings, and if they would let a black fellow into the moral science he should be glad to join. These are good times, and the good spirit of union brings Christians of all colors together. He would illustrate by the story of Jack, who used to steal chickens and pigs. When all kinds of cures for theft had been tried and still the chickens and pigs kept dropping off, the master says: "I know what will do it." So he called, "Jack, you rascal, come here; I am going to make you a Christian, to stop your stealing pigs. Kneel down and say your prayers." Jack got down. "Pray, you black rascal." "Don't know how, Massa; nobody never done tole me." "Say this, Jack—Our Father"—Jack repeated, "Our Father"—"which art in heaven"—"Is my fader in heaven?" said Jack. "Yes, yes, go on, say it." "But please, Massa, let a poor fellow un'stan it. Did you say, which was Our fader in heaven?" "Yes, you rascal, say it." "Your fader an' mine too?" "Then, Massa, youan' I is brudders, isn,t we?" "Never mind that, Jack, go on with your prayer—Thy kingdom come." "No, Massa, one 'ting at a time; is you and I brudders? Come, now, I'll spit out de prejudice and say it if you will." [Great laughter.] Here the black man looked around upon his hundred white brethren of the ministry, and said, "Brethren, I am getting over my prejudices." The congratulatory hand shakes which he received at the close of the meeting showed that we were getting over ours.

—On pleasant days Noak goes down to the sea in smacks to fish. Saturday it honored the old custom. Mr. Nash honored it more in the breach than the observance, by sitting down on a large fish hook. The operation of cutting this out with a dull bait knife was not considered by Mr. Nash an overwhelming success.—Norwich Bulletin.

—A colored lad flanked a Lafayette, Ind., savings bank neatly. He presented his check for seventy-five cents, saying that was all he needed. The cashier refused the check for less than two dollars, and the black boy drew one for that amount, but immediately deposited the one dollar and twenty five cents.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and CONSUMPTION.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.
For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.
For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.
For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.
No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.
So generally are its virtues known, that we need but publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, none can be found equal to this. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1871.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

The nominations of the various parties throughout the State have been made and in a majority of cases the strongest men have been chosen by both parties. During the two months to come, one of the most exciting campaigns ever conducted in the State of New Hampshire will be in progress, and the choice of Members of Congress will add interest to the struggle, at home and abroad.

The action of the Temperance Convention in endorsing Hon. James Pike, will add a thousand or more votes to the Republican gubernatorial nominee, which might otherwise be cast in opposition. The friends who so urgently pressed his nomination at the Republican Convention are very confident of bringing out the reserve Republican vote, which has of late years been withheld for reasons best known to the parties in question.

The Democrats have unquestionably nominated their most popular man for Governor, wisely deciding that however true a representative of copperheadism his only opponent in their nominating Convention is and has been, he possessed no element of popularity to make even a respectable contest at the polls. So they gave him a back seat until some (hoped for) more convenient season when they could assume the burden without certain surety of being swamped.

We are not of those who fear any political disaster in the coming campaign. A square issue divides both parties and the labor reform votes may as well be classed among the scattering. The Republican party have work ahead, plenty of it, but with good leaders they have no reason to doubt success. We think the acceptance of the chairmanship of the State Central Committee by Hon. E. H. Rollins is an earnest of the drubbing that is once more to be administered to the party which as a party occupied a position during the rebellion that will always make it obnoxious to all who love their country.

The interest in the present campaign centres chiefly, in this vicinity, in the triangular Senatorial contest, for which Portsmouth furnishes the candidates. No Republican doubts a complete triumph in this Congressional district, and the opinion is general that the majority for Hon. William B. Small will be large. The question as to who his successor will be in the State Senate should be as easily answered. We did not originally favor the nomination of William R. Martin, Esq., for Senator, because we then preferred another candidate, but gladly acquiesced in the decision of the majority, as we believe did all the delegates present at the Convention, Mr. Martin has always been a consistent Republican, an earnest laborer in the cause when the party was in a minority. His nomination was fairly made and he deserves the unanimous support of the party. No one doubts his ability to fill the position honorably and satisfactorily to his constituents, and many of his political opponents will be found supporting him at the polls.

We have written more fully on the subject because of the nomination of a respected citizen, Charles Robinson, Esq., also a Republican, at Concord, as a Temperance candidate for Senator. We do not hear that Mr. Robinson will accept the nomination, and there are many temperance men in the Republican ranks who would be sorry if he did so. Those who nominated Mr. Robinson do not claim that he can be elected. Should he poll a sufficient number of votes to defeat a choice by the people, the legislature would elect Mr. Martin, unless the Democrats should have a majority, a contingency that we do not consider probable. There should be no division in the Republican ranks at this late hour. There is no duty that can call a man to risk the defeat of the principles he advocates, especially when nothing can be gained by such action. The Republican party must not risk a division which might send a Democrat to the U. S. Senate by the legislature to be chosen next year; and the declination of Mr. Robinson would prevent any such division.

New Hampshire Items.

Dover gives ten acres of land for the new jail, builds a road to it, and pays $700 for the old building and lot.

A schoolhouse in Nashua was partially burned by the overheating of stoves on Monday night.

The State Farmers' Convention commenced its session at Manchester on Tuesday. General Head delivered the introductory address, which was able and interesting.

THE WAR.

Garibaldi's operations have been suspended in consequence of Bourbaki's retreat. Garibaldi's victory at Dijon was complete.

The Garibaldians entered Dijon amid immense enthusiasm. The Prussians in their flight abandoned their wounded.

Faidherbe's army is retreating in a partially disbanded condition. He reports that the prisoners taken by the Prussians are stragglers.

The losses of the French in the sortie of the 19th from Paris have been officially ascertained to be less than 3000 killed, wounded and missing.

Favre has received a military pass to leave Paris.

CONGRESS.

The Senate, on the 24th, passed the House substitute for the bill for the territorial government for the District of Columbia.

Senator Patterson of New Hampshire addressed the Senate at length in explanation of the abuse in the diplomatic, consular and civil service. While heartily in favor of reform, he thought the bill defective. He made an expose of the New York custom house, to which Senators Conkling and Fenton replied.

Correspondence.

DEERFIELD, Jan. 25.

After some weeks of mild winter weather, we have had a sudden change. Jan. 22d the thermometer sank in about 12 hours, from nearly 32 deg. above to 15 deg. below zero,—nearly 40 deg. We have not had such intense cold for several years. But before this change fortunately most of the wells that had been dry 6 or 8 months were supplied with water.

The Freewill and Congregational Societies have been repairing their Houses of Worship. Rev. Geo. S. Hill has resigned the charge of the Freewill church, at the end of the fifth year, May 1, 1871.

The sudden death of Mr. Benjamin Jenness of Deerfield, widely known as "Sheriff Jenness," will be a sad surprise to his many friends in the County, notwithstanding his advanced age. He is said to have held the office of Sheriff for 30 years. Though he had passed fourscore and had suffered from severe sickness, he retained much of his native energy till the end. In his last years he calmly contemplated the approach of death, and publicly professed his attachment to the cause of Christ, and his faith in him as the only mediator between God and man. J. C.

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—The testimony against Murphy and Marble, charged with murder in the second degree in causing the death of Marble's wife, shows the whole lot to be a drunken, worthless set. The Marbles kept a low drinking place, and Murphy lived with them. The evidence is entirely circumstantial. Several medical men testify that death was caused by a rupture of the liver by some externally applied force, that the woman might have lived from six to twenty-four hours after being hurt, and that she would have been in great pain. Marble's mother says deceased fell over a stove on the day before her death, and accounts for a black eye and bruises on the body in that way. A boy saw Marble knock his wife's head against the wall on the Sunday evening, and a man saw him kick her on the Saturday before her death. The miserable wife's maiden name was Hatch; and she was 30 years of age. The parties seem to have been about as degraded specimens of handiwork as rum can turn out.

☞ It is said that the reason of Minister Schenck's delay of his departure for England is that the English government has sent instructions for the immediate settlement of the Alabama claims here, and has made, through Minister Thornton, propositions to which our government is inclined to give favorable consideration.

Brevities.

A boiler explosion in Stevenson's saw mill, St. Paul, Indiana, killed four men.

A man named Jones fell 1300 feet at Hoosac Tunnel, on the 23d, and was killed.

The impeachment trial of Gov. Holden is proceeding at Raleigh, N. C.

The U. S. Senate committee is investigating the Ku Klux outrages in the South—commencing with North Carolina.

Another wife claims Congressman Bowie of South Carolina as her husband. Bowie is too much married.

Mr. Edward C. Delevan, best known for his protracted and zealous connection with the temperance movement, is dead.

Jersey City had a drunken riot at the funeral of Gen. E. R. V. Wright.

A Fenian revival is contemplated.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peravian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Undertakers grow rich and grave yards reek with the mouldering bones of thousands who prematurely fall as victims to those relentless destroyers, Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption. The two latter diseases are but the children of the former, which is easily and surely cured by using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, while for the cure of the latter Lung disease nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. Both medicines are sold by druggists, or the Catarrh Remedy may be obtained by enclosing sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Lesson of Nature.

Torpor is the characteristic of winter. Vegetation dies or falls into a state of trance. The whole aspect of inanimate nature teaches us that there is a paralyzing influence in the air, and ought to teach us that our bodies require an increase of vital power to contend with it. Some of even the warm-blooded animals bury themselves in the earth and remain in a state of partial stupefaction until the season is over, and the elixir of the spring sunshine stimulates their stagnant blood, and restores their vigor. But man, although he feels the influence of the season, can protect himself against its inclemency. He has fuel to warm him externally, and can tone and strengthen his internal organization and endow it with the extra amount of vitality which the circumstances require. Of all invigorants that have ever been recommended for this purpose, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the purest and the best. Fortified by the daily use of this wholesome vegetable tonic, the human system may defy the chills and damps of winter in any latitude. Its effect is to promote a brisk and regular circulation of the blood, and activity in all the secretive organs. Without the slightest tendency to produce fever, it imparts a healthful glow to the surface, and stimulates the exterior vessels to discharge, in the form of gentle perspiration, the useless matter eliminated from the blood. Thus the system is kept unclogged. Fever and ague, biliousness, indigestion and colic, all of which are the common consequences of the searching damps and low temperature of winter, may be avoided (as well as cured) by a course of this genial tonic and alterative. 1wdaw

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the in the world, and deserves to be, for it is the safest and the best. As a dressing after the dyeing, use

STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the alphabet of Music onward, when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a personal trial of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this remarkable class there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respective development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch as a human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; while he does not condemn by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had better be handed in without delay.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that should be pursued to remove a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I consider most desirable. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs were diseased beyond healing, under the baleful influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air more bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally improve, and then their lungs are healed. If there is a good sick room attached to a hotel, it is a great advantage to invalids, as they can be kept at a more even temperature: and it is not necessary to say, that, when a consumptive person confines himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of sudden changes, and avoid Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is decidedly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. I was engaged so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and from my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a proverbial saying there, that a person is rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-fifth part of this population died of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many families troubled with it. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about a scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, and, if it does not go off in a fortnight, believe it will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for incurable and incipient consumption. Thus are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and, if they will place reliance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. The compliant, usually, is a tight cough. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride every day, will be sure to lay a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to get the liver into the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient tells you he feels hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, stay and over-sun been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise without exposing the room to cold air, and not down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is so easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go home, if you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from shadowy jaws of death by their use.

As to the Mandrake Pills, I am asked, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have taken too much rich fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fever. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 8 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

New Goods—Henry M. Clark.
Mortgagee's Sale—H. F. Wendell.

☞ There are a number of applicants for the Ordnance clerkship at the Navy Yard.

NAVAL.—U. S. S. Tuscarora sailed on the 23d from Key West for this Naval Station.

☞ The Directors and Superintending officials of the Concord Railroad made a trip of inspection over the road on Tuesday and dined in this city at the Kearsarge.

☞ We are informed that Miss Mary Sherburne is recovering from her injuries and that she lay in the cold an hour after her fall. Miss Sarah Sherburne, her sister, is the one who lost $90.

P. M. L. A. LECTURE.—Dr. John W. Parsons of this city delivered a lecture on "Sleep" before the Mercantile Lyceum Tuesday evening, and notwithstanding the extremely cold weather, the Temple was well filled with pleased and attentive listeners.

The lecture was good, and well delivered. It was eminently scientific, yet presented in a popular style. Many false ideas in regard to sleep were exploded and held up to ridicule, while the most reasonable theory in regard to the phenomenon was explained in an easy and intelligent manner. The lecture was enlivened by witty allusions and local hits, which caused audible smiles. Mr. Marvin introduced the speaker as "one of the Parsons who preached but little, and practiced a great deal;" to which the doctor replied he hoped his discourse would not prove dull, though the theme was (a) sleep.

REMEMBER THE POOR.—Some time ago the question was asked in this paper, "Are the city authorities going to appoint a City Missionary?" and the unhappy enquirer was cruelly snubbed next day by a correspondent, who told him that he ought to know better than to suppose the city had ever appointed one. The enquirer was so brazen, however, that he didn't care a cent for being snubbed, or for his ignorance of how the former City Missionary was paid; but what he meant to ask was, if another one was to be employed by anybody, or not. He learned that there was to be none—or supposed he did.

The recent severe weather, coupled with the fact that employment is scarce, led a gentleman (Dr. S. Gilbert, we believe,) to employ a reliable and trusty man as a visitor to endeavor to find out if cases of real distress and urgent want might not exist in our midst; and he has had little difficulty in finding misery enough to justify the employment of an agent to discover and relieve it.

In one house he found a man who has been kept at home for weeks attending to the wants of his infant child and dying wife, the man being almost naked and the house absolutely destitute of the comforts and even necessaries of life. The pressing needs of the family (there are several children) were relieved at once, but the woman has since died. Whether her death was hastened by hunger and cold, or not, her dying bed was certainly not smoothed with luxury.

In another tenement at the South End, the visitor on Wednesday found a woman with several children—three, we think—who had eaten the last morsel of food in their wretched home, and know not where the next mouthful could be procured. These instances are enough to show that want does exist, and that much suffering will result if it is not relieved, even though the poor may manage to live through the inclement season.

The professional beggars everywhere do well this weather with their tales of woe, and in this city they have the bread-and-cheese in the lockup to fall back upon as a last resource; but there are many honest laboring men who have been out of employment for the whole winter, cannot get work nor bring themselves to beg for charity, yet to whom a trifling assistance would be most grateful; and there may be other widows with hungry children, and sick men without food or fire, to whom the comforts which can be purchased with the cost of a week's cigars or a "venture with the Fakir" would be as a plank to a drowning man.

We understand that the various Churches and benevolent societies are to meet for the purpose of organizing a plan to ferret out and banish the distress which must exist in our midst; but charitably inclined persons need not wait until then to offer their assistance to the poor, as any articles—discarded clothing, money or anything else left at the store of Dr. S. Gilbert on Daniel Street, will be carefully and promptly distributed so as to do the utmost apparent good. Remember the poor.

☞ Col. Wm. S. Hadley has purchased the Seaside House at Rye Beach and will refit it.

☞ The City Councils meet this evening. Many persons have anticipated that the election of City Marshal would go to a joint convention of both Boards, should the Aldermen fail to elect in 30 days from their inauguration. The law providing for such a contingency has been repealed.

☞ The Tuesday morning train from Concord met with an accident near Raymond. A rail broke in four pieces but the train was not thrown from the track, although running at usual speed. Conductor Maynard sent the section men at once to repair it.

Communication.

QUERIES.—If a journalist should say that a former Insurance Agent failed to pay over the funds in his hands belonging to the Company, would it be a "personality" or a legitimate journalistic criticism of official misconduct?

If the journalist should imply that the above-mentioned agent procured board at a hotel and occasionally invited a friend to take a drive, but forgot to pay either hotel or stable bill, would it be a "personality"—or would it be within the range of legitimate journalism, the same as a manly attempt to blacken the reputation of any woman who should dare to belong to a temperance society (by publicly endorsing the slanders of a confessed beer-bibber regarding the society) would be? QUERIST.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT is advertised for this evening, at the Temple. We saw Professor Silvester and his pupil at Boston, last week, and can recommend the entertainment to our readers. The Professor is one of the best illusionists we ever saw and is as witty as he is successful in his art. The suspension of Miss Schott in mid-air is attributed to mesmeric and scientific influences and the process is a wonderful one. She is dressed in the male habit of the modern stage blondes. The female trunk in this dress is the only thing that is draped about the body, except the arms. The legs are merely encased in flesh colored silk tights, while her feet are tightly fitted with gold embroidered shoes. Two long poles from five to six feet in length, and two inches in diameter, are placed in an upright position upon a raised platform. Miss Schott is placed on a stool about two feet high, and rests her arms near the elbows on the top of the poles. While she is in this position the Illusionist, Silvester makes around her head and body the peculiar passes of the professional mesmerizer. Apparently, Miss Schott falls into a profound mesmeric sleep, and then the pole supporting her left arm is removed, as is the stool beneath her feet; and without apparent support she remains suspended. In all of these varied representations while so suspended, the young lady's countenance plainly indicates that none of her positions is one of fatigue.

While thus suspended, Prof. Silvester places her in various positions, representing a Gipsey Fortune Teller, the Magdalen, the Flower Girl, the Madonna, a Winged Angel, and some comic assumptions.

The Talking Lion is an amusing feature of the evening's entertainment. We do not pretend to explain the modus operandi, but those who fancy themselves capable of solving the mystery may find an opportunity for their imagination this evening.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It has a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small portion of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 7 in gold, and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after the date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

WOOD AND WATER.—There is talk of asking Congress, if State statutes are not to be procured, to pass a law for the protection of the forests growing by the larger streams of the country, at least at their sources. The ground for such a movement is, that our annual spring freshets, which are so destructive in their effects, would thereby be greatly, if not entirely, prevented, and that in time there would be no more such scenes as we now witness along the Connecticut, Hudson, Mohawk, Susquehanna, Delaware, Jumes, and other large rivers. The snow melts all at once where forests are lacking, and precipitates immense volumes of water into the river, carrying devastation along with the swollen current; but if the snows were to melt more gradually, filtering through the forests as it were, the rivers would easily be able to carry off all their accessions, and the ruin witnessed along their lower banks would be obviated.

ECONOMY IN FUEL.—The Technologist says one cord of wood, cut and split fine, and corded up beneath a shelter while it is yet green, will furnish more heat after it has become seasoned than two cords of the same kind of wood which has been continually exposed to the alternate influences of storms and sunshine. Here is something for farmers to think of. A saving of one-half of the amount of wood usually consumed by those who have left their fuel out of doors is an important item, not only in the absolute amount of wood that may be saved, but in the labor that is required to work it up. More than this, contemplate the convenience and luxury of a quick, lasting and hot fire, when compared with the perplexities incident to the incessant hissing and simmering of a poor fire; and the stewing and frying that must be endured before one can get the fire to a baking heat.

HORSE WORK.—At a meeting of the British Association at Dublin, Mr. Charles Bianconi, of Caspel, read a paper relative to his extensive car establishment, after which a gentleman stated that at Pickford's, the great English carrier's they could not work a horse more than ten miles a day, wished to hear Mr. Bianconi's opinion on the subject. Mr. B. stated he found by experience, he could better work a horse eight miles a day for six days in the week, than six miles for seven days. By not working on Sunday, he effected a saving of 12 per cent. Mr. Bianconi's opinion on this point is of the highest importance, for he has over 900 horses working sixty-seven conveyances, which daily travel 4244 miles. It is also the result of forty-three years' experience.—Scientific American.

BURNING COAL.—A common mistake in the use of coal is the placing of too large a quantity in the stove or grate at once. Coal to burn freely, should only be six inches deep in the vessel containing it, and then if properly ignited, there will be no trouble. By placing a few oyster shells occasionally in the stoves, when hot, those disagreeable customers, known as clinkers, will entirely disappear. If one trial is not enough repeat.

REMEDY FOR CROUP.—A simple and effective remedy for that distresssing and often dangerous disease common with children, croup, is this:—Give half a teaspoonful of pulverized alum in a little molasses. It is a simple remedy, one almost always at hand, and one dose seldom fails to give relief. If it should, repeat it after one hour.—Exchange.

— Carlyle says that sarcasm is "the language of the devil.' The ability to acquire a foreign language so perfectly as Mr. Carlyle has done is something remarkable.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st 1871 thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

MISS HEPSEY.

BY SOPHIE MAY AND FRANCIS LEE.

Miss Hepsey hung the tea-kettle over the fire and sat down to think.

"Those hens! Can Celinda be trusted to let them out in the morning and shut them up at night? Will she remember what I said about the setting hen, and the eggs in the yellow bowl? No!" said Miss Hepsey mournfully to her own thoughts. "If I conclude to go to Portland, I must just bid good-by to my chickens before I go!"

"Hepsey," said Aunt Maguire, putting her head in at the door, "don't forget that gray flannel; but you mustn't pay too much for it; I'd rather go without." Aunt Maguire disappeared, with her widow's cap tilted on one side of her pepper-and-salt curls, and her niece mused on.

But, unfortunately, addled eggs were not the least of her troubles. She knew just as well as if Madame Demorest had told her, that a faded, brown alpaca is no dress to make any impression in—only a dowdy impression—and that upon this visit to Portland depended a great deal more than a few yards of flannel or a brood or two of chickens.

There was Hiram Stackpole, living not three squares from the family she was about the visit. She should meet him; how could it be avoided unless she always kept herself veiled to the chin? She trembled at the thought, but at the same time chid herself from trembling. Why did she care for meeting Hiram Stackpole any more than Deacon Nutting? He surely would not speak to her unless she should first give some sign of recognition.

"Hepsey!" called out Celinda, through the open window, "I'll watch your chickens very particular, and if anything happens to 'em I'll telegraph. So try to be easy."

"That's right, dear, that's right," replied Hepsey, springing up with an instinctive feeling that her thoughts would be seen if she did not hasten to change the position in which she thought them.

At seven next morning the Pooleville stage drew up before Aunt Maguire's door with a tipsey flourish that wrought destruction to the bunch of ferns Celinda had brought from the river-bank, planted under the hackmattack tree in her mother's yard, and cherished like a daughter. But what is a bunch of ferns to the march of a yellow coach and four gray horses? Everybody except the foolish Celinda saw that the loss was only a trifle, though she bewailed it all the morning, shedding a few tears off by herself in the summer-house.

Meanwhile the gray horses and yellow coach pranced and bounded along on their way to the depot with Miss Hepsey's hand-trunk and somebody's baby-wagon on top, and Miss Hepsey, in her faded brown alpaca, inside. At the post-office they stopped to take the mail-bag and a young man wearing a wide-brimmed Panama hat and a suit of linen, smooth and fresh, which made the brown alpaca look still more faded and unseasonable. The young man carried in one hand a valise and in the other an odd looking box carefully tied up.

"Why, Fred Tracy, how do you do?" exclaimed Miss Hepsey, her eyes brimming over with welcome, and the youthful look flashing back to her face, giving a momentary glimpse of her departed freshness and bloom.

"She must have been a beauty," thought Fred, settling on the back seat beside her, still carefully holding the odd looking box on his knee. "I used to wonder at Stackpole's choice, but I can see now how she must have changed."

"Are you going back to Portland, Fred?" asked Miss Hepsey, the care-worn look returning to her face.

"Yes; I've rusticated three days, and that is all I can spare. I'm in Stackpole's store," added he, carelessly. "Ahem! I believe he is an old acquaintance of yours? I happened to mention once that I had cousins at Pooleville and then he asked me if I knew a lady there by the name of Hepsibah Dillon."

"Ah!"

A queer little sparkle shot out of Miss Hepsey's eyes. It might have been pleasure, it might have been pain.

"Yes. He was very particular to inquire just how you were situated. And the other day I heard, through Martha Jane, that you were coming to the city, so I just mentioned it to him. Shall I bring him around to call? Let's see, I believe you are to be at Dr. Pond's?"

"I—I—it is quite uncertain where I shall be. Some of the time over at the Cape, perhaps. But you,—yes, you might call."

As Miss Hepsey delivered herself of this incoherent sentence, she twisted her fingers nervously, but her habitual staidness and self-possession did not desert her. In spite of her years of hardship and loneliness, she was a lady still, let the brown alpaca fade as it might.

At last with the usual flourish and energetic crying out at the horses, the stage drew up at the depot and in five minutes Miss Hepsey was on her way to Portland and to her fate. The car was crowded that morning, so Fred Tracy, with his box, was obliged to take a seat beside Miss Hepsey. She

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most delicate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.
For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.
For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.
For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.
No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.
So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of greatt alent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

THE WAR.

A Berlin dispatch announces the capture of General Faidherbe and staff.

The whole nothern portion of France has been evacuated by the French forces, and is now entirely open to the Germans.

The resignation of Gen. Trochu has been accepted by the Parisian Committee of Defence. Trochu retains Government of the city.

The defeat of the Prussians at Dijon on Sunday was complete. The troops under Ricciotti Garibaldi destroyed the sixty-first Prussian regiment. The French behaved heroically.

M. Jules Favre has declined to leave Paris.

A Versailles dispatch of Jan. 24th says Jules Favre is there. He proposes the capitulation of Paris and the garrison, with the honors of war. The terms are not deemed admissible. Trochu is ill, and Vinoy is in command.

The population of Alsace is troublesome and a large German force is required in the province to prevent an outbreak.

Bismarck threatens to restore Napoleon if Paris does not capitulate on his terms.

The fortress of Longwy, on the Belgian border, which has been besieged for a long time by the Germans, has surrendered. Four thousand prisoners of war and two hundred guns fell into the hands of the victors.

The Garibaldians have routed a detachment of German Landwehr who were guarding the railroad and the villages of Fonteux and Burgundy.

A plot to escape has been discovered among the French prisoners at Liege. Precautionary measures were at once taken.

Private despatches received in Boston from London Bankers state that the reported surrender of Paris is confirmed.

We learn by a dispatch by the International Telegraph Company that the news of the capitulation of Paris is generally believed, in this country and England; latest reports from London state that nothing official has yet been received, but the rumor is credited as a fact.

CONGRESS.

Senator Frank P. Blair, Jr., of Missouri, was sworn in on the 25th.

Senators Scott and Sherman debated the proposed bill for repealing the income tax.

Senators Conkling and Fenton indulged in a personal discussion.

In the House, the fortification bill was made a special order for Tuesday. It appropriates $75.000 for Fort McClary, Portsmouth harbor.

New Hampshire Items.

The Woman's Suffrage State Convention met at Concord on the 25th.

On the 19th, in Derry, Mr. Joseph Morrison died very suddenly, having been out-of-doors all day and in seeming good health.

On the 19th, in Milford, Mrs. Susan Larrabee took tea at a neighbor's, returned home and in half an hour was found dead. Her age was 72.

Mr. Samuel Hosley and Mrs. Sophia Hosley, his wife, died quite suddenly at Franklin, recently. Mr. Hosley had an attack of lung fever, and, after a short illness, died on the 10th instant. Mrs. Hosley, who had been in feeble health, was so overcome by the death of her husband, that she was prostrated, and died on the 16th. Mr. Hosley was 69 years of age, and his wife 70.

The scientists at the summit of Mount Washington experienced a gale of 90 miles an hour on the 23d, with the temperature at 40 degrees below zero.

Isaac W. Farmer, Esq., of Manchester, died on the 25th aged 43 years. He had held the offices of Deputy Sheriff, City Marshal, Provost Marshal and Assistant U. S. Assessor.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to burn "Reed's Hall" in Hanover, Tuesday night, the 21st.

☞ The Boston correspondent of the New York Times says it is whispered about that the Boston Museum building is to be turned into dry goods stores and offices, and that Mr. Eben D. Jordan, a wealthy admirer of Fechter, is to build a theatre in conjunction with others, at which Fechter, Miss Leclercq, William Warren and Miss Annie Clarke are to play. It is probable, however, that Miss Clark and Mr. Warren would go to the Globe theatre in preference.

☞ Secretary Boutwell says the income tax will amount to $12,000,000 and that it costs but little over $1,000,000 to collect it. If it is repealed he thinks no assessors can be dispensed with.

☞ The iron steamship Crusader, 900 tons, of the West Indies and Pacific Steamship Company of Liverpool, running between Liverpool and the West Indies and Aspinwall, was lost on the 4th of January on Zamba reef, 30 miles from Carthagena. Her cargo is lost, but all the lives were saved.

☞ The Boston Traveller says that a committee "embracing the first ladies in town," has been appointed in North Attleboro', Mass. We wouldn't object to serving on that committee ourself.

☞ Hon. Alexander Caldwell, Republican, has been chosen U. S. Senator from Kansas, to succeed Ross, who voted for Andy Johnson in impeachment times.

Witnesses testified to the drunken character of the woman, and to Marble's general kind treatment of her; and one man said she fell against his cart on the Thursday before her death, while drunk, injuring her head so as leave blood on the wheel. Dr. Durgin stated that the woman has been at Deer Island 14 times within four years—twenty-three months in all—for drunkenness. The evidence was all finished, and the Court adjourned till next day.

Jan. 26.—The arguments on both sides were made, and the trial was ended by the jury returning a verdict of "not guilty" in the case of each defendant.—Probably they will continue in the rum business, which it is every freeman's blessed right to engage in, no matter what horrors and sufferings result from it.

☞ Isaac Tarr, living on the west side of the river, three miles above Wiscasset, Me., was frozen to death on the 23d. He fell through the ice while crossing the river to cut wood, and when found had been in the water standing breast high in the ice nearly an hour. He died a few moments after being taken out. His struggles must have been fearful, as his clothing was nearly torn off by the edges of the ice. He was about 60 years of age.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Lesson of Nature.

Torpor is the characteristic of winter. Vegetation dies or falls into a state of trance. The whole aspect of inanimate nature teaches us that there is a paralyzing influence in the air, and ought to teach us that our bodies require an increase of vital power to contend with it. Some of even the warm-blooded animals bury themselves in the earth and remain in a state of partial stupendation until the season is over, and the elixir of the spring sunshine stimulates their stagnant blood, and restores their vigor. But man, although he feels the influence of the season, can protect himself against its inclemency. He has fuel to warm him externally, and can tone and strengthen his internal organization and endow it with the extra amount of vitality which the circumstances require. Of all invigorants that have ever been recommended for this purpose, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the purest and the best. Fortified by the daily use of this wholesome vegetable tonic, the human system may defy the chills and damps of winter in any latitude. Its effects are prompt in a state of partial stupendation of the blood, and activity in all the secretive organs. Without the slightest tendency to produce fever, it imparts a healthful glow to the surface, and stimulates the exterior vessels to discharge, in the form of gentle perspiration, the useless matter eliminated from the blood. Thus the system is kept unclogged. Fever and ague, biliousness, indigestion and colic, all of which are the common consequences of the searching damps and low temperature of winter, may be avoided (as well as cured) by a course of this genial tonic and alterative. lwdaw

1871. STILL IN THE FIELD.

THOS. P. MOSES, still in the bright field of Music and the Sister Arts, with unabated energy and zeal, and an increased interest in the cause of Music, respectfully announces that he is making arrangements to open a regular Academy of Music for Juvenile and other instruction on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS and EVENINGS when desired, at the spacious and beautiful Mercantile Hall, recently occupied by the Mercantile Library Association. Here will be taught the elements of the Art, from A in the Alphabet of Music onward when required, to Musical Arrangements and composition. At the close of each session of six or twelve weeks, he will give with his pupils in this Hall, Exhibition Concerts, when parents and others at a small fee can attend and witness his mode and manner of imparting Musical Knowledge, as he has hitherto done in Portsmouth, East Boston, Brooklyn and Edgefield District, South Carolina.

MR. MOSES will take pupils whose parents or guardians feel sufficient interest in this branch of education to urge a continuance of their children at this school for at least one year, payable in advance, only $1 at each session of twelve lessons. In this reasonable time there will be some chance for Master and Pupil to prove something of their respective merits in imparting and receiving, a chance for the respectable development of mutual ability. It is impossible even for a first-class teacher to do any justice to himself or to his pupils when scholars are permitted in their whims to leave their class after taking perhaps one, three, or a dozen lessons of an hour each, reporting that they have "learnt nothing," often to the professional injury of a good teacher. There is no way to raise up singers for the churches and for the social circle, but to educate the children and youth in this branch of human refinement. Begin too late and bungling performers—or none at all—necessarily follow.

MR. M. is now recording names at his Music Room and Studio, where he continues to give lessons in the true style of Piano playing and Singing. His long experience in the business will not permit him to teach Music in anywise by "rote" or imitation. It is essential to success in the study of Music that pupils should base their performance on a scientific and proper foundation; which he finds too often, by other pupils, to be entirely opposite to this principle. Often, however, it is the pupils' own fault. Further notice will be given of the day of commencement. Names had in the Music Room at his without delay.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a badly diseased lung to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such revolutions as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept by Mr. Brockway. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there, and should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove Spring, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to go to Nassau, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, to be certain to die suddenly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or Mellonville, are two of the places I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, bad breath, a sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take a great quantities of Balsam, Cough Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold in winter. In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than those in northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida seldom die of consumption, but many dies of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. I have seen persons in the last stage, and so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there, in the early stage of lung disease, who, if they will be careful, may recover. Many persons who have been consumptives were so easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, smallpox, &c. But they are not alarmed when they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will leave in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Balsam, Cough Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend that they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cough, cold, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse to bury a few days before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to lay up a good stock of healthy bile. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry: I have hopes for such. When the patient has gone the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer greeting the poor sufferer. As the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. Is there no help for such? Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands in this way, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment adopted. The fact can be established by my saying that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many cases which seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has tried everything, and found them wanting.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of the bad effects behind. I find they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhea ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the cure of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

CITY COUNCIL.

IN BOARD OF MAYOR AND ALDERMEN, Jan. 26th, the Rockingham Ten Cent Bank complained that a tax of $120 was levied on their building and land, while the money used for it had been taxed previously. Referred to the City Solicitor to report whether the tax has been legally assessed. The Bank propose to test the matter in the Supreme Court.

The annual assessment of the State tax was received. It amounts to $30,078, same as last year.

The Committee on Claims reported that the City is not responsible for damage to the horse of Mr. John M. Davis—frightened by the Steam Fire Engines recently.

The committee on the Rev. Canon Walsh case reported that they had heard the testimony at the Almshouse but had been unable to secure the attendance of Mr. Walsh, as on both occasions when he was notified, he was obligded to be out of town. From the evidence received the Committee report that the Rev. gentleman had used unexpectedly harsh and uncalled for language, and that hereafter when he should visit the Almshouse one of the Overseers of the Poor should accompany him. The report was recommitted.

The Committee on Collector's accounts were instructed to present an ordinance in accordance with their report.

Alderman Marvin suggested that a reservoir in the barn-yard of Mr. F. W. Rogers be negotiated for, as it was necessary in case of fire and had been used at the recent fire. The matter was referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

The breath waster of Ward Three brought in another stumbling block in the shape of a resolution declaring the positions of Assistant Marshals vacant, as no person had been elected to these offices this year.

Alderman Marvin stated that the army of police consists of three men. He remembered an earnest debate on the Board last year, on the same subject, and that same night one of the Assistant Marshals was stabbed by a ruffian returning from a house of debauchery. That same house still continues a house of debauchery. Abolish these houses and rum shops and the police force might be made smaller. The reputation of the Portsmouth police has kept many rogues from the city. The Marshal cannot be there at all times, and there was duty which called him frequently away. There should certainly be some one in authority to receive complaints and act in his absence. He had personally seen policemen risk their lives and they never flinched from their duty. In the fall of the year a great many fishermen from other ports rendezvous in the harbor. In unprotected towns these fishermen perform deeds worthy of pirates. Here they are arrested because we have an efficient police force.

He moved to lay the resolution on the table, with the following result:—Yeas, Fernald, Annable, Giddings, Waldron, Marvin—5; Nays, Mendum, Wendell, Hatch—3.

Alderman Mendum explained his vote, stating that he believed that the police expenses were too large.

Alderman Fernald thought that the police force should be well paid. The city might economize by shutting off the gas, but he preferred having the gas and an efficient police force.

The Committee on Streets reported in favor of changing the name of Anthony Street to Union. Passed.

The gentleman from Ward Three, Alderman Wendell, called attention to a portion of the report on Collector's accounts, charging that many names are put on the lists, copied from the check lists. Mr. Wendell denied that the Assessors were to blame in the matter, as he knew by experience.

Alderman Marvin thought the Collector was not blamable for being unable to collect taxes from individuals absent when taxes are due.

Alderman Wendell thought the report cast censure on the Board of Assessors.

Alderman Mendum stated that he wrote the report. He disclaimed any implied censure on the Assessors. The report was recommitted.

☞ A fine passenger engine named the "Kearsarge," has just been completed at the machine shop of the Eastern Railroad in Boston. The engine and tender are 39 feet long, weighs 30 tons, and are splendidly built and finished.

☞ The out-of-doors gang on the Navy Yard were not mustered on Thursday, orders having been received to suspend work when the mercury is one degree below zero. On Monday, the 23d, the men kept at work although the temperature was eight below zero, the orders not having then arrived.

Seventy two hours afterwards the tack was on exhibition, having done no harm to the child—strange to relate.

☞ Mr. John Albee lectured to the people of Greenland, upon "the Farm," last Wednesday evening. Notwithstanding the severity of the weather a respectably large company assembled to hear him, and they had their reward for the extra effort they made, in the pleasant and genial speculations of the lecturer about their houses and fields, their crops and their cattle, their faults and their virtues.

—The journalist who opens his columns to those who wish to spread malicious and slanderous falsehoods, or misrepresent and malign a citizen who has had a misunderstanding in his business relations, or perhaps been unfortunate for a few months; is guilty of indecent and unjustifiable personalities which react upon him and his paper, doing him far more injury than the individual at whom these malignant shafts are aimed. So say all the people. How many are there who can "cast the first stone?"—Opposition Organ.

NOT YET BEGUN.—Looking over a copy of the New Hampshire Gazette, dated May 16, 1826, we happened to see the following item of what was then news:—

Winnepisseogee Canal.—We understand that at the annual meeting of the proprietors of the Winnepisseogee Canal, held at Dover on the 3d inst., a board of fifteen directors was chosen; and that measures were adopted preparatory to its commencement. The subscription books for the stock are to be opened immediately.

So it appears that the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad is not the only scheme for improving the means of internal communication in this part of the State, which has been talked of a long while without being commenced.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopeas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

		Difference in Gold.	Incr'd annual int. Exchange.	upon investment.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrants us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

was a person given to thinking rather than talking, and his rattle of flippant commonplaces, with its flavor of youthful egotism, was becoming decidedly tiresome, when he incidentally remarked: "Stackpole is going to be married, so they say, to a Miss Cumberland, daughter of one of the richest men in the city. I don't know, for my own part, as there is a word of truth in it, but that is the talk among the boys."

"Indeed!" replied Miss Hepsey, feeling called upon to speak, and feeling, also, an unwelcome warmth of hidden life among the raked up embers of her heart.

"Yes, he has been known to look at her out of the left corner of his eye, I believe, two or three times, and I am not sure but he was seen once to pick up her scarf when she dropped it in the store, and return it with a bow. But really, whether there is anything in this or not, I have always wondered why Stackpole has never married. He is certainly domestic in his tastes," pursued young Tracy, who, quite unlike every other man, had a grain of curiosity in his organization, and, if he had spoken out all his mind, would have gone on to "wonder why Mr. Stackpole had not married Miss Hepsey a dozen years before." While Miss Hepsey herself, with the tokens on her face of having come off victor in a great many battles of life, looked, without replying, at the box that innocently held the turning of her destiny.

"Engaged!" thought she. "I am not surprised. The only wonder is, as Fred says, that such a thing has never happened before."

But all the same, there was a sudden chill at her heart, as if a black frost had crept in upon some tender buds of hope that had long been lying undeveloped and unsuspected in the shade.

"Engaged! The girl is young; no doubt, beautiful.

Then, as Fred Tracy rattled on, in time with the noisy wheels, Miss Hepsey's thoughts flew backward to the days when she herself had been young and beautiful. Hiram had loved her then, there could be no doubt of that. His looks had said it a thousand times, and even if looks and tones, and signs and intimations had been all at fault, had he not "told her all his heart," in written language, strong and unmistakable?

She would never forget that letter, for it was the last he ever wrote. Not for lack of response on her part. No, she had written immediately, and there had been no equivocation in her answer. She could repeat the sentences now, with every comma and semicolon in its proper place.

And then the sweet expectation that had rested over her through days, and weeks, and even months, until hope deferred had made her heart sick! He never wrote again; he never came; and if her letter said too much, or if he suddenly discovered he had mistaken his own feelings, she never knew.

Somewhat less than a year after this, Mr. Stackpole's Sister Lucy, who had come to Pooleville on a visit, died suddenly at Fred Tracy's Uncle John's, and Hepsey was there with her good sense, her good taste, her quiet nerves and ready hands, when Hiram came to take his dead sister for her burial in the ancestral tomb.

He came into the darkened parlor unexpectedly to Hepsey, as she stood by the casket, putting rosemary and Persian lilacs in the still hands that had unwittingly done her a grievous wrong.

Nothing passed between the two old friends but such looks of sad sympathy as strangers might give and receive above a bier, and then Hepsey, who was needed no longer, went away, with her heart full of wounded love and proud regret.

Ship was twelve years ago. She had never seen him since. And now they would meet again. Well, what cared she? When a past event is dead and buried, why should its ghost walk? There is always enough to do and bear in the living present. For instance, at this very moment, she ought to be thinking out the plot of a new story, for Miss Hepsey's facile pen was all she could depend upon for the winning of her daily bread.

Concluded in our next.

VALUE OF LIME.—A writer in the journal of the Royal Agriculture Society, describing the permanence of the action of lime, says he knows a piece of land containing 166 acres, which formerly grew nothing but heath. A good dressing of lime was applied on the surface of the sward which has nearly doubled its value. This was done several years ago, and totally eradicated the heath. The lime this day appears in full condition, as its effects usually testify, from the richness and sweetness of the herbage, the texture of which has been entirely changed by the application of lime.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it. Free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D Bible House, New York city.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st 1871 thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

MISS HEPSEY.

BY SOPHIE MAY AND FRANCIS LEE.

Before the cars stopped at Portland—long enough before—she had quite recovered her equipoise and made her entrance at Doctor Pond's with her usual gentle self-possession.

"I am so glad," said Mrs. Pond cordially, after the first greetings were over, "so very glad you have come in season for my little social supper to-morrow! I was afraid Aunt Maguire's cold might detain you a day or two; and your old friend, Mr. Stackpole, is to be here."

Mr. Stackpole again! Hepsey was glad the name had been spoken so many times that day that the strangeness was wearing off.

"He drops in quite frequently," went on guileless Mrs. Pond, adjusting her eye-glasses. "He and the doctor are great friends; but if you will believe me, I never knew till last night that you and he had ever met. I was speaking incidentally of expecting a visit from you, and then I turned around to him, and said I: 'Why dear me, Mr. Stackpole, you used to live in Pooleville? You must remember Hepsey Dillon?' 'Certainly I do; we were old school-mates,' said he. And then when I went on to speak of your literary success — you know I am rather proud of you, Hepsey—he seemed to know all about it and rejoice in it as much as I do."

"Indeed!" replied Hepsey faintly.

"Yes," returned Mrs. Pond. "And Mr. Stackpole is a man of such excellent taste that you may take his good opinion as a compliment. Though, as for that, compliments are no new thing for you," pursued Mrs. Pond, to whom an author was an object of peculiar interest. Even Hepsey's faded alpaca held for her a certain charm, testifying in its silent way to the superiority of mind over matter.

And Hepsey, though usually very shy and sensitive on the subject of her literary career, was very glad at that moment of any diversion from the inevitable Mr. Stackpole, who started up at every turn like a jumping-jack. So she joined in a long gossip about authors and art till Mrs. Pond's versatile mind sprang off upon yeast for the next day's baking, and she darted away to look after the cook and the store-room.

The next evening Hepsey came into the long, bright parlor, dressed in her best black silk, a much-enduring garment that had been turned and stiffened with gin; but then black silks, like dead men, tell no tales—and she looked very sweet and attractive with her fresh blue ribbons and her peaceful face.

Mr. Stackpole thought so when he came in late in the evening. After a few words with the hostess, he slipped into a shadowy corner, and looked eagerly over the room until he saw Miss Hepsey in a deep window a little aside. Then he stood gazing at her face as though he wished to read all that the past lost years had printed on it. There was a yearning look in his eyes, a look of long hunger, satisfied at last.

Presently Miss Hepsey's eyes, drawn perhaps by the magnetism of his, turned toward Mr. Stackpole's corner and met the remembered face. Instantly the flame, long buried and smouldering in her heart, leaped up into life again, burning at her cheeks and choking her breath. Poor Hepsey! She did not understand that it was Mr. Stackpoles glance of earnest love that had stirred the old pleasure and the old pain; she blamed her own heart for it all.

"Hepsibah Dillon!" said she to herself severely, "this won't do! I thought you could be trusted to meet that man! If you are turning out as weak as a cobweb, go away!"

And go she did.

When Mr. Stackpole, as soon as he could without rudeness, had made his way across the crowded room, where everybody insisted on speaking with him, and had come to the window-niche, he found only the curtain there, with the marks of Hepsey's tremulous fingers upon its white folds. It was too tantalizing.

"I will, I must see her," said he, and rushed back to Mrs. Pond, who stood in smiling state, fluttering her Chinese fan, as she put some stranger at ease in her great-hearted, motherly way; keeping at the same time an eye and ear upon the entire company, ready to prevent with quiet adroitness any neglect or loneliness.

"Mrs. Pond," said Mr. Stackpole abruptly, "I want to see Miss Dillon—I wish to speak with her."

For the dropping of an eyelid, Mrs. Pond forgot her watch of hospitality in surprise, at the restrained excitement in his manner. She recovered herself in a breath, however, reading with quick insight the unexpected revelation written on his eager face; and at the same time discovering afar off in the farthest parlor a lone young lady who needed her instant attention.

"Certainly, Mr. Stackpole, certainly," said she, looking equal to the conjunction of even the sun and moon, if she should choose to undertake it. "But may I ask you to carry this book of prints to Miss Converse, over there by

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]
NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."
WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

THE WAR.

M. Favre has had a protracted interview with Count Von Bismarck upon the subject of the proposals submitted by the French Government for the surrender of Paris. Bismarck demanded from Favre the unconditional surrender of the whole of France, and stated that in the event of this proposition being declined the Committee of National Defence must accept the alternative of a thorough and complete restoration of Napoleon and the Empire by imperial troops, backed by the armies of Germany.

Count Bismarck stated that the written acceptance of his terms by Napoleon and Eugenie was in possession of his government, and that if M. Favre concluded to surrender the city of Paris only, and not the armies of France, he (Bismarck) will tell M. Gambetta that submission to Prussia is the last and only chance left him for consolidating the French Republic. In conclusion Count Bismarck assured M. Favre that further resistance by France after the fall of Paris would result in the immediate restoration of the Empire, and the re-establishment of Napoleon upon the throne.

The Imperialists are active and the English government is known to favor the restoration of the Bonaparte dynasty under a regency.

No further news from Paris.

Gen. Bourbaki's army is between two German armies and its capture is expected.

CONGRESS.

The Senate, on the 26th, passed the pension appropriation bill, rejecting the amendment appropriating $5,000,000 for the recent increase of the pensions five per cent. authorized by Congress. The bill now goes to the President.

After discussion, the bill repealing the income tax passed by a vote of 26 to 25. Senators Cragin and Patterson, we are pleased to state, voted "no."

THE "ODIOUS INCOME TAX."—The income tax has been called some very hard names by some of the papers whose editors are wealthy men, and all sorts of reasons (except good ones) have been advanced in favor of its repeal. The anti-income-tax papers say that the tax is unconstitutional, that it costs more to collect it than it is worth, and that it is oppressive to the people and "odious" to all classes of citizens. As to its being unconstitutional, the Courts have not yet so decided. How it can oppress the people does not appear; for it spares the poor and those of moderate fortune, and bears only upon those who are best able to bear it. Nor is it plain that the tax is "odious" to any but the wealthy men who have to pay it—and their idea seems to be that a just tax is one on food and clothing, of which the poor have to pay as much as the rich. Secretary Boutwell estimates the net gain from continuing the income tax at $11,000,000; and he probably knows as much about the matter as do the editors who say that it costs more than it comes to. The rich men want the tax abolished because they have to pay it themselves, and not because it "oppresses the poor," or is unconstitutional or unproductive; and it is to wealthy men only that the tax is "odious." We hope it will be kept up, as do the great majority of the people.

☞ The wealthy men of New York believe in life insurance. Twenty-two of them are insured for various sums from $100,000 to $300,000, showing an aggregate amount of $3,930,000, or an average of $187,000. Cyrus W. Field has his life insured for nearly a quarter of a million. Daniel Drew has his life insured for several hundred thousand dollars. Horace Greeley has an insurance of about $75,000 on his life. Mr. James Brown, head of the banking house of Brown Bros., is insured on his life for $100,000.

Communication.

NEWCASTLE, Jan. 26.

The cold weather has been very severe on this Island for the past three days, the thermometer ranging from 2 to 12 degrees below zero. The lower harbor is blocked up with ice; a person can walk from Fort Constitution to the point opposite Clark's Island. The fishing vessels are all frozen in the ice, a condition of things which has not occurred within the past twelve years. Notwithstanding the extreme cold and great quantity of ice, old Piscataqua river, with the ship channel, is free for the government vessels which are expected at this Naval Station.

The next morning, Kiblin with an elder brother, met Wood on his way to school, and began a violent assault upon him. Mr. Wood drew a revolver to defend himself, which was wrested from him by the Kiblins, who then severely pounded him. His cries of murder brought help, and the parties were separated. Writs were issued for the arrest of the Kiblins, who have escaped.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY is BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Undertakers grow rich and grave yards reek with the mouldering bones of thousands who prematurely fall as victims to those relentless destroyers, Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption. The two latter diseases are but the children of the former, which is easily and surely cured by using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, while for the cure of the two latter diseases nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. Both medicines are sold by druggists, or the Catarrh Remedy may be obtained by enclosing sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Invisible Enemies.

The raw, astringent atmosphere of winter creates and aggravates many ailments. To protect themselves as effectually as possible against the invisible dangers which surround them at this season, should be the especial care of persons constitutionally delicate. As there is no medicinal preparation in use which so thoroughly braces and invigorates the stomach, the liver, and the nerves, as Hostetter's Bitters, a course of that agreeable tonic is particularly advisable for dyspeptic, bilious and nervous sufferers, in the cold, damp, and trying weather which generally prevails in our climate at this period of the year. Sudden chills have a very bad effect upon dyspeptics and individuals of bilious habits, not unfrequently producing congestion of the liver or bowels, or low fever, sometimes of an intermittent or remittent character. Attacks of rheumatism are also to be apprehended, and when there is a tendency to that complaint the Bitters will be found the best preventive. The operation of the great vegetable tonic is direct and simple. It stimulates and strengthens the digestive and secretive organs and the nerves, and puts the system in a condition to resist the action of those formidable foes of vitality, a low temperature and unwholesome winds and fogs. By quickening the superficial circulation, without creating anything approaching to fever, it imparts tone to the skin, and thus renders the surface of the body comparatively impervious to unhealthy external influences.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the MOST POPULAR HAIR DYE in the world, and deserves to be, for it is the safest and the best. As a dressing after the dyeing, use

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question. Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune Or take a policy against those dangers, And, by insuring, end them? To inst, to fear, No more; and by a policy to end The heartache and the thousand natural shocks That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application 's Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure, And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub For in that time what premiums may come Before I shuffle off this mortal coil Does make me pause, tightens my purse, And makes me rather pay the bills I have Than fly to others I know not of. Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the test of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, after the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is twenty miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients consult at home; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs will heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive patient succeeds himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds, and keep at Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is certainly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and I feel no caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third or more of the population of this section die of disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of victims there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to their own colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they think is insignificant enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay to attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and more fatal still, until they find the disease beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and then, if I know myself, I can commend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to write a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to purge the system of acid,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient says he is very hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is always followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and night sweats cease, the fever departs and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

You have no idea how many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? I say there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees; this should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his regular meals, and parts of the room to walk taking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if the patient is in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The last stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. To those who will, you can be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by the use of these medicines.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver in such a manner, that there are none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative is required. If you have partaken too freely at fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat what fruit you please, such as plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. Full advice is distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their system is thoroughly put into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one who has diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can act according to them, and can be bought from any druggist.

Work Wanted—John Giles.

Hope Mutual Life Insurance Company.

☞ John Sise, Esq., of this city is one of the most experienced and successful insurance adjusters in the United States. His services are in constant demand.

☞ Capt. Wm. L. Richmond of Winthrop, Maine, has been appointed writer in the Steam Engineering Department at the Navy Yard, in place of Richard H. Goding of Alfred, who declined to accept the position.

☞ Sufficient snow fell on Thursday for sleighing, but it needs a warm sun to make it first-class. Out of the city, the wheeling was better than the sleighing, on Friday. A brisk breeze made the snow fly freely in the afternoon.

THE RUDE CONDUCT AFFAIR with which the name of Rev. Canon Walsh is mixed up, seems to be very difficult to settle. We have purposely abstained from expressing any opinion as to the justice or injustice of the charges against the clergyman,—not taking for our model the local journalist who told his readers what the facts of the case actually were, and confessed that he knew nothing about it himself, in the same paragraph. But the Committee to whom the case was referred, after hearing the complaint of the Overseers of the Poor and having visited the Almshouse and examined the witnesses there, reported that the Canon used unexpectedly harsh and uncalled for language, and recommended that when he visits the institution hereafter that he be accompanied by one of the Overseers of the Poor. The Rev. gentleman himself has not yet been heard by the Committee, save through his letter to a local paper, and the case was again referred to them for further investigation and report. Perhaps the Canon's statement—when it is heard—may show that he acted under provocation at the Almshouse; but no possible provocation can justify any man in making such a bitter personal attack upon a woman as was that upon the Matron of the Almshouse in the Canon's letter, or render it either a gentlemanly or a Christian course of conduct.

A GOOD BEGINNING.—The following communication needs no introductory explanation:—

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 17th.

Editors Daily Chronicle, Gents:—I take this method of making known the noble and generous action of Mr. Photius Fisk of Boston, who has handed me the sum of one hundred dollars for the benefit of the brave and humane men at the Shoals who perilled their lives to save two fellow beings exposed to certain death in their little boat on the stormy and fearfully cold night of Sunday last. Their names are Captain Ephraim Henry Downs, William Robinson, Henry Cate, George Seeley, Josiah Haley and Charles Gardiner.

Mr. Fisk has spent a large portion of his life among sailors, and is now upon the retired list of chaplains in our navy. He is a Greek by birth; was educated in this country; and is a man full of the warmest sympathy for the distress of his fellow men. He desired me to divide the above sum among the brave men. Conveying his warmest love and appreciation of their noble heroism, he hopes that his action will be followed by others to whom the case is known. Yours, J. P. BARTLETT.

[And we too, hope that others will follow Mr. Fisk's lead, and aid in giving to the crew of the White Rover a substantial token of appreciation of their self-sacrificing humanity. No one but a sailor, and one who has himself battled for his life with the winds and the cold, can fully appreciate the action of those men in leaving a safe anchorage on such a day to succor others; but every one can form some faint idea of what they deliberately faced, by remembering what the day was on shore. We consider their act as truly deserving the name of heroic as any performed by the soldier "in the deadly breach," or by the physician in the pestilence smitten city.

Rev. Mr. Fisk, himself an old ocean rover, has been prompt to express his sense of their bravery and humanity; and we do not doubt that the example so well set by him will be followed by many others. No more fitting person to take charge of any donations can be found than the gentleman selected by Mr. Fisk; and we state with confidence—though without his authority—that Mr. Bartlett will be pleased to receive and distribute any moneys which may be handed to him for the purpose, by those who think that bravery exhibited in the cause of humanity should not go unrewarded.—Eds. Chronicle.]

☞ The schooner White Rover, which was wrecked on Ipswich bar on Sunday, Jan. 22, was valued at $2,000, and was not insured. Messrs. O. & L. Caswell of the Shoals, her owners, had paid a portion of the purchase money, but still owed a considerable sum on her when she was lost. The schooner sailed from this port for the Shoals with a quantity of provisions for her owners, and anchored safely there on Sunday morning; but the urgency of the case not permitting the crew to lose the time necessary to land the stores, the cargo went with her on her errand of mercy, and shared her fate on the bar at Ipswich, after the rescue of the two boatmen. The loss falls heavily on Messrs. Caswell, who still have a large bill to pay on the property they have entirely lost. They had previously endeavored to have the vessel insured but could not do it.

☞ Barque Neptune, Captain Beal, left Messina with a cargo consisting of 6700 boxes oranges, 1500 boxes lemons and 75 lasts of salt for Messrs. Baker & Morrill of Boston. During the snow storm, Thursday night, after a passage of 45 days, she struck on Green Island, Boston harbor, but came off, and subsequently went ashore on George's Island, where she remains, with four feet of water in her hold, having probably started some of the planks in her bottom. The Neptune is just one year old, having been built in Portsmouth, in 1869. She is a fine vessel of 493 tons, and is partly covered by insurance in Boston; she is owned by Elisha Etkins of that city.

☞ Isaiah Hanscom, Esq., the new Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs at the Navy Department, will enter upon the discharge of his duties on Monday, relieving Mr. Lenthall, who is on the retired list.

☞ The Boston Advertiser says that 65,000 tons of coal arrived at this port, last year, half of which went up over the Concord Railroad and 4000 tons to the Navy Yard.

☞ The Silvester Troupe didn't exhibit here, Thursday evening. Why—we know not. A crowded house would have welcomed them, had they come to time.

—The showing-up of the management of the civil service of the country by Senator Patterson of New Hampshire, will tend to awaken inquiry and arouse attention, and this is the first step toward a reform. Senator Patterson tells some quite uncomfortable truths, especially in relation to our foreign ministry and consular officers, as well as in regard to the management of the New York custom house. We call them truths, because it would hardly be supposed a member of the Senate would risk his reputation in making statements on such a subject, which could not be supported by direct evidence. If half of these statements are worthy of credit, a reform is imperatively called for, and will be demanded by the people.—Hartford Post.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

JOSEPH PETTIGREWS,

No. 1 CONGRESS ST., opposite North Church

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

herself, in the blue dress; and say to her they are the copies from the old masters I offered to show her?"

Mr. Stackpole received the book with passive obedience, and Mrs. Pond passed on into the great hall that divided the two parlors, and, opening into each by wide folding-doors, made with them a grand saloon. She passed, with a smile for one and a word for another, leaving somehow the impression as she went of being everywhere at once, and somehow dropping off so much of her own vitality and personality that one seemed to feel her presence long after she had gone.

In the farthest corner of the great hall, quite lost in the immense space, or seeming to serve only as a stand for statues and fragrant flowers, was the staircase. And at its head, in a tiny room, that held only a little grate, a long book-case, writing-desk, and two or three chairs, sat Miss Hepsey, trying, poor soul, to lose herself in an absorbing story.

"Oh! here you are. Coming down soon?" said Mrs. Pond, suddenly putting her head in at the door.

"Not again to-night, thank you, Mrs. Pond, if you will excuse me. I am not much accustomed to company, and as I shall not be missed, I would prefer staying here," replied Miss Hepsey.

"But you are missed," returned Mrs. Pond emphatically. "I hope you will think better of it and come down again presently."

Then she disappeared, and directly re-appeared at Mr. Stackpole's elbow.

"You find those prints all you expected, do you not, Miss Converse?" said she to the young lady in blue, who was now looking enthusiastic instead of forlorn. "And, Mr. Stackpole," she added carelessly, "you will find what you spoke of wishing to see, in the little green study at the head of the stairs. You know the room; go right in."

Mr. Stackpole hardly waited for Mrs. Pond to finish her sentence before he was pressing up the stairway like a man who has heard a fire-alarm from his own box; but he feared all the while he should open the door at the top into dead space.

No, there she still sat, in real, tangible presence. She had thrown down the story in despair and taken up a book of sermons that opened of itself to this sentence.

"We should interpret the conduct of our friends, not by what it seems to be, but by what, from their character, we have reason to think it ought to be."

"Wise hearted preacher," thought Hepsey, and raising her eyes looked into the face of Mr. Stackpole, who was standing before her.

"Hepsibah!" said he softly, holding out his hand for hers. "Ah, Hepsibah!"

The old name that she had hardly heard for years! The name he had called her by; how it thrilled her; bringing to full life again the buried shadowy host of hopes, and loves, and yearnings! They started up, sudden, unlooked for, and sublime, like the old dead Incas thrown up in the great earthquake; but not like them, withered and past reviving.

"You have not forgotten the letter I wrote you before I went to Portland, Hepsibah? The letter and the question I asked in it twelve years ago?" Mr. Stackpole entreated in a tone tender and tremulous, holding fast her hand in dread lest she should vanish once more.

"Sir?"

"O! Hepsibah! it was only this evening I got your answer."

"Mr. Stackpole!"

"Only this evening, Hepsibah! After twelve years' waiting! Yes, it came at last; I have it; here it is!"

"Mr. Stackpole! My letter?"

"Your precious letter, Hepsibah. It has been lying all these years in Sister Lucy's writing-desk. Fred Tracy brought me the desk yesterday, and just before coming here to-night I opened it and looked over the contents. Away in one corner, slipped carelessly into an old package of papers, was this, with the seal unbroken."

"Lucy must have taken it out of the office," stammered Hepsey.

"Yes, I suppose so, and in her careless way locked it into her desk and forgot it. It must have come while I was at Island Pond. It was so like Lucy, the dear, heedless child!"

Hepsibah's face was full of amaze; but there was also a tender light in it, very sweet to Hiram Stackpole's eyes.

"I am going to repeat that old question to-night," said he softly. "and I shall hold you to the same answer, Hepsibah."

"The same answer," repeated she, half unconsciously.

The same question and the same answer! And the years that had come between were like a tale when it is told. Then the full moon looked in at the oriel window, shone again upon the one bit of Eden that was shut outside the garden with the first lovers.

"Miss Dillon did think better of it," and "went down again presently;" but this time she did not stand by the crushed curtain alone.

"You did not prepare me to find your friend Miss Dillon so pretty," said somebody to Mrs. Pond; "so much animation of face and manner."

"She is quite beautiful, I think," replied Mrs. Pond, turning to look at her. "But really I had not observed it before," added she to herself.

And really she had not had the reason before. A change had come over Hepsibah. The look of patient pain had faded away from her gentle face, and in its place was the radiant peacefulness of a crowned martyr. And

"Pygmalion's statue never seemed More changed with life than she with love."

—Kate Hunnebee says cheese aids digestion.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st 1871 thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

I WOULD THAT MY LIFE.

I would that my life could recover,
That joyous merry time,
When all my soul was a lover,
And all of earth a rhyme.

When the song of the poet could mellow,
More than the oldest wine,
And of lovers and heroes the fellow,
Their love and their fame were mine.

When learnt thou from the critic to quibble,
And find dross in pure gold?
Come back, young heart, while they scribble;
Young heart, come back in the old!

[—John Albee, in Radical.

DEEP PLOUGHING.—Deep and thorough pulverization counteracts the damaging effects of drought. Lands worked deep and thoroughly pulverized as deep as worked, have in all instances produced more than average yields of all farm crops, with the single exception perhaps of hay. The power of capillary attraction is immensely increased by pulverization. While it absorbs all the moisture which comes in contact with the surface and conducts it to the roots of the needy plants, it at the same time and by the same attraction draws from the moisture below to make up the needed supply. The roots of the plant, finding a mellow bed, run deep down into the moist soil, and are not parched and burned by the scorching rays of the sun, while the heat and air penetrate and warm the soil to any needed depth.

Frequent stirring and thorough loosening of the soil contribute much towards keeping up a supply of moisture. Finely pulverized soil radiates heat much faster than if parched; therefore it cools much quicker. It is known by all that dew is most freely deposited on those surfaces which are cooler than the surrounding atmosphere. It follows then that a soil well pulverized will have a much larger amount of dew deposited upon its surface than it will when hard and compact.

Lands well drained, either naturally or artificially, worked deep, finely pulverized, frequently stirred, kept free from all weeds, and liberally manured, will produce paying crops any year, whether wet or dry. If a farmer has a few acres of land whose natural condition is just right, he should direct the principal efforts and apply the principal part of his manures to a few acres, when he can get abundantly remunerated therefor. If those acres are too limited, gradually extend them by putting other acres in just that condition. Don't work poor lands year after year for almost nothing, when there is enough good land to make us all rich if we work wisely and well.—Maine Farmer.

—The difficulties which wild animals have to encounter when they attempt to enter civilized life are well illustrated by an incident out in Porcupine Valley, Nevada, a few days ago. A big cinnamon bear came down to the station buildings from the mountains, and got after some young hogs that were running about the barn, some 200 yards from the house. The sudden appearance of bruin created a great commotion in the barnyard—the hogs boohing and snorting and the fowls cackling at a great rate. The noise attracted the attention of the men at the station, and going toward the barn, they saw the bear in full chase and close upon the heels of a porker. Finding the bear close upon him, the hog dodged behind a harrow that was leaning against the side of the barn, when bruin ran his head through the harrow up to his shoulders in a vain attempt to reach the frightened pig. The pig darted from its cover, and the bear, in pulling to withdraw his head, was caught in the side of one of his jaws by the sharp point of the harrow teeth. The bear began pulling to free himself, when down came the harrow, and being turned tooth side down, the fastening process was substantilly finished, as not only the tooth that was in the jaw was forced into the ground, but all the rest were similarly fastened and bruin most effectually trapped. Seeing and comprehending the situation, Thomas Rand, keeper of the station, ran to a woodpile, seized an ax, and by a few blows soon dispatched the varmint. The bear weighed nearly 400 pounds dressed.

—Indiana "gentlemen" have some remarkable powers. A local paper gives the following account of an incident that lately took place: "The roof of the frame building west of the Meredith House caught fire, yesterday. A gentleman immediately ascended to the roof and, by energetic expectoration, kept the fire in abeyance until he was supplied with a bucket of water, when the flames were extinguished. Let him be promoted."

—Some sinner has stolen the thermometer from the Fond du Lac Reporter office. That paper informs the thief that it will be of no use to him where he is going, as it does not work higher than 313.

—A man in Indiana put a stick of long wood in a short stove, then took it out and packed it in a wood-box and piled shavings on top of it. He had to rent another house the next day.

—The St. Louis Republican calls Wendell Phillips "a political petrel."

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.
ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that omits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel-engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, JANUARY 30, 1870.

THE WAR.

No authentic information of the reported surrender of Paris has been received at London or Berlin.

A riot took place in Paris on the 23d; a jail was broken open and several political prisoners, among whom were Gustave Flourens, were released. Next day the rioters had a fight with the guard at the Hotel de Villa, by which 5 men were killed and 18 wounded.

The movement, which aimed to overthrow the present government, entirely failed in its object. Vinoy accepted the command in place of Trochu, on condition that stern measures be adopted to repress disturbances. The radical clubs have been closed, the Revei de Combat is supressed, and numerous arrests have been made.

A despatch on the 26th states that M. Favre returned to Versailles on Wednesday evening. The firing still continued.

Prussian advices report the capture of Bourbaki's command as certain. French reports state that Bourbaki has managed to effectually protect the French rear.

The Germans have stormed Grayroche, and repulsed a French attack upon Villars.

A London despatch says that Garibaldi is shut up in Dijon. A Bordeau telegram says the Prussians have left Dijon.

The citizens of Nancy have been fined 10,000,000 francs for destroying a bridge.

Many German soldiers and French prisoners were killed by the collision of two railway trains in the Montmedy tunnel on the 24th.

Up to the end of November the Prussians had captured 314,000 unwounded French soldiers, 4200 cannon, 170 mitrailleuses and 112 eagles, besides a great number of wounded prisoners.

The capitulation of Paris is not confirmed, but is generally believed in London.

CONGRESS.

On the 27th, in the Senate, Mr. Schurz offered an amendment to the Civil Service bill, but the only important action of the Senate was to adjourn till Monday.

In the House, Mr. Hooper of Massachusetts, from the Committee on Ways and Means, rising to a privileged question, submitted resolutions ordering that the Senate bill to repeal the Income Tax, be returned to the Senate with the respectful suggestion that ip the House is vested the sole power to originate such measures.

☞ The Wisconsin General Assembly on the 27th unanimously passed a memorial to Congress against the repeal of the income tax.

☞ Senator Frank P. Blair has been appointed on the Committee of Labor and Education, of which committee the colored Senator Revels is a bright and shining light.

☞ A party of disguised men seized Mr. J. C. Gallaher, a respected citizen, in his own house in Sandersville, Washington County, Ga., one night last week, took him a distance from town, shot him and left him for dead. For what reason this was done no one seems to know, and the Savannah Republican, a Democratic paper, mildly says: "If the law is not able to reach them, we trust those engaged in the business will pause for a moment and reflect upon the guilt of their course and the terrible amount of unhappiness and insecurity they are bringing upon the entire community in which they live."

☞ Congressman R. R. Butler has been tried at Washington on a charge of forgery, and the result was a sudden and complete acquittal. The evidence was overwhelming and conclusive, both by oral testimony and written documents, that he had full powers of attorney to justify his action in the premises. The judge remarked that there was no valid ground for the prosecution, and arrested the progress of the case before the defence had concluded their testimony.

☞ A tragedy occurred at Rock Grove, Illinois, on the 25th, which resulted in the death of three men, a woman and two children. The tragedy had some connection with an attempted robbery. No particulars.

☞ The agent of the supposed Cuban cruiser Florida says she has no connection with Cuba, but is sent out by her owner for sale. She is now at Halifax, N. S.

☞ The Boston & Maine Railroad has a petition before the Maine legislature, for a charter to extend their road from South Berwick to Portland.

☞ In the U. S. District Court of Massachusetts, a creditors' petition has been filed by the National Mechanics' and Traders' Bank of this city against Francis Skinner, Edmund Cutter and Josiah Bardwell of Boston, and William P. Brintnall, of New York, copartners, doing business under the firm style and name of Francis Skinner & Company. The demand of the bank against the company is a certain draft or bill of $4259.43 drawn upon the company and accepted by them; and the allegation of the petition on which the creditor relies for adjudication of bankruptcy is stoppage of payment of commercial paper and non-resumption thereof within a period of fourteen days, or at any time since the maturity of said draft or bill.

☞ House No. 2 Jefferson Street, formerly occupied by the late Wm. Cornelius, brought $825 at auction on Saturday. Maj. William H. Hackett was the auctioneer and Mr. James Barr the purchaser.

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—The jury in the case of John E. Rider vs. Frank G. Pickering, to recover money paid out last year for Deft. returned a verdict for Plf. for full amount claimed $195.

☞ Barque Neptune was got off George's Island, Boston harbor, on the 27th, and is now at the wharf. The damage to vessel and cargo was trifling.

Brevities.

Among the curiosities of the census is the reported case of a lady who died in Connecticut at the age of seventy-four in child-birth.

Maguire's Opera House in San Francisco announces in its advertisements: "Performances eyery Sunday night."

A Mississippi judge announced that he would not hold the December term of his court, as he had important private business to attend to.

It is said that Senator Thayer of Nebraska will be appointed minister to Portugal to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Shellabarger.

The westward bound freight train on the Union Pacific Railroad ran off the track near Sessino on the 26th. No lives were lost.

Gov. Brown of Missouri recommends that the divorce laws of that State be reconstructed.

There was quite a riot in the Arkansas Senate on the 26th, over the admission of a member whose election is contested.

The snow in New York city and vicinity seriously impeded travelling of all kinds, on the 26th.

By the explosion of a gasometer in Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 27th, one man was killed, and $200,000 worth of property destroyed.

The Brooklyn, N. Y., water supply is giving out. No water; they have illicit distilleries enough to furnish the people whiskey.

Louisville is very angry because Nilsson was too ill to sing there when she was advertised, and yet sang in Cincinnati the same night.

Governor Senter finds the Tennesseans a very polite people. They are asking his pardon about five times a day for convicted criminals.

Mr. Thillman has brought a suit for $10,000 against the Women's Medical College of Cleveland, for dissecting the body of his wife.

The German brewers of Newark have resolved not to insure in any company with which an active temperance man is connected.

A lawsuit has just been decided at Troy, involving $4000, which has cost the county and State $50,000—an expensive piece of litigation.

☞ Mrs. Maria E. Mills, of Chicago, has commenced a suit of assumpsit against Rev. William H. Knapp, laying her damages at $10,000. She has also commenced, in behalf of her son Charlie, a like suit, laying his damages at $2000.

☞ The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railroad is completed, and the first train has passed through from Burlington to Cedar Rapids. The route shortens the distance between St. Paul and St. Louis ninety miles.

New Hampshire Items.

Jonathan P. Baker has been elected City Marshal of Dover.

Daniel Kavanaugh had his foot badly crushed on the 20th in the Dover Mills by a weight falling upon it.

Dover has had a very successful G. A. R. Fair.

Rollinsford has a Farmers' club.

Dover has a singing school with 150 scholars.

The report that Reed's Hall at Hanover was set on fire by students, is false; the fire was accidental.

John Stearns of Hinsdale raised 4762 pounds of tobacco last year on two acres of land.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WET OR DAMP FEET are the great predisposing cause of much of that scourge,—Consumption,—which afflicts our northern climate. The new and popular CABLE SCREW WIRE Boots and Shoes are almost absolutely impervious to dampness. They are for sale by all the leading dealers.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Invisible Enemies.

The raw, astringent atmosphere of winter creates and aggravates many ailments. To protect themselves as effectually as possible against the invisible dangers which surround them at this season, should be the especial care of persons constitutionally delicate. As there is no medicinal preparation in use which so thoroughly braces and invigorates the stomach, the liver, and the nerves, as Hostetter's Bitters, a course of this agreeable tonic is particularly advisable for dyspeptic, bilious and nervous sufferers, in the cold, damp, and trying weather which generally prevails in our climate at this period of the year. Sudden chills have a very bad effect upon dyspeptics and individuals of bilious habits, not unfrequently producing congestion of the liver or bowels, or low fever, sometimes of an intermittent or remittent character. Attacks of rheumatism are also to be apprehended, and when there is a tendency to that complaint the Bitters will be found the best preventive. The operation of the great vegetable tonic is direct and simple. It stimulates the various digestive and secretive organs and the nerves, and gives the system in a condition to resist the action of those formidable foes of vitality, a low temperature and unwholesome winds and fogs. By quickening the superficial circulation, without creating anything approaching to fever, it imparts tone to the skin, and thus renders the surface of the body comparatively impervious to unhealthy external influences.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

in the world, and deserves to be, for it is the safest and the best. As a dressing after the dyeing, use dawlmjan28tmh26

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To tret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application is Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure,
And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub
For in that time what difficulties may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil.
Does make me pause, tightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A DRESSING which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of, ENFEEBLED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, OF EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases with which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 1, 1866.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct28o1yr —Alderman Schaffner, last night, "thought it a breach of courtesy to gag a member of the Council." It may be, but it is often a mercy to the public.—Chicago Mail.

That is just so.

☞ Mr. Wm. A. Greenough, Jr., of Somerville, is making arrangements to publish a new edition of his Portsmouth Directory. Mr. Huntress is now canvassing the city for corrections and alterations.

☞ The large amount of floating ice in our river just now seriously interferes with the landing of the small boats of our Navy Yard workmen. In some instances, a half hour or more of the morning is consumed getting away from the wharves and effecting a landing on the opposite side of the river.

☞ Rev. Job Strong married Abigail Gilman in this city, Saturday, Dec. 6, 1750, preached a sermon the next day from the text, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,&c.," was seized with bilious colic between meetings, and died on Monday, greatly lamented. Rev. Jonathan Edwards preached his ordination sermon.

☞ Mr. James Seavey is building a blacksmith shop at the southwest corner of Lincoln Avenue and Miller's Avenue; and will also put up a residence there in the Spring.

It is reported that Mr. Robert Drew has sold his fine French-roof house on the corner of Middle and Union Streets, to Mrs. Israel, of Little Harbor; and that Mr. A. F. Craig, the insurance agent, has bought the eligible vacant lot on the opposite corner of Union St.

☞ Our regular yearly visitor, the emblem of our nationality, that noble bird of prey, the American eagle with a bell attached to its neck, has again made its appearance on one of the trees on the little island in our river, opposite Liberty Bridge, waiting for something to "turn up" in the shape of a frisky fish or something better. The old hero, as near as we can judge, holds his age well, and bids fair to come and go for many future years, unless some heartless sportsman sends a wicked bullet "whistling through the airy tide," and striking him in some tender spot, wantonly ends his existence. We hope no one will molest him, however, as he is probably too tough to make even a pot pie of.

COLD SCHOOL ROOMS.—A statement appeared in the paper a few days ago, that there was much difficulty in keeping our school rooms warm during the cold weather. Feeling some curiosity, I accompanied a little girl to her school-room one day this week — found it very cold, and on looking at the thermometer found it at only about 38. The teacher has kindly furnished me her record for the week in her room. Monday morning, 34, noon 42; Tuesday morning 36, Wednesday 38, Thursday 33, Friday 40. Teachers dislike to dismiss, and yet they feel that it is doing an injury to the children, and endangering their own lives to remain in such a room.

Parents send their children to school and if they come home complaining that the school-room is cold, too many are apt to imagine it only an excuse to stay at home; and pay little, if any attention to the matter:—and when crup and coughs or fever ensue attribute it to colds taken anywhere rather than in the school-room—which they never enter, to inquire if the children are comfortable or otherwise. Now, I appeal to all humane people, ought not something to be done?—either some provision made for heating these rooms, or orders issued to all teachers to close their school if by 10 o'clock the thermometer cannot be brought up to 60 or 65. It strikes me it is poor policy to be so saving of a day as to retain a child in school when it is so cold that a week or more at home will be required to recover from the effects of the chill there received. But some may say, "why, when I was young I lived in the country, had to walk two or three miles to school, and the only heat we had was from a huge fire-place, which only sent the heat a few feet into the room, so that those nearest it, if they had warm faces, had nearly frozen shoulders, and I never thought of complaining or staying at home." All true, my friends but when you were at home was it any better! Wasn't the home fire the same, so that you were used to the cold? Now with our furnaces, and coal fires, our children are ill fitted to bear what you at their age thought no hardship, and we earnestly hope some action may be taken in this matter. A.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.

THE THOMAS CONCERTS.—To the Editors of the Chronicle: I notice a report in the Journal of your city which may lead some to expect that Theodore Thomas' celebrated orchestra will give a concert in Portsmouth at an early day. Mr. Gosche, the agent, tells me to-day that no such proposition has been entertained by him. He thinks, while he would be much pleased to make arrangements for a concert in Portsmouth, that it would not be possible to attract an audience in your city sufficiently large to risk on Mr. Thomas' account the necessarily large expenses of the troupe. At all events the orchestra company leave Boston this afternoon for the West and will not return till March. So you see the concert could not take place till then.

Mr. Gosche suggests that it might be done at any time they are in this vicinity as is customary in many other places. Some of the public spirited people take the risk and personally attend to securing the audience. A concert by the Theodore Thomas company, if it could be so arranged, would be an event—something that all who are present and listeners will have to live over in thought and conversation always after, as with our Coliseum concerts here. Do not think I am extravagant in praise or music mad. Thomas' orchestra I consider the best and most promising exponent of the music of the present and perhaps the better future of the art in this country. That our Music Hall in Boston is crowded every night they have given a concert (sometimes three or four in a week) with all classes of our people, is one of the most hopeful indications of the increase of love of music, and of taste in refinement and art, that can be mentioned.

While not a devotee of the extreme classicists in music, yet it is pleasing to observe, as an indication of progression among the masses, that a burnt-cork minstrel troupe cannot now succeed in Boston. We have no place now devoted exclusively to their performances and there formerly were several. They had their place in the rudimental education and are gone. Their admirers of former years can be found to-night in the upper part of the house in the Boston Theatre, enjoying the music and acting of an opera performance of the excellent German company now there. Notwithstanding they may not understand the vernacular of the singers, the appreciative Music has a language all her own.

Miss Anna Mehlig, the lady pianist who accompanys the Thomas company, is a performer of great excellence and adds much to the interest of the evening's entertainment.

By all means secure a concert from this organization of musicians if a chance should ever present itself and your people may be certain that there will be no regret for any outlay incurred in the matter. STET.

—It is currently reported that Brother Brewster of the Journal, assisted by Frank W. Miller, is about to commence the publication of an evening paper to be called the "Daily Evening Patriot." Opposition Organ.

We are desired by Mr. Miller to state that there is no foundation for the above report; that he has no intention to engage in such an enterprise, and is sure Mr. Brewster does not contemplate any change in his business.

☞ The Journal, in view of the fact that most of the time of the present Board of Mayor and Aldermen has thus far been taken up in watching the artful dodges and listening to the claptrap arguments of a certain copperhead member of the Board, suggests the propriety of changing its title to the "Board of Mayor and Alderman Hatch!"

☞ The committee appointed to distribute the prizes offered by Hon. John D. Lyman for the best corn, &c., awarded the first premium for eight-rowed corn, $35, to Mr. Charles T. Emery of Newington.

☞ Mr. Woodbury Locke has returned to the livery business at the Stone Stable.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

			Difference in Cash	Incr'd annual int. Exchange.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the road only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running lines through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The unexpired privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 10 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

☞ The February number of Scribner's Monthly has a very interesting and instructive article upon "Weather Telegrams and Storms Forecasts," which we command to the notice of all interested in storms on land and sea—as, indeed, who is not, in the face of the great destruction from cyclones and other ravages of wind and storm? The telegraph has in no one thing been more useful than in noting the coming and the moving of great storms. The seaboard is often made to know far in advance what a few hours will do, and to prepare for the consequences. A storm starting on the Rocky Mountains reaches Lake Erie on the following day, and the warning had the effect of preparation and of saving valuable property, if not life. All along from Cheyenne, Milwaukee, Chicago to Cleveland a storm last month was predicted with perfect accuracy, and it came with great fury. Information like this is not only important to the ship owners and sailors, but the farmer, and the signal corps of the Government cannot fail to be of great service to the people.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st 1871 thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, risks are too formidable to be run, by timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk which he would incur by waiting until he could get medicine. Parents keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

A STORY WITH TWO SIDES.

I.

"Come right in! How are you, Fred?
Find a chair, and have a light."
"Well, old boy, recovered yet
From the Mather's jam last night?"
"Didn't dance, the German's old,"
"Didn't you? I had to lead—
Awful bore; but where were you?"
"Sat it out with Mollie Meade;
Jolly little girl she is—
Said she didn't care to dance,
'D rather have a quiet chat—
Then she gave me such a glance;
So when you had cleared the room
And captured all the chairs,
Having nowhere else, we two Took possession of the stairs;
I was on the lower step,
Mollie on the next above;
Gave me her bouquet to hold—
Asked me to draw off her glove.
Then, of course, I squeezed her hand,
Talked about my wasted life,
Said my sole salvation must
Be a true and gentle wife.
Then, you know, I used my eyes—
She believed me every word;
Almost said she loved me—Jove!
Such a voice I never heard—
Gave me some symbolic flower,
Had a meaning,—oh, so sweet!
Don't know what it is, I'm sure—
Must have dropped it in the street.
How I spooned! and she—ha! ha!
Well, I know it wasn't right,
But she did believe me so,
That I—kissed her—pass a light."

II.

"Mollie Meade, well, I declare!
Who'd have thought of seeing you,
After what occurred last night
Out here on the avenue,
Oh, you awful, awful girl!
There—don't blush—I saw it all."
"Saw all what?" "Ahem—last night
At the Mather's, in the hall."
"Oh, you horrid!—where were you?
Wasn't he an awful goose?
Most men must be caught, but be
Ran his neck right in the noose.
I was almost dead to dance—
I'd have done it if I could—
But old Gray said I must stop,
And I promised ma I would;
So I looked up, sweet, and said
That I'd rather talk with him.
Hope he didn't see my face—
Luckily, the lights were dim;
And then how he squeezed my hand!
And he looked up in my face
With his lovely, great big eyes;
Really, it's a dreadful case.
He was all in earnest, too;
But I thought I'd have to laugh,
When he kissed a flower I gave,
Looking—oh, like such a calf!
I suppose he has it now
In a wine-glass on his shelves.
It's a mystery to me
Why men will deceive themselves.
Saw him kiss me! Oh, you wretch!
Well, he begged so hard for one,
And I thought there'd no one know,
So I—let him—just for fun.
I know it was not really right
To trifle with his feelings, dear,
But men are such conceited things,
They need a lesson once a year."

PRESIDENTIAL PROSPECTS.—We have heard it remaked that, should the elections of 1872 copy those of 1870, a Democrat would be chosen President. But that is a miscalculation, as the following table will show:—

Rep. States.	Electors.	Dem. States.	Electors.
Maine,	6	Connecticut,	6
Massachusetts,	12	New York,	31
New Hampshire,	4	Delaware,	3
Rhode Island,	3	Maryland,	7
Vermont,	4	Virginia,	10
New Jersey,	8	No. Carolina,	9
Pennsylvania,	25	Georgia,	10
South Carolina,	6	Alabama,	9
Mississippi,	8	West Virginia,	5
Louisiana,	7	Kentucky,	10
Florida,	3	Tennessee,	9
Texas,	7	Indiana,	13
Ohio,	20	Nevada,	3
Illinois,	19	California,	6
Michigan,	10	Oregon,	3
Wisconsin,	9	Missouri,	13
Minnesota,	5
Iowa,	10	Total,	147
Kansas,	5	Repub. maj.,	22
Nebraska,	3
Arkansas,	5
Total,	179

We have assumed 150,000 as the probable ratio of representation under the new census; a higher would reduce the number of electoral votes, as a lower would increase it, but neither would materinlly affect the majority. Of the States we have placed in the Republican column, only Pennsylvania, Florida, and Arkansas are at all questionable. Arkansas gave some 2,000 Republican majority on Congress, though we threw away two of the three Representatives in Congress by personal feuds; but the Legislature is very strongly Republican. Pennsylvania was close on the popular vote last October, but, if a fair allowance is made for the districts distracted by personal feuds, there is a Republican majority. Florida is disputed, but Republican by a close vote. We drifted astern much further in '62 than in '70, but more than recovered our lost ground when we came to the Presidential year, when almost every legal voter comes to the front.—New York Paper.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 18th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaes, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebedings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and Inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

THE WAR.

On Sunday, Jan. 29, Empress Augusta of Germany received the following from Versailles: "Last night an armistice for three weeks was signed. The regulars and mobiles are to be kept in Paris as prisoners of war. The national guard will undertake the maintenance of order. We occupy all the forts. Paris remains invested, but will be allowed to revictual as soon as the arms are surrendered. The national assembly is to be summoned to meet at Bordeaux in a fortnight. All the armies in the field will retain their respective positions. The ground between the opposing lines will be neutral.

A Versailles despatch says: The twelfth Saxon corps at ten o'clock this morning (Jan. 29) occupied Romainville, Rosny and Nogent. The Bavarians occupy Charenton, Montrouge and Vanvres, and the Silecian corps Avry and Bicetre.

The entire garrison of Paris, except the national guard, surrender their arms. The armistice expires on the 19th of February.

Great numbers of cattle have been collected by the Germans at Rouen, Gonarse and Lagny, to be driven into Paris as soon as it capitulates.

Berlin is enthusiastic over the surrender of Paris.

Bismark demands two provinces, one colony, twenty war ships and four hundred million francs as the final terms of peace.

A despatch to the New York World says: The terms of the capitulation of Paris provide for the possession of the forts around Paris by the Germans, but no occupation of the city by them, and the Prince Imperial to be the future Emperor, with the Empress as regent.

Bismark denies that he has ever negotiated for the restoration of the Bonapartes or that he intends to interfere with the domestic concerns of France.

The London Times publishes, by request from Chiselhurst, the denial of its statement of the intrigues going on between Bismark and the Bonapartists for the restoration of the latter.

It is reported that not more than a week's rations remain in Paris at the present time.

Official despatches to the British foreign office and from the American charge d'affairs at London, fully confirm the capitulation.

The New York Herald correspondent telegraphed that Bismark demands the cession of Alsace and German Lorraine; money indemnity, one thousand millions francs; forty war ships from the French fleet; one of the colonies now held by France.

At the council that arranged the capitulation, it is reported that Favre asked that the army in Paris be allowed to march out with full honors and take up a position in some unoccupied district of France, under his management, and not to resume hostilities for a term of months to be agreed upon, and that there would be no triumphant entry into Paris by the Germans. These terms were refused by the council, which informed M. Favre that the only basis of surrender would be the same as that of Sedan and Metz.

Odo Russell has been instructed to ask Bismark to designate the route by which convoys of provisions from England might be sent into Paris, and to order that they be not interrupted on the way.

Gen. Bourbaki has attempted suicide, and is superseded. His late army is penned up by the Germans.

The contribution imposed upon Paris by the articles of capitulation is fifty-three million (53,000,000) francs.

Bourbaki's army is surrounded by the German troops in the neighborhood of Besancon.

A NOVEL ELECTION.—Although every member of the Delaware legislature is a democrat, a democratic caucus was held, and, strange to say, the three candidates before it were all Saulsburys, and brothers. All the members of the legislature were present. The following table shows the result of the four ballotings, the fourth and final one electing Eli over Gove by a vote of 16 to 14:

	First.	Second.	Third.	Fourth.
Willard Saulsbury	13	13	14	0
Gove Saulsbury,	14	14	15	14
Eli Saulsbury,	3	3	1	16

We venture to say this election is without a parallel in history.

Eli received his friends and thanked them on strictly temperance principles. Willard has been publicly drunk for a week. Gove has retired to ponder and reflect.

—A farmer of Scipio, New York, has a turkey that has laid 100 eggs in 100 days, never missing a day on account of sickness, or a circus in town, or anything.

—General Stevens' bill regulating staff rank in the navy, which passed the House of Representatives last week, settles a long standing controversy on grounds of strict equity. It does not secure to staff officers command of ships, nor authority over any persons in the navy, on shore or afloat, save in their own departments. It does not secure to them—i, distinctive grades, indicative of length of service and rank; 2, positive rank; precedence with the line accordingly to date of commission; the honors, immunities and privileges of their de facto rank, and equality with the line officers in every particular, save the right to quarters in the cabin and military command in the line; and the abolition of the greatest source of trouble in the navy, viz., the "precedence of the executive officer."

There does not appear to be anything unreasonable in this, and we cannot understand why it should have met with opposition so bitter and so persistent. It is to be hoped that the Senate will waive its threatened hostility, and suffer peace to return to our distracted navy once more. The bill places the naval staff on an equality with the staff of the army, which General Sherman says "seems to work well in practice." Boston Advertiser.

There can be no possible reason (tho' there may be excuses) given by the Senate, for not passing Gen. Stevens' bill. The line officers have had far too much time already to work out their particular ideas of what is "for the good of the service"—and have only succeeded in disorganizing the Navy and preventing first-class men from applying for admission to it. One effect of their arbitrary and aristocratic misrule may be seen in the fact that over thirty vacancies at present exist in the medical corps of the navy, and that competent medical men will not join the service. A surgeon in the navy, whose name has often been mentioned with honor, recently wrote to a friend these words that burn:—"My greatest happiness is to know that my wanderings are now over, and at sixty years of age I find my life has almost been wasted in the navy. During the war I saw some service, for which I have reaped degradation in rank and position. And after four years' terrible war, in which our corps did their duty, not one medical officer has been promoted for his services." "The Line" have run the navy for a good many years, and have well nigh run it into the ground; and it is high time that Congress took some decided action in the matter, "for the good of the service." Nothing better can be done at present than to pass Gen. Stevens' bill.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WET OR DAMP FEET are the great predisposing cause of much of that scourge,—Consumption,—which afflicts our northern climate. The new and popular CABLE SCREW WIRE Boots and Shoes are almost absolutely impervious to dampness. They are for sale by all the leading dealers.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as any body." Try it.

Don't think because snuffs and strong or poisonous solutions will not cure Catarrh, that you cannot be cured. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Invisible Enemies.

The raw, astringent atmosphere of winter creates and aggravates many ailments. To protect themselves as effectually as possible against the invisible changers which surround them at this season, should be the especial care of persons constitutionally delicate. As there is no medicinal preparation in use which so thoroughly braces and invigorates the stomach, the liver, and the nerves, as Hostetter's Bitters, a course of that agreeable tonic is particularly advisable for dyspeptic, bilious and nervous sufferers, in the cold, damp, and trying weather which generally prevails in our climate at this period of the year. Sudden chills have a very bad effect upon dyspeptics and individuals of bilious habits, not unfrequently producing congestion of the liver or bowels, or low fever, sometimes of an intermittent or remittent character. Attacks of rheumatism are also to be apprehended, and when there is a tendency to that complaint the Bitters will be found the best preventive. The operation of the great vegetable tonic is direct and simple. It stimulates and strengthens the digestive and secretive organs and the nerves, and puts the system in a condition to resist the action of those formidable foes of vitality, a low temperature and unwholesome winds and fogs. By quickening the superficial circulation, without creating anything approaching to fever, it imparts tone to the skin, and thus renders the surface of the body comparatively impervious to unhealthy external influences.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question. Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune Or take a policy against those dangers. And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear, No more; and by a policy to end The heartache and the thousand natural shocks That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application 's Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure, And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub For in that time what premiums may come Before I shuffle off this mortal coil Does make me pause, tightens my purse, And makes me rather pay the bills I have Than fly to others I know not of. DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to remove as tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is twenty miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossibleto take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to be saved, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, for he is certain to die early; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, and so great variety of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, and so great variety of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more liable to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.; but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay to one side all Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for Florida, gives no night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the directions, except in the case, in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to set up a good appetite, that is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have known many a life saved by a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs, and then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not yet reached this point. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, stay out over the frost, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly by the use of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this advice, and I can cure more. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands engraved on my heart, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic, have cured hundreds of persons, who seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some one who consumed, who has been restored to the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its ugly effects behind them. They are an excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you feel sick, have a bad appetite or bad diarrhœa enemes, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take one dose of the Mandrakes, and it will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or being exposed to foul air, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-mut one, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them; they are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged two dollars. The Respirometer declareverite the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the use of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

☞ This (Tuesday) evening the second lecture in the Kittery Lyceum course will be given, at Armory Hall in that town.

☞ On and after Feb. 1st, working hours at the Navy Yard will be as follows:—From 8 A. M. to 12 o'clock, and from 1 to 5 P. M.

☞ The barque Kate Smith of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, was wrecked off the coast of New Jersey on Jan. 25, and her captain, pilot and seven men were drowned.

☞ A lodge of the Knights of Pythias will be organized this (Tuesday) evening at Mercantile Hall. Grand Chancellor S. S. Davis of N. H. will institute the lodge.

NAVAL.—Constructor Thomas Davidson, jr., has been detached from special duty in the bureau of construction at the Navy Department and ordered to the Boston navy yard. The orders of Chief Engineer O. H. Lackey to the Ticonderoga, at this port, have been revoked.

BREVITIES.

F. H. Rolland, city editor of the Cincinnati Leader, has sued Frank Leslie for $20,000 damages for publishing a story of his (Rolland's) being whipped by the women.

Miss Nilsson was seriously ill at Cincinnati, on the 28th. She appears to have been threatened with fever. It is not known when she will be able to resume her concerts.

Thursday night, the 26th, near Florence, Ky., John Houston was attacked by three highwaymen, shot through the head and robbed of $700.

"Reddy the Blacksmith" was released on bail on the 17th, in New York. He had only killed one more man, and is a democratic Ward politician.

It is estimated that there are 1200 blind persons in Missouri, exclusive of those who are morally blind.

Lewis Downing, the chief of the Cherokee Indians, was murdered on the night of Jan. 19th.

The tug-boat Phœnix exploded in New York harbor, Jan. 28th, and three men were killed.

The murderers of the Lapine family at Potosi, Missouri, were hung at that place, Jan. 27th.

☞ A Utica lawyer took part in private theatricals, and it was his part to be struck in the face by another performer. He was knocked down, and instead of getting up and saying, "Ha! a blow," he turned on the other performer, and began to repeat some of Greeley's profanity at him. The audience, who had attended to raise money for a church, seemed to be discouraged about pious theatricals, and went home.

☞ Immense chignons and heavy padded false chatelaine braids, looking like a burden upon the head of the wearer, are rapidly disappearing. The most fashionable belles now braid or plait their own natural tresses in two long braids, which are looped to the back part of the head. Thank Providence! and common sense.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

MARRIAGES.

In Newmarket, Jan. 16th, Dr. CHASE MOULTON, aged 57 years.——Jan. 14th, FRED HALEY, infant son of Abel and Laura Haley.——Jan. 17th, MOSES D. RICKERSON, aged 69 years, 6 months.

ANOTHER STEAMBOAT DISASTER has happened on the Mississippi River. The steamer W. R. Arthur blew up on the night of Jan. 27th, fourteen miles above Memphis, and 87 lives are reported lost by the explosion, and the fire which ensued, or by drowning. The hull burned until the wreck sunk to the bottom, with some of her upper works remaining above water. The night was very cold, and many of the 75 or more persons saved are badly frozen, scalded or bruised. Five passengers took the life-boat immediately after the explosion, went ashore, and then turned the boat adrift. They were afterwards picked up by the steamer Excelsior, but were strongly denounced by the remaining survivors, who talked of lynching them.

The second engineer, who was on duty at the time of the accident, says that everything was working well up to the time of the explosion. The boiler was carrying less than 120 pounds of steam, and was allowed 126. He had just tried the water and found it all right. One of the boilers was blown aft of the rudder-post and smashed the yawl, while the other is believed to have been driven through the hull, causing the vessel to sink. The unfortunate steamer was accounted one of the best on the river, and was valued at $75,000; insured $40,000.

S. J. COURT, Exeter, Jan. 30.—The Court was occupied on Monday in trial of No 274, Charles H. Calkin vs. Edwin Bowley. The piff. is a slater, who slated a building for a contractor who undertook to put up a building for Bowley in Haverhill, Mass., and piff. alleges that the deft. agreed to accept an order from the contractor, which he subsequently declined to accept or pay. Deft. denies that he owed any such sum to the contractor, as the order calls for. Wood for piff; Hatch and Hills for deft.

The jurors who came in on Monday were discharged, and the Court will finally adjourn to-day, Tuesday.

☞ The marriage of the English Princess Louise with the Marquis of Lorne is fixed for the 21st of March.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.
Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

		Difference in Cash	Incr'd annual int. Exchange. upon investment.
6's, '81, Coupon,		$232.50	3.36 per cent. gold
5.20's, '62, "	6 per cts.	175.00	2.10 " "

10-40's,	"	105.00	2.14 " "
Central Pacific's	"	25.00	1.29 " "

The cash difference paid on some of the above will be somewhat modified after the payment of the January coupons.
Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,
SAMUEL LORD, Esq.,
Cashier First National Bank,
Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.
W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and as soon as the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 7 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

A NEW STORY ABOUT BUTLER.—We are going to write a true story and a new one. The subject is not very new, and yet not old; it is middle-aged—Benjamin F. Butler. We learned the facts from a source whose integrity is truth itself, and although the general may have forgotten it—it was never before in print—the ladies have not. The ladies? Yes, there are ladies in it.

It is, perhaps, unnecessary to remark that General Butler was once in command at New Orleans. Equally useless is it to say that little good of him was written or thought during his administration in that most incorrigible department, and that his "treatment of southern ladies" was described by adjectives of a very severe import. Malignance in its worst form found vent at his expense, and "Beast Butler" was the term by which he and his alleged character were best told in those days, both in the North and South.

St. Michael's is the name of a pretty little village not hundreds of miles north of New Orleans, on the Mississippi, which in war days was limited to a convent of the Sacred Heart, that formed a favorite school for the daughters of the rebels of that section. Perhaps a dozen of dwellings surrounded this main feature of the place, and St. Michael's was rebel from rim to core. Mother Shannon was the Abbess of the convent and the Superior of the school. She and her "daughters in religion" certainly shared the anti-Yankee sentiment which so sadly strove to ruin them and us in common chaos; but, holding old-time notions of woman's sphere in political broils, they were not loud in the utterance of their thoughts. This did not keep famine from the convent door, however; there came a day when the store-house was barren as a Southern field trodden by Morgan's cavalry. The larder shelves were on a line impartially horizontal; neither fish nor fish, nor flesh, nor cereal bore them down to the accustumed curse of heaviness. Hunger already stalked among the houses of the villagers, and the famished people gathered at the outer convent gate, clamoring for food. Mere Shannon walked the convent, sad and prayerful, telling her beads. The silent, white-vailed novices flitted about their usual duties, asking not a question, but wondering, perhaps, how many fast days there would be in the coming week. The serious black veils, still more thoughtful, gathered about Mere Shannon's chair when she sat at the evening recreation, and, reading the query in her eyes, beheld no answer. If the nuns uttered a bon mot that night, it must have been equisitely spiritual.

A loud knocking resounded at the gate, a messenger appeared, startled and breathless. A deputation from Donaldsonville, a dozen miles northward on the river, from the house of the Sisters of Charity, waited to know if Mere Shannon would receive the sisters and their thirty orphan girls, whose asylum had succumbed to the fortunes of war, and who were houseless and hungry at Donaldsonville. Mother Shannon is a brave woman, but she blanched a little. The nuns were astonished at the newly discovered distress, and for the moment thought only of a miracle.

"Mon Dieu," cried mother Shannon, "it is impossible. We have no food; New Orleans is under General Butler, and communication with the city, so far as the supplies are concerned, is beyond my power. Much as I may regret it—"

But she could not send the refusal. The sisters and their whole flock of orphans were soon as comfortable within St. Michael's walls as cheery welcome and kindly hands could make them. Mother Shannon sat at her desk and wrote something like this:

"Sir: We have no food, but we have orphans. Inclosed is a draft for $2,000 and an order we desire to have filled, with your permission, at New Orleans."

A faithful colored man was the deputation who bore this document to Beast Butler. The General asked a few questions; the contraband proved intelligent, and the Beast learned the situation. A day or two later a supply train reached St. Michael's, and the messenger was intrusted with a note from the Beast which read something like this:

"Madam: I am sincerely sorry you and your charge should suffer innocently by this cruel war. Should other misfortunes reach you, please inform me at once."

The supplies sent were found to be just double the quantity of each article ordered; and although the draft was not returned, $2,000 in cash came in its place, and supported the thirty orphans through later and more bitter times. Few knew of this action of Gen. Butler, and he never told it. On many succeeding occasions he was called upon or allow a large commission, to sell our new and wonderful inventions, Address M. WAGNER & CO., Marshall, Mich.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most efficacious remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses often, to loosen and ease and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Hoarseness, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral at hand to protect them in case of attack from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would run by waiting for a cure that could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities of its ever possessed are strictly maintained.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS FROM CRUMBS SWEPT UP.—From Rev. T. De Witt Talmyr's New Book. Have at least one book in your library in which all the good children did not die. My early impressions from Sunday school books was that religion was very unhealthy. It seemed a terrible distemper that killed every boy and girl it touched. If I found myself some day better than common, I corrected the mistake for fear I could die; although it was the general opinion that I was not much in danger from oversanctity. But I do believe that children may have religion and yet live through it. A strong mustard-plaster and a teaspoonful of ipecac will do marvels. Timothy lived to grow up, and we are credibly informed that little Samuel woke. Indeed, the best boy I ever saw occasionally upset things, and got boisterous and had the fidgets.

Let there be some one to set a tuft of mignonette by every sick man's pillow, and plant a fuchsia in every working-man's yard and place a geranium in every sewing-girl's window, and twine a cypress about every poor man's grave; and above all, may there come upon us the blessing of Him whose footsteps the mosses mark, and whose breath is the redolence of flowers. Between these leaves I press thee, "O Lily of the Valley."

The world has learned that a thing is not necessarily good because it is dry. There is no religion in chips. We never could see any sanctity in husks.

A country village affords no retreat. There everybody knows everybody's business. You cannot raise half a dozen goslings without having them stoned for picking off your neighbor's gooseberries. Gossips want no better heaven than a small village. Everybody knows whether this morning out of the butcher cart, you bought mutton or calf's liver; and the mason's wife, at the risk of breaking her neck, rushes down stairs to exclaim: "Just think of it! Mrs. Suckup has bought a sirlion steak, and she is no better than other people!" They always ask what you gave for a thing, and say you were cheated; had something of a better quality they could let you have for half the money. We have at different times lived in a small village, and many of our best friends dwell there; but we give as our opinion that there are other places more favor for a man's getting to heaven.

Look a'here Mr. Cheerman:

There's a feller here been a talking about "blood," and made a pint on it. They're talkin about yer Scandinavian blood, and yer English blood, and yer American blood—but I tell yer, it's time to begin to talk about Irish blood. (Cheers)

These fellers that has come here, ar all a trying to get their feelins in. Now if they're again to git 'em in on blood, I want to know it, for there's jist as good blood from Ireland, as there is anywhere. If they're makin a pint on blood, I'm in. Ef they don't make any pint on blood, then "first come, first served." That's what I told Oglesby, when he wanted me to go for him—"first come, first served"; and I told him if he'd a come two minits afore John, I'd a been in fur him. But they didn't go in on blood as these fellers do here. (Applause.)

I know a feller that's just as good as any on 'em for door keeper. He's been wounded enough, and there's a heap of Republican blood been let out of him—and he's got six children; and beside his shanty ain't paid for, and he lost his cow afore the Legislature sot. Blood or no blood, I'm for him. I've been a votin' for those other fellers on account of blood. Now, I'm for McClure, the fayther of six children. (Laughter and applause.)

Here the Speaker's gavel decended, and the Honorable gentleman subsided.

CURE FOR STYES.—Put a teaspoonful of soda in a small bag, pour on it just enough boiling water to moisten it, then put it on the eye pretty warm. Keep it on all night and in the morning the stye will most likely be gone; if not a second application will be sure to remove it. We have also heard that the white of an egg applied to the eye-lid with a feather just before retiring, soon effects a cure. Styes rise from impurity of the blood, and no permanent cure can be effected by mere external application. The blood should be kept in a healthy condition by the frequent use of some mild purgative—say a dose of rhubarb and magnesia.

—The Indian agent for the Lake Superior district has hastened to deny that an indian had been skinned alive for killing his wife in his district. He says that the neighbors only talked about skinning him.

—John Badger, a colored man, died in Cornwall, Ontario, on Wednesday, aged one hundred and five years. He served in the British army in the revolutionary war and in 1812, and had drawn a pension for fifty-seven years.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.
ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]
NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

In affections peculiar to females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhea, or Whites, &c.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1870.

THE WAR.

Gen. Bourbaki cannot live, nor can his army escape capture.

The Imperial captives at Wilhelmsloe are greatly cast down at the misfortunes of their country, which they regard as fatal to a Napoleonic restoration.

The French residents of New York talk freely of assassinating Louis Napoleon, in case the Empire is restored.

The elections for the National Chambers will be held throughout France on the 8th of February. The constituent assembly will convene in Bordeaux on the 15th of that month, when the subject of the future form of Government for France will be taken up and finally discussed.

Gambetta is reported to have committed suicide.

The distress in Paris is very great, and the Germans are supplying articles of the first necessity from their own stores.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Jan. 30, the majority of the committee reported in favor of Joshua T. Hill as Senator from Georgia. Mr. Trumbull supported that report, and Mr. Stewart the minority report in favor of Farrar and Whitely. The majority report was accepted, 79 to 36.

The Senate military committee has decided against making the 30th of May a legal holiday.

The Ku-Klux investigations are corrobborating all the previous stories of violence in the Southern States.

In the House, a bill was introduced making it a crime to offer intoxicating liquors to any civil, military or naval officer of the government.

On motion of Mr. Butler, a resolution welcoming the returned Fenians was passed, 172 to 21.

A resolution was passed increasing the pay of the census enumerators to five dollars a day where it fell below that sum.

New Hampshire Items.

The Laconia Savings Bank has $437,-064 on deposit by two thousand persons. The gain in the last year has been over $53,000.

On the 26th, in Nottingham, a man named Frederick French left the almshouse to go into the woods, and was found the next day in a dying condition. He lived but a short time. Apparently, he was struck with paralysis while breaking hemlock for a broom. His age was about fifty-three.

On the 26th, in Lebanon, a daughter of Mr. Felix Amour lapped up some fresh snow from the top of an iron post that was very frosty. She lapped one time too many, and found herself held fast. After much suffering she was separated from the post.

The number of deaths in Exeter the past year was 66, of which 6 were of persons over 80 years of age. The average age of deaths for the year was 41 1-2 years.

Rothwell's machine shop at Dover Landing was burnt on the morning of Jan. 30. Loss $5000; insured $1000.

The South Society of Concord contributed $625 to the N. H. Orphan's Home, Jan 29th.

Geo. F. Richardson, formerly a fireman on the Concord Railroad, was accidentally killed in Chicago, Jan. 20th.

Walter Stevens of Contoocookville, aged 17, died of lockjaw, Jan 29, resulting from injuries received on the 19th.

U. S. Grant, jr., has been in Concord as the guest of Gov. Stearns.

Hamilton Simpson of Concord has been committed in default of bail, on a charge of making false affidavits to procure a pension for a woman in Concord.

Frank Vittum now an unpremeditated bath in Lake Winnepisaukie, with the thermometer 16 below zero. What fun!

☞ A farmer living near Rock Grove, Winnebago county, Illinois, shot and killed three highwaymen while on his way home on Wednesday night, and on entering his house found his wife and daughter weltering in their blood, the latter dead and the former severely wounded. One of the slain robbers was recognized as a man who had lately attempted to purchase the farm.

☞ Edward Earl was chosen mayor of Worcester, Mass., Jan 30, as successor to the late Mayor Blake. He was supported by all classes without regard to politics. His majority over Dr. F. H. Kelley, who was run in opoition, was 336 in a total of 3820.

—Irwin, the burglar, who escaped from Raymond Street jail, Brooklyn, on Thursday night, has been recaptured.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE U. S. STEAMER CALIFORNIA.—We notice in the New York Herald quite a lengthy description of this vessel, complimenting her build, speed and general detail, and also leaving the impression on the mind of the reader that she was built at the Charlestown Yard. But we are too jealous of the interest of our own Navy Yard, and too mindful of the reputation of our skilled mechanics to allow this item to pass uncontradicted. The facts are that the keel of the California (one of the best vessels, if not the best that ever sailed out of this harbor) was laid at this Yard just at the close of the war, in the ship-house previously occupied by the Alabama, (now the New Hampshire,) and circumstances arising from the sudden close of the rebellion rendering her immediate completion unnecessary, work was partially, and for a time wholly suspended on her, until about two years since, when she was completed, and thoroughly fitted and equipped for sea.

On her trial trip it was found that her screw was not large enough, and it was proposed that she be docked for the purpose of putting in a new propeller. Upon consultation, however, it was regarded as unsafe to attempt to dock her without removing her armament and stores, and learning that this expense might be avoided by taking her to the Boston Yard, she was accordingly sent there, to be docked just as she sailed, stores, ammunition, armament and all.

On arriving there, however, either through fear of failing successfully to accomplish the task of docking, or for the want of a job, the authorities there had her unloaded prior to taking her into their stone dock. This course of action detained her over a month, and at the same time gave the Herald reporter the impression that she was the production of our neighbor, the Charlestown Yard.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—The U. S. S. Tuscarora arrived at the Yard Tuesday morning. It is reported that she has brought the remains of the late Capt. N. B. Harrison, of the U. S. S. Congress. Mr. J. M. Whittaker, the Chief Engineer of the Tuscarora, and Mr. Burke, the Boatswain, were formerly attached to this Station.

The following is a list of the Tuscarora's officers:—Lt. Comdr. John H. Rowland, commanding; Lieutenants, Henry G. Macey, Frank Haiford; Surgeon, Michael Beadley; Ass't Paymaster, Frank H. Arms; Chief Engineer, Jas. M. Whittaker; 1st Ass't Engineer, W. S. Neale; 2nd Ass't Engineer, Robt. D. Taylor; Boatswain, William P. Burke.

James McFarland, a carpenter employed on the Monongahela, at the Navy Yard, had his foot badly jammed on Tuesday morning. A little later in the day a man named Poole, at work on the same vessel, received a severe contusion on his head by the falling of a knee which was being pried off above the spot where he was at work. He was taken to the hospital, where his injuries, which are believed to be somewhat serious, were attended to. Mr. Poole is a resident of Kittery.

The U. S. tug Port Fire went into commission on Tuesday. The Port Fire and Speedwell are to go to the Shoals, to bring in a schooner from Newburyport, arrived at the Shoals full of water and with sails blown away.

☞ Mr. Charles H. Woodwell, one of the proprietors of the Worcester Daily Gazette, died on Monday, aged 41 years. He had an attack of bleeding at the lungs about a week ago, which was followed by typhoid fever. Mr. Woodwell was a native of Newburyport, and for years has held a prominent and honorable position among the Massachusetts reporters, editors and printers. He was a capable journalist, and a sterling man, and few of the fraternity will be more missed or regretted. He was a regular visitor to this city,—Mr. F. W. Miller having been an apprentice with him in the Newburyport Herald office, — and a lasting friendship existed also with Mr. Brewster of the Journal. His record, all too brief, has not a single blot. Mr. Woodwell leaves no family, his wife and only child having died some years ago. He served in the 5th Massachusetts volunteers, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the Masonic fraternity.

☞ We are informed that the U. S. S. Tallapoosa is expected here shortly to convey the remains of the late Capt. N. B. Harrison to Philadelphia, where he formerly resided.

☞ The Crispins trip it on the light fantastic boots at Congress Hall, this evening. They have big parties and good times.

ANOTHER RAILROAD RING.—The Boston Transcript says, "It is reported that certain speculative parties from New York hope to so change the Direction of the Eastern Railroad, next week, as to serve their own interest. A general rally of the stockholders should prevent the consummation of this movement."

☞ The stock of the P. S. & P. Railroad sold in Boston on Monday at $127.-50 per share, and the Eastern for $120.50. For the Concord $79.

☞ The President has received a memorial from the people of the Red River territory, setting forth that not a single pledge made them by the British and Canadian governments has been kept, and asking the President to intercede for them. It is probable that a resolution will be introduced in Congress calling for information whether the Canadian expedition to Manitoba was of a friendly character as declared, in order to secure its passage through the Sault Ste. Marie Canal with the consent of the United States, or whether the expedition, as charged in the memorial, was for hostile purposes. Another rebellion is threatened at Manitoba. Small-pox is ravaging the Saskatchewan district, and 2000 Indians and freedmen have died with it.

☞ Steamer Kensington, of Boston, was run into and sunk by barque Templar, off Cape Hatteras, Friday night. The steamer's people were all saved, and one man from the Templar, who jumped on board the steamer at the time of the collision. The barque is supposed to have sunk.

☞ A Spanish government circular to the ambassadors of that country says that "the new government desires to re-establish the former cordial relations of Spain with the Pope."

☞ A large amount of smuggled opium has been seized on board of the Pacific steamer Japan, at San Francisco.

☞ Boston had an $8000 robbery of silk and gloves, Saturday evening. Robbers not caught.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Invisible Enemies.

The raw, astringent atmosphere of winter creates and aggravates many ailments. To protect themselves as effectually as possible against the invisible dangers which surround them at this season, should be the especial care of persons constitutionally delicate. As there is no medicinal preparation in use which so thoroughly braces and invigorates the stomach, the liver, and the nerves, as Hostetter's Bitters, a course of that agreeable tonic is particularly advisable for dyspeptic, bilious and nervous sufferers, in the cold, damp, and trying weather which generally prevails in our climate at this period of the year. Sudden chills have a very bad effect upon dyspeptics and individuals of bilious habits, not unfrequently producing congestion of the liver or bowels, or low fever, sometimes of an intermittent or remittent character. Attacks of rheumatism are also to be apprehended, and when there is a tendency to that complaint the Bitters will be found the best preventive. The operation of the great vegetable tonic is direct and simple. It stimulates and strengthens the digestive and secretive organs and the nerves, and puts the system in a condition to resist the action of those formidable foes of vitality, a low temperature and unwholesome winds and fogs. By quickening the superficial circulation, without creating anything approaching to fever, it imparts tone to the skin, and thus renders the surface of the body comparatively impervious to unhealthy external influences.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application's
Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure,
And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub
For in that time what premiums may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil
Does make me pause, tightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does mammon make cowards of us all.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A DRESSING which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully every point that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Fetterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Jacksonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times, that it is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Tallahassee, Cedar Co., and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature: and it is not necessary to say, that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die sooner; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, enacting every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet if he does not avoid taking cold,

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous diseases; believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for patients by day or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healthy cough of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point, by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, even when the lungs in Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment pursued. The fact stands proven, the

The Office Of City Solicitor.

It is plain that this office ought to be abolished; the minority of the Committee of the Aldermen says so in his report; he says further that the city should procure legal advice and services as other people do, and that he is satisfied that the average annual expense ought not to exceed $100. The cost of the office in 1870 was $214.25, all of which was paid to a black republican. It is too much to be paid out in such a way. Were the office abolished, the democrats might get a share. For ten long years this office has been held by a black republican or a know-nothing. The pay is too much under the circumstances.

It didn't use to be so much. We are informed by Ald. Hatch, who made the report alluded to above, that the pay was only $50 in 1853. Ald. Hatch tells the truth, and no black republican or know-nothing can catch him in any wrong statement. The pay was $50 in 1853, and in 1854 and 1855 it was the same; those three years the know-nothings held the city government and abused its power. They were the reckless, selfish, unprincipled politicians who wrested from the people their hard earnings to pay this extravagant salary to a know-nothing lawyer. But a day of retribution came; in 1856 a long-suffering and indignant people hurled the know-nothings from the places they had usurped, and a better day dawned; their places were filled by sterling and incorruptible democrats, and Ald. Hatch was President of the Common Council, with other men of like standing in the democratic party by his side.

One of the first acts of the City Council of 1856 was to abolish the office of City Agent, the bill for that purpose being passed in the Council, in one of its stages, by the casting vote of the President. So you see, and I have great pleasure in recording it, Ald. Hatch is consistent. For fifteen years he has held the same opinion. No greater evidence of the purity of his motives as well as the stability of his opinions could be given. By his vote at that time an overburdened people were relieved from the payment of that $50 salary, which for three long years had gone into the pocket of a know-nothing.

The justice, wisdom, prudence, &c., of this far-seeing economy, was illustrated in the next few years. The democrats held the city from March, 1856, to December, 1860. In 1860, though we had a democratic Mayor, the black republicans, getting more votes than the democrats could, succeded in electing a majority of both Boards; and in 1861, without the shadow of a pretence, got the whole city government, and have ungeneously—not to say unjustly—held it ever since.

But it is with those years when there was no city lawyer that we have to deal. The office was abolished April 17, 1856, and restored March 15, 1861, so that for a month less than five years there was no city lawyer,—for about four of which years the democrats managed the city with prudence and economy, and for one year the blacks had both Boards with a democratic Mayor.

In 1856 there was no lawyer's bill in the city accounts.

In 1857, Hatch and Webster put in bills amounting to $234.99, mostly for defending the city in the suits of Willey, Palmer and Dr. Folsom against the city; to be sure they lost all these cases, and the city had to pay round damages,—the fault, as I look at it, of the bungling lawyers who managed those cases against the city, and who did not know that the cases were poor, and that the lawyers for the city should have wop them. I regret to say that in the same year the sum of $30.75 of the hard earnings of the people was paid to know-nothing lawyers.

In 1858, Hatch and Webster were paid $133.49, and A. H. Hoyt $150.25. Mr. Hoyt at that time was a democrat, and was supposed to be unterrifiable. On this ground, this and other large sums paid to him were justifiable. But he was terrified; at the time of the black republican rising against the South he joined the enemes of his country, and actually served them by invading the South at the command of Abe Lincoln.

In 1859, Hatch and Webster were paid $53.25 and A. H. Hoyt $180.25.

In 1860, Hatch and Webster were paid $159.72; and some federal lawyers received $14.25.

In 1861, the black republicans came into power and made a City Solicitor; but they had to pay bills for previous services,—to Hatch and Webster $39, to A. H. Hoyt $89.48, and to federal lawyers $102.50.

For lawyers' services for less than 5 years there was paid the sum of $1221.-93, as follows:—

To Hatch and Webster,	$625.45
" A. H. Hoyt,	449.98
" Know-nothings, &c.,	147.50

In addition to that amount the city paid Hatch and Webster in 1861 and 1863, the sum of $147, for carrying one of the cases in which they were beaten before a jury to the law term, where they were beaten again; and for other services, continued from 1860.

That was the result of abolishing the office of City Agent of Solicitor once. A like glorious result might occur again; and it's for this reason that I think it ought to be done. But I suppose that narrow-minded republicans may oppose it; and I appeal to them with tears in my eyes to reconsider the matter. When I consented to take my pen to explain the workings of this thing, I did it simply for the people; and I hope that enough republicans can be found in the City Councils who are as honest and conscientious as I am, to vote with the democrats and stop this leak. OMBRE.

TEMPERATURE OF SCHOOL ROOMS.

Messrs. Editors:—I am glad that through your columns the attention of the public has been directed to the temperature of our several school-rooms. There has been, and is, unquestionably, a great laxity in the attention paid toward getting these apartments to such a degree of warmth as will insure the comfort of each child on taking its seat in the school. On two or three occasions, the children have been detained after the opening of school beyond a time which prudence would dictate, the teacher hoping that the room would become warmer, and failing to realize this expectation at last dismissing them. But not until at least one child had been so long exposed to a degree of cold which it was unused to, that it was taken sick, from the effects of which illness it was some four weeks in recovering. This may be a solitary instance of lung difficulty resulting from exposure in an unwarmed school-room. But if it is, it is simply because its schoolmates chanced to be more hardy, or their physical condition at that time was better enabled to ward off the effects of a chilly atmosphere.

No apartment for the daily reception of school-children should be at a temperature less than 60 degrees, and 65 would be still better,—because if too warm it is very easy to ventilate a room in cold weather by dropping a window a little, or leaving a door ajar for a few minutes. And if the school-room is not found at the degree of temperature which I have named, or approximating to it rapidly, I think any teacher is fully justified in sending his or her scholars directly home. The committee should investigate this matter, and endeavor to work a reform, either in procuring new furnaces or stoves, or if the fault is not with these, to see if the difficulty is in lack of draught; or wherever lies the trouble, to try and remedy it. I make these suggestions as a parent, having personal knowledge of the foundations for complaint.

Yours, G.

RICHARDS AVENUE.—The improvements, according to the will and bequest of Mrs. Cutts, were placed in charge of her executors, Messrs. Hackett of this city and Mason of Boston; and the severe illness of the latter has also deferred the examination.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.
Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most rich, settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE EASTERN RAILROAD is issued for the information of the share-owners, preparatory to the annual meeting, which will be held in Boston next Monday. It shows the actual receipts from the business of the railroad, exclusive of property account, have been $1,718,755.16, against $1,607,349.61 for the preceding year; an increase in ordinary revenue of $111,405.55. The expenses for the same period were $1,018,039.14, against $969,482.87, being an increase of $48,556.27. The report further says:—

During the year we have built in our own shops three first class locomotive engines, rebuilt two, and made large and general repairs upon thirty-one others, putting in nine sets of steel tires. We have now forty-eight engines. In our car shops we have built ten new passenger cars and eighty-five new freight cars, and we have purchased two new passenger cars, and fifteen freight cars. We now have eighty-six passenger cars, twenty-five baggage and express and postal cars, 551 freight and 250 coal cars. We have laid down 2300 tons of rail within the year, of which 300 tons are steel and 100 tons with steel tops or heads.

In addition, we have laid 670 tons of welded rails. We have put down 43,732 sleepers, and our gravel trains have been constantly employed through the season in ballasting road-beds, grading side tracks, etc., for which the payroll alone of the men working on them has amounted to $35,497.70. We have rebuilt both the bridges on the Lynn marshes, to wit; across the Saugus River and at Oak Island; have built a new iron bridge across Ipswich River, and have done a large amount of work on the Boston bridge. We have also widened and extended the bridge this side of Prison Point, and built an additional coal shed, 200 feet in length, thereon.

We have erected a new passenger depot at Marblehead, and have also purchased there ample grounds for freight purposes, and fitted up a convenient freight house. At Everett we have established a station and built a new depot, which is a great convenience, and gives much satisfaction to the citizens of that growing town. At Ashbury Grove we have also built a station-house. We have built a new engine-house, with four stalls, and also a new paint shop at Salem. These, and other expenditures in the carpenter's department, have amounted to the large sum of $72,463.84.

We have purchased additional lands for depot accommodation at a large number of stations on the line of road at Swampscott, at Seabrook, Hampton, Portsmouth, Danvers, North Andover, Peabody, at Newbury, Newburport, and at Salem for a car shop, at Everett, Lynn, Manchester, Gloucester and Ipswich, at a total cost of $30,944 45. Last spring we built a track from our station to the camp meeting grounds in Hamilton, something over a mile, at a cost of $19,110 83.

The number and frequency of our trains have become so great that an extension of the double track beyond Beverly is necessary, and we have begun the work. The question of the enlargement of the Salem tunnel, so as to admit of another track, will soon force itself upon the consideration of the officers of the road, and the authorities of that city; for both must concur in making the improvement, inasmuch as the grade, width, and perhaps direction of some of the streets will have to be changed.

The work of construction on the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, is being prosecuted with vigor. The contractors have st ipulated that the roadbed as far as West Ossipee shall be ready for the rails in June next. This will be open for tourists a new route by the Ossipee Valley, amidst scenery of unsurpassed beauty and grandeur. We issued and sold, early in the year, 218 shares of new stock, but discontinued the issue on the passage of the new law of the last session of the legislature, requiring new stock to be first offered to the stockholders, and certain other formalities to be complied with.

By the terms of the lease of the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad to the Eastern Railroad, and the Boston and Maine Railroad, of April 1, 1847, either party was authorized to terminate the lease and contract by giving one hundred and eighty days' notice of an intention so to do, and paying to the others $200,000. In July last the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad Company gave notice of their intention to so terminate the contract on the 20th day of January, current.

☞ The Nebraska house of representatives has passed a resolution inquiring into the disposition made by Governor Butler of $17,000 collected in 1869 to the credit of the Nebraska school fund.

☞ Ship Pontiac, Capt. Skillings, of Bath, Me., from Liverpool for Boston, is reported ashore on Cape Lookout Shoals, coast of North Carolina.

☞ The capital of Italy is to be moved to Rome on the 30th of June. Baron Haussman proposes to remodel the ancient city.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything now so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settling, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the parent a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your house for the emergencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

WHY I LIKE FARMING—It presents me to the open sky, the winds and the sun. I smell the fresh mould; I hear the birds, the brooks, and I see the grass and the waving grain. I am in the midst of the harvest after having enjoyed seed-time. This it does—my love for farming. Were it not that I loved it, I should not enjoy it; but it takes me nearer to the bosom of the earth, where lie the great strata where the wonderful miracle and mystery of the world are. I work a miracle myself yearly, by the growth of grain, from this soil, these strata, so mysterious, so ancient, so full of history. Here at this late day of the world the greatest change is taking place—grain instead of ferns and trees and water and marine animals.

The farmer is in all this. He is surrounded by it. He is the lord and the king of the soil; plain, common, like beasts of the field, like his own quiet herds, giving bread to thousands, feeding a world; and he might feed another were it necessary, so much matter has he for bread; the rocks are filled with it.

He treads this free, fruitful earth. His family is like him, free and happy; that is the true farmer, who loves his vocation. Here virtue thrives most. All the graces have root here, along with the flowers and the shrubs: the brooks cast their spray around the rude rock and image the clouds. Such delicacy is nowhere else. Here are the trees in blossom; and is this nothing? Here they cast their fruit. The rich wealth of autumn is here—its "spheres of gold," its yellow grain; the brown autumn covers all, a season that none so well as the farmer enjoys—enjoys because he loves it—loves it calling which brings him out among these things.

Health, honesty, peace, enjoyment—these are the birthright of the farmer. F. G. in Country Gentleman.

LIQUOR PROSECUTION.—According to the best information the prosecutions for liquor selling in East Kingston are followed by results detrimental to the cause and to the damage of private property. So far as we can learn, two men named Davis and Beede were recently arrested by Deputy-Sheriff Emery Tuck, on a charge of liquor selling, at the instance of one John Chesley. They were brought before W. A. Shackford, Esq., of Newmarket, when they waived an examination, and gave bonds for their appearance at the April term of the S. J. Court.

Susbsequent to these proceedings, the horse of Joseph C. Sargent, Esq., was treated to a shearing of his caudal appendage. While this was being done, Mr. Chesley was exercising his own horse, kept at the same stable. On the return of Mr. Chesley to the stable he was assailed with stones. Parties also went to Chesley's house and broke glass, &c. He screamed murder and snapped his gun, which missed fire.

It is understood that the animus of the commission of this mischief is, that Chesley had, sometime since, agreed to go into partnership in the liquor business with Mr. Beede; but, finally, he declined doing so, and has turned upon them with a prosecution for selling liquor.—Exeter News Letter.

PERSONAL.

Gen. Joseph R. West, lately elected Senator from Louisiana, is a journalist and built up a successful newspaper in San Francisco.

George R. Jackson was employed to edit the Sun, a new Boston paper. The Sun rose for six days and suspended on the seventh; whereupon the indignant editor put a displayed head on the publisher, for which he paid $25 in the police court.

Ben Wade is a wonderful specimen of political longevity. The old abolition law-maker is in the seventies, and yet he stands as firm and walks as erect as if he had numbered only fifty years, and those very healthy, prosperous years at that.

Carlyle says sarcasm is the language of the devil. Thomas knows how it is, himself.

Andrew Jackson Davis has gone back on spiritualism.

Admirers of the old German hero, Von Moltke, are flooding him with letters asking for locks of his hair. As Von is entirely barefoot on top of his head, the requests are a trifle aggravating.

—The N. Y. World says while "Reddy the Blacksmith will receive the thanks of the community for ridding us of Haggerty, the latter will go to his grave in the midst of general execration for his failure to kill 'Reddy.'"

—A wolf entered a Duluth church, and was much affected by the services, and an ounce of lead. He was converted before he went out—into a corpse.

—A man who was told by a clergyman to "remember Lot's wife," replied that he had trouble enough with his own without remembering other men's.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and it lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1870.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Jan. 31, a committee of conference on the income tax repealing bill was appointed.

A resolution was introduced ordering a naval vessel to be placed at the service of those desiring to send contributions to France.

In the House a resolution was adopted directing a suit to be brought for the sinking of the Oneida.

The bill concerning the acquirement of government land by discharged soldiers was passed.

THE WAR.

Postal communication between London and Paris has been re-opened. The execution of the terms of the convention between Favre and Bismark proceed without interruption.

The Prussians are driving cattle into Paris, and food is arriving from every direction.

The suicide of Ducrot and Gambetta is rumored.

Jules Simon is going to Bordeaux. That city and Lyons refuse to think of peace, and in many other places only warlike sentiments are expressed.

Bourbaki's army, guns and baggage are in Switerland. They are to be disarmed.

Bismark and the Emperor are to leave Versailles shortly for Berlin.

The Ex-Empress of France is bitterly opposed to any dismemberment of that country.

The Orleanists are actively intriguing for a return to power of their party.

The French-American papers breathe vengeance against Germany and the Emperor, and warmly reproach America and Europe for looking idly on while France was being crushed.

New Hampshire Items.

Hillsborough Bridge has three till-tappers—boys aged between twelve and fourteen, who have been going through Benj. Dutton.

Woodbridge Odin, Esq, of Exeter, has signified his willingness to endow an English professorship at Phillips Academy with $5000 providng $20,000 is forthcoming to complete the object.

The spiritualists of this State are to hold a convention in Lempster, beginning Feb. 3d and lasting three days.

A clothing dealer in Nashua has offered a suit of clothes to the scholar in that city who shall make the most improvement during one term.

BREVITIES.

The Brooklyn Daily Times is sued for $50,000 damages for libel on John Percy, lawyer, in unfairly reporting his proceedings in court.

By a strict party vote the Twombly-Carey contested election case in New York has been decided against the republican claimant to a seat in the legislature.

Dr. Galentine has been convicted at Cleveland of manslaughter, for shooting Dr. Jones for improper intimacy with his wife.

Lewis Darining, the Cherokee chief, recently reported to be murdered, is alive and well at Washington.

The Erie Railway laborers have been unpaid for months, and are in want.

☞ A Washington special says that the Senate investigation into the outrages in the South is uncovering a mass of evidence, going to show that certain counties are entirely at the mercy of a set of scoundrels who murder a negro or a Nothern settler at will. The committee will sit during the next summer, and go over the worst parts of the entire South, and then publish the facts gathered, for the benefit of Congress and the country.

☞ Rev. J. B. Johnson of Roxbury, Mass., pastor of the Congregational churches in Wakefield and Uxbridge, has been suspended from the ministry, to await the result of a suit brought by his wife for a divore on the ground of cruelty and adultery.

GEN. STEVENS' BILL to regulate rank in the Navy, which recently passed the House of Representatives by an almost unanimous vote, was supported by him in an exhaustive speech, giving both sides of the line-and-staff question, and fairly annihilating every argument yet adduced to show that the services of the educated gentlemen who compose the staff corps of the navy should not be treated with justice. He gives the opinions of two eminent line officers,—eminent, but in very different degrees—as to the fight of the staff to "positive rank." We quote those opinions, and leave others to say which is worth the most:

"In order to identify them [the staff officers] with their surroundings and give propriety to their presence, they are favored with the compliment of rank. This is the only position civil officers on board ship should hold." — Vice Admiral Porter.

"It [the bill giving rank to the medical staff] appears to have been drawn up in a spirit of fairness and justice to all."—Admiral Farragut.

The manly candor of Farragut is as plainly visible in one of the above quotations, as is the contemptuous insolence of his great successor in the other.

Gen. Stevens pointedly asks, speaking of the absurd assumption that none but "the line" can be honored or rewarded without injuring the service, "why is this aristocratic principle, exploded and abrogated in every navy in the civilized world, retained and nourished in our little Navy. Is it for the protection of the line? Is there such a superiority of brains and accomplishments in the staff that the equality can only be preserved by exclusive rank?"

From an able article in the Baltimore American in support of Mr. Stevens' bill, we extract the following paragraphs:—

Should the "precedence" or authority of the "executive officer" over the Staff be confined to those who are his juniors in rank (as it manifestly should be,) many a youth would, perhaps, be deprived of the supreme pride and pleasure—which he now possesses by "regulation," and which is by this bill sought to be legalized—of granting or refusing to elderly Staff officers "permission to leave the ship, or even to appeal to the commander, when necessary, against injustice or errors of judgment; and of sending peremptory orders—perhaps in the presence of distinguished visitors—for these gentlemen to "present themselves before him on the quarter deck;" but it is impossible to show that "the discipline of the service" would be in the slightest degree impaired. * * *

Military command is, within certain limits, as indispensable to the Staff as to the Line of the navy. It is, and always must be, constantly exercised by all officers, for they always have subordinate officers and enlisted men under their control. Are the engineer's orders to his junior officers and men, to "haul the fires" from an almost bursting boiler, less military than the line officer's orders to "reef topsails?" or the surgeon's order to a surbordinate to have all ready in his department for battle, or to go on an expedition, less military and imperative than the deck officer's order to "beat to quarters," or to "cut away the life buoy?" The law should confer upon the staff authority to exercise military command in the discharge of their professional duties. It would but legalize that which is manifestly necessary—even essential. Military command in the Line is not and never has been sought by the staff, in any shape or form—neither, indeed, can be.

Finally, the bil of Mr. Drake, or any other bill not conferring positive rank upon the staff, would leave the question at issue in a most unsatisfactory and unsettled state, and liable to frequent recurrence. And it would be a rankling, festering sore, promotive of discord, and damaging to the best interests of the navy. Rank, graduated according to the degree of responsibility imposed, confers upon its holder certain definite powers, privileges, individual status, &c., and has ever been found indispensible to all who hold official position under military or naval rule. The privileges, &c., that are enjoyed by the line are precisely the same, with certain proper limitations of power, as those desired by the staff, and these can never be definitely conceded, and the holder thereof protected and maintained in his rights, except by precisely the same kind of rank—that is, legalized positive rank.

In "assimilated rank" the degree of assimilation is left to the arbitrary decision of any person who may happen to be in command; and many line officers maintain that the staff have in reality no rank at all, and that they will never recognize or regard "assimilated rank." The simplest method of settling this question is for the Senate at once to also pass the Stevens (House) bill, and so confer positive specific rank upon the staff, as in the staff of the army; with such restrictions as efficiency of the service may require and plainly show to be necessary.

*Senator Drake's Bill.

NAVAL. — Lieutenant Commander Edwin T. Woodward, of the U. S. navy, son of the author of the "Old Oaken Bucket," died Jan. 30, aged 55 years, leaving a widow and five children. He was a native of Vermont, and entered the navy in 1839.

☞ The position of the democratic party on the question of common schools is well illustrated by the following extract from the democratic party organ in Washington ,occurring in the course of some remarks on proceedings in the House:—

"Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, then advocated his great scheme for national education, which is to substitute freedmen's and other bureaus by furnishing a mammoth machine to poison the minds of the rising generation. This is one of the most insidious and dangerous of all plans for perpetuating radical rule yet conceived by the inventive genius of New England, and is therefore the one that ought to be most firmly resisted."

—A young gentleman, after having paid his addresses to a young lady for some time, popped the question. The lady, in a frightened manner, said, "You scare me. sir." The gentleman did not wish to frighten the lady, and consequently remained quiet for some time, when she exclaimed, "Scare me again."

—One of the most distinguished of the slege of Paris is foreshadowed in the announcement that over two hundred more French actresses only await the fall of that city to come to the United States.

—Lecturing is not always profitable in the West. In Toledo,Ohio, recently, a female orator took but $15 at the door, and the fever and ague in the hall.

—Springfield, Ill., boasts of the best facilities for getting drunk of any place in the country. Whiskey is five cents a horn and lager five mugs for a dime.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

COMFORT is a great desideratum in our necessary clothing. Every one dreads the "breaking-in" of a new boot, and the economical have a holy horror of the "breaking-out" of an old one. The goods fastened with CABLE SCREW WIRE are not only perfectly easy on the first trial, but they never rip until the substance of the sole is entirely worn away. May be procured of all first-class dealers.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as any body." Try it.

Don't think because snuffs and strong or poisonous solutions will not cure Catarrh, that you cannot be cured. The proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offers $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure. It costs but fifty cents for a package which prepares one full pint. Sold by druggists, or send sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., and get it through the mail. A pamphlet free. The Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private U. S. Government stamp on each package.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Invisible Enemies.

The raw, astringent atmosphere of winter creates and aggravates many ailments. To protect themselves as effectually as possible against the invisible dangers which surround them at this season, should be the especial care of persons constitutionally delicate. As there is no medicinal preparation in use which so thoroughly braces and invigorates the stomach, the liver, and the nerves, as Hostetter's Bitters, a course of that agreeable tonic is particularly advisable for dyspeptic, bilious and nervous sufferers, in the cold, damp, and frying weather which generally prevails in our climate at this period of the year. Sudden chills have a very bad effect upon dyspeptics and individuals of bilious habits, not unfrequently producing congestion of the liver or bowels, or low fever, sometimes of an intermittent or remittent character. Attacks of rheumatism are also to be apprehended, and when there is a tendency to that complaint the Bitters will be found the best preventive. The operation of the great vegetable tonic is direct and simple. It stimulates and strengthens the digestive and secretive organs and the nerves, and puts the system in a condition to resist the action of those formidable foes of vitality, a low temperature and unwholesome winds and fogs. By quickening the superficial circulation, without creating anything approaching to fever, it imparts tone to the skin, and thus renders the surface of the body comparatively impervious to unhealthy external influences.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send our the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

COMPLETION

—OF THE—

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,

COUPON OR REGISTERED,

FREE OF U. S. TAX,

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,

ON A FINISHED ROAD.

—FOR SALE—

At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

The last rail of this important road was laid on the 28th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles shorter than any existing route and 65 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.

By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central or any other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.

The C. R. R. & M. R. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $40,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscriptions to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Town and Counties through which the Road passes, which have adopted this system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.

The earnings of the Road in its incomplete state, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When to added to this lucrative way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as heretofore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.

A small amount, $400,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect rapid sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.

All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a healthy and cure of disease of lungs to healthy consences. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there who had lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. Either place is a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from Lake Jesup, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. Mellonville is a place which is better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when the patient feels well, generally increas in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1863, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. My practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, that I feel I can understand and diagnose Pills, and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup," and "Schenck's Tonic and Sea Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is taking Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is well-established fact, that a vector of Pills rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of victims there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and more serious cold, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. To be successful, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and allows the patient to go to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign, when a patient begins to eat voracity. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the cough ceases, and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, I say to consumptive invalids who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no place for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy-five degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Such a patient should use exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless consumption. Can do so now, and will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply on their cabins. They are not the better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent substitute for calomel, and quite medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrake Pills will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you wish to vate the system, take a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may go on the following morning with peaches, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who are in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination will do so by enclosing $5, the charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily see whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

☞ Mr. Freeman L. Sanborn of this city has received an appointment as Clerk in the Ordnance Bureau at the Navy Yard.

☞ The average temperature for the month of January, notwithstanding the recent extremely cold weather, was 15 deg. above zero. The observations were taken once each day, at 7 o'clock A. M., near the South Millbridge.

☞ The Odd Fellows Societies of this city have frequent entertainments for themselves and their friends, at their Hall on Daniel Street. The last one was a lecture by Bro. C. W. Gardner, on which occasion the Hall was filled. On Thursday evening the entertainment will consist of readings by Bro. John F. Leverton.

OIL vs. GAS.—One of the republican Aldermen last week suggested that the city could save money by shutting off the gas and using oil, but that he favored keeping on with the gas. So do we, in most instances; but if the coppery-smelling "gas" which has so filled the Aldermen's room at each meeting of the Board this year, could be shut off, and "oil" substituted in its place, the city would lose nothing in the way of illumination, and the city business would go ahead faster. But it is comforting to reflect that if the "gas" is worth nothing, it costs but little.

☞ Damon Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias, was instituted in this city on Tuesday evening, at Mercantile Hall, by C. C. Davis of Nashua, G. Chancellor of New Hampshire, with the assistance of other officers of the Grand Lodge of the State. The following were elected officers of Damon Lodge for the ensuing year:—M. T. Betton, V. Patriarch; A. J. Sides, W. Chancellor; E. T. Morrison, V. Chancellor; J. F. Leverton, Guide; H. B. Lord, I. Steward; F. Ackermen, R.Scribe; Wm. B. Grogan, F. Scribe; A. F. Craig, Banker; R. C. Sides, Jr., O. Steward. About thirty persons were initiated.

REV. CANON WALSH.—The gentleman whose mission it is to blow harmless democratic thunder through the copper horn at the republican party, and to illuminate the Egyptain darkness of his politica friends with equally effective democratic lightning, is striving very hard to make the question of Canon Walsh's good or ill behavior a religious dispute. We fail to see what religion has to do with the matter—either the Canon did behave in a violently rude and most ungentlemanly manner to ladies, or he did not; and very many people are inclined to believe that he won no honor for himself by his conduct at the Almshouse—as he most certainly did not when he filled a newspaper column with insulting sneers at a respectable woman.

☞ Our sidewalks were uncommonly slippery, Tuesday morning, from the thin skimming of frozen sleet which covered them. We saw one pedestrian go down suddenly, his heels flying in the air with amazing velocity, and his head and shoulders taking their place on the bricks. The concussion when he struck was so violent as to send a lot of bottles of Hair Syrup (or something of that kind) which he carried, about fifteen feet above the earth's surface, but they all landed safely on the bricks without one getting broken. The fellee coolly picked himself and his bottles up, smilingly accepted the consolatory remarks of a benevolent-looking elderly lady, scoffed at two passing sleigh-riders who laughed aloud at his downfall, and went on his way with the air of a stoic.—We found the best sidewalk to be the middle of the street.

☞ A race in the harbor of Havre between the cutter of the United States war steamer Shenandoah and that of the British war steamer Helicon, was won by the American crew in the fastest time on record for contests of that description.

☞ The Halliday House at Kenosha, Wisconsin, was burned Jan. 30. Five persons perished with the house; two are so badly injured they cannot live, and one more missing.

☞ The sem-annual meeting of the G. A. R., Department of Maine, was held at Lewiston Jan. 31. Gen. Mattocks was re-elected department commander.

☞ The re-assembling of the European conference is again postponed in consequence of the illness of Earl Granville.

☞ Emperor William has sent an autograph letter to the Pope, but makes no reference to temporal power.

THE WHITE ROVER.—The loss of the White Rover falls with peculiar force upon the Caswell brothers, who owned the vessel, but had not paid the last instalment of the purchase money, $350 being still due upon her. The vessel was valued at $2000; and since the disastrous storm at the Shoals last fall, when three vessels were wrecked, the Insurance Companies have declined to insure vessels frequenting or belonging to those Islands.

When it became known to the people there that a boat was out in the fearful northwester which came up so suddenly, there was no possible means of helping the boatmen without using the White Rover for that purpose; a crew at once volunteered to go, and Mr. Lemuel Caswell, whose family supplies had come out from Portsmouth in his vessel and were still on board, told the men it was a matter of "life or death," and they must not loose a moment to land his property, but to go at once if they determined to take the awful risk of running to leeward in such a small craft, in such a gale.

The brave fellows were soon speeding to the rescue, and not a moment too soon, as it was with the greatest difficulty the men were got on board from the foundering boat. The Rover then made sail and attempted to beat back to the islands she had left, and had nearly reached safe anchorage, when the sails, heavy with the frozen spray which flew to the mast heads, were blown into ribbons. The anchor would not hold her for a moment, and she and her crew were driving before the furious wind and waves, as helpless as the poor fellows they went to succor. After six hours of terrible suffering with cold, and laborious efforts to keep their little craft afloat, they were stranded on Ipswich bar; the vessel sunk under them, and they reached the shore in the boats which they fortunately had on deck. They were kindly cared for at the Light House, and took passage for Portsmouth in the morning train from Boston. The weather continued so rough that it was impossible for them to get to the Shoals for several days, their families and friends in the meanwhile mourning them as lost.

It would seem to be the duty of Government to keep a good staunch vessel at the Shoals, to render assistance in case of disaster to mariners. Hardly a winter month passes without some call upon the hardy Shoalers to aid a vessel in distress; and they never fail to respond when it is within the range of human possibility. If there was a vessel fitted and furnished with appliances for saving life, stationed in the Roadstead at the Shoals there would be no lack of brave men to man her in case of an emergency.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN, TREATED ON PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and the many great cures made by the present author, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct26 6lyr

A SHOOTING AFFAIR.—Two residents of Epping, aged respectively thirty years, a point where experience should supersede folly, recently became enamored by a bewitching damsel of that town and so jealous withal that upon accidentally meeting at a hotel they sought to relieve the world of two very foolish fellows. Their names are Geo. Tarbox and Geo. Woodman. It is alleged that Tarbox assaulted Woodman with a large iron bar and the latter drew a pistol and discharged the contents at Tarbox, the ball striking him in the thigh, close to the body. Tarbox fell, and medical aid being summoned, the ball was extracted, and it is hoped the wound will not prove fatal. Woodman had an examination before a Justice and plead guilty of the offence, but stated that it was in self-defence, whereupon he was discharged.

Later.—A special to the News-Letter says—"Both combatants doing well; both been under arrest, and have buried the bar of iron and pistol too; a large crowd in attendance Saturday; great indignation for the want of "something to turn up; Ducellos' band of music arrives,—discourses sweet and soothing sounds, calms the excited passions; and now all is quiet on the Pawtuckaway.

—In Detroit the women all have feet like raisin boxes, and they have all along been ashamed to buy shoes at home, ordering them, usually, from the prairies of the West, where leather is cheap, and there is plenty of room to manufacture them. But a Detroit dealer has hit upon a novel plan of appealing to the pride of the fair ones, in order to sell them shoes. He takes a box of number sixteens, or seventeens, as the case may be, and marks them "1 1-2 and 2's," and the women flock to his place, and send shoes home by the dray load.

—The following is a specimen brick from a very able and exhaustive (not to say exhausting) article on the "Finite and Infinite," in a Chicago quarterly: "What is present is, therefore, Otherness in general, or a universal Being-for-Other, which because it is a single Being-for-Other, is more properly Being-for-One. That is, the Singleness of the determination sublates the Otherness."

—E. H. Moss (colored), under indictment at New Orleans for outraging the daughter of C. Courtera, was shot and killed by the father of the girl, on Sunday night, while prowling around his house.

—Walter Griffin, who murdered Thomas Duff last July, in New Brunswick, N. J., was sentenced by Judge Woodruff to ten years in the State prison, with a fine of $1000.

—The roof of the Erie locomotive shop in Newburg, N. Y., fell in consequence of the heavy weight of snow, crushing four locomotives.

—Louis Aliger shot himself in Brooklyn Monday evening, and an unknown woman leaped from a Brooklyn ferry boat and was drowned.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA AND CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as its virtues become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take one dose daily.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

BELLE ALDEN'S TRAVELLING BAG.

A train bound for St. Louis had just left the depot of Bellefontaine, when a gentleman entered the smoking car, and laid his hand upon the shoulder of his traveling companion—a tall, handsome man of thirty, who sat musingly blowing rings of smoke into the air.

"Marcy," said the new comer, "if you want to see at once the sweetest and saddest sight you ever beheld, go into the last car but one on the train. There's an emigrant German woman with four little children, and during the afternoon the youngest, a baby, has died. The mother and other children are inconsolable."

"I can understand," interrupted the smoker, "the sadness of such a scene, but where is the sweetness you spoke of?"

"I'm coming to that. The whole party has been taken in charge by a young lady. Such a beauty! She's dried the mother's tears, and wiped the children's noses. She's a divinity! She only needs a few feathers on her shoulder-blades to make a full fledged angel of her. If I was not a married man, I'd never leave her until I had made Mrs. Angelica Townsend out of her."

"That's a speech which I shall faithfully report to Mrs. Agnes Townsend," said the gentleman addressed as Marcy, rising. "I shall go back and feast my eyes on this beautiful Sister of Charity; and," he added, taking his travelling satchel and shawl from the rack, "as we stop at the next station, which is due in ten minutes, I may as well take my traps through with me and join you on the platform."

Thus saying, Richard Marcy threw his shawl over his shoulder, and sauntered leisurely through the long train—rushing blindly and calmly to his fate. For, as he entered the last car but one, he became witness and an actor in a scene that influenced his whole future life.

The poor, grief-stricken German woman, of whom his companion, Doctor Townsend, had spoken, with the dead infant in her arms, sat silently weeping over the little dead face.

The three sturdy children, grouped in childish sorrow about their little brother, was indeed a touching spectacle. But, standing beside them, was the divinity of Doctor Townsend's admiration, and she who was most certainly to "share ends" of the unhappy Richard.

She was a tall, slender girl of eighteen, with magnificent eyes and hair. As he entered the car she was speaking, her lovely face flushed, and the small, rosy mouth, disclosing a beautiful set of teeth, turned bewitchingly towards the tall stranger at the door.

"Ladies and gentlemen," spoke the sweet voice, "this poor woman, friendless and penniless, speaking no English, with four little children, was expecting to find work in St. Louis to support them. If everything had gone well with her it would have been hard for her; but with her little dead baby and her sorrowful heart, she is certainly a deserving object of charity; and I propose that such as feel willing contribute their mite towards a little purse for her immediate wants and the burial of her poor baby. And," she added, with a bewitching smile, "if any gentleman will lend me a hat, I will go round and take up a collection."

In an instant the gallant Richard pulled his travelling capirom his blonde curls and offered it to the Angel of Mercy, who accepted it with a smile, this time all his own, and commenced gathering the readily forthcoming dollars her generous, graceful appeal brought from the purses of all in the car.

Richard watched the slender figure in gray, gathering the money; and looking at the plaid cap in the white, jewelled fingers, he bethought him of his own donation, and stepping to the seat the beauty had just occupied, he laid his satchel and shawl upon a family of its kind, belonging to the angel in gray, and took from his pocket a ten dollar bill, which he placed in the little hand that returned him his cap. Further damage the poor fellow received, when a second smile and warmly worded thanks for his liberal contribution were dealt him from the beautiful mouth.

Dick was in the midst of an elaborate reply, when the cars stopped. He lingered yet another moment, seized his satchel and shawl with his eyes still on the face of his charmer, and then, even as the cars were again in motion, he bethought himself of the doctor, and hurriedly left the car and joined his friend on the platform.

"Well," ejaculated that worthy, "I began to believe you'd concluded to go and bury the dead baby and make the protecting beauty Mrs. Angelica Marcy. Isn't she a stunner?"

"Townsend," returned his friend, "don't use slang in speaking of the noble creature."

He looked after the train just disappearing in the distance. "I wish to heaven," he continued, "I'd remained on board. How stupid I was to leave. I might have learned her name and residence. And now—"

"Now, in all probability," broke in the doctor, "you'll never meet her in

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous to the hair. Unless it do the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1871.

THE WAR.

The conditions of peace prescribed by Bismark to Favre embrace the cession of Alsace and Lorraine with Belfort and Metz; the payment of ten million francs as indemnity for the expenses of the war; the cession of the colony of Pondicherry, and the transfer to the German navy of twenty first-rate frigates. Favre refers these terms to the national assembly.

Gambetta and the government at Bordeaux will consult with the branch at Paris before coming to any determination as to their future course.

The armistice has been carried out in the west and north of France without difficulty. It has also been extended to the eastern departments, and it is expected that the military operations of Generals Manteuffel, Werder, Bourbaki and Garibaldi have ceased. The bombardment of Belfort continues. Orders have been given for the discontinuance of the despatch of troops to France from Berlin.

The Orleans Princes will be candidates for the national assembly.

It is now said that the Emperor will not go to Berlin at all until the return of peace.

Ducrot is still living, but his life is despaired of.

Paris is quiet, the strictest order being preserved by the national guard. Immense quantities of provisions continue to pour in from all directions. No one is allowed to enter without a special permit.

Prussia declines the suggestions of neutral powers in regard to pacification, and prefers to prescribe the conditions of peace herself.

Gen. Bourbaki is said to be recovering from the effect of his recent attempt at suicide.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Feb. 1, a resolution of pity and sympathy for France was passed.

J. H. Hill was admitted as Senator from Georgia, after a warm debate.

The House took up the bill prescribing the oath to be taken by persons who participated in the rebellion, which was passed after some noisy debate.

The judiciary committee of the House reported against the McGarraghan claim.

Mr. Lynch of Maine offered a resolution in reference to the consolidation of the Kittery and Charlestown Navy Yards, which was referred.

A committee of conference on the bill to abolish the offices of admiral and vice-admiral was appointed.

☞ The funeral services of the late Mr. Charles H. Woodwell took place at the Prospect Street Church in Newburyport on Thursday, Feb. 2. He was a native of that city, and greatly lamented for his mental abilities and moral worth. His funeral was attended by the Masonic bodies and the G. A. R., of both which organizations he was an honored member.

NAVAL.—U. S. Steamer Severn, Admiral Poor, sailed on Saturday from Jamaica for Havana.

The Guerriere and Brooklyn will remain in the Mediterranean until fairer weather, when they will proceed to the Eu[illegible]nel, North and Baltic seas.

☞ The assassins of the Spanish General Prim have been discovered, and it is thought they were in the pay of the fallen dynasty of Isabella. The principal agent was an old detective of Gonzales Bravo, who distributed money to the conspirators.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

COMFORT is a great desideratum in our necessary clothing. Every one dreads the "breaking-in" of a new boot, and the economical have a holy horror of the "breaking-out" of an old one. The goods fastened with CABLE SCREW WIRE are not only perfectly easy on the first trial, but they never rip until the substance of the sole is entirely worn away. May be procured of all first-class dealers.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our Invisible Enemies.

The raw, astringent atmosphere of winter creates and aggravates many ailments. To protect themselves as effectually as possible against the invisible dangers which surround them at this season, should be the especial care of persons constitutionally delicate. As there is no medicinal preparation in use which so thoroughly braces and invigorates the stomach, the liver, and the nerves, as Hostetter's Bitters, a course of that agreeable tonic is particularly advisable for dyspeptic, bilious and nervous sufferers, in the cold, damp, and trying weather which generally prevails in our climate at this period of the year. Sudden chills have a very bad effect upon dyspeptics and individuals of bilious habits, not unfrequently producing congestion of the liver or bowels, or low fever, sometimes of an intermittent or remittent character. Attacks of rheumatism are also to be apprehended, and when there is a tendency to that complaint the Bitters will be found the best preventive. The operation of the great vegetable tonic is direct and simple. It stimulates and strengthens the digestive and secretive organs and the nerves, and puts the system in a condition to resist the action of those formidable foes of vitality, a low temperature and unwholesome winds and fogs. By quickening the superficial circulation, without creating anything approaching to fever, it imparts tone to the skin, and thus renders the surface of the body comparatively impervious to unhealthy external influences.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers.
And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application 's
Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure,
And pay the premium! ay—there's the rub
For in that sleep what premiums may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil
Does make me pause, tightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a desperately bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but which, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air more balmy and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river on lake, and is quite as pleasant, impossibleto take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs get well.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person once takes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds. Fort Mc. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, decreased Bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia, every week, where I saw and examined on an average one hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate tends to make them active, produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that scurvy will do the work of disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scurvy, bad eyes, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay by a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in a proper accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. The accomplished fact, cannot will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, without which a cure is followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats will no longer prostrate the patient, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice in such cases never has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the house, and when he will he can lay down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many cases of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be astonished to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They not only are the best pill for a family, but they have none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is needed. If you have pain in the side, dull feeling, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a hearty supper, or be able to eat freely of fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink freely and eat to satisfaction, pickles, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fever. They cleanse the system, and prevent disease. They them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

Petition of Geo. W. Towle to have sewer on State Street repaired, was referred to Com. on Sts.

Ald. Marvin presented a bill relating to the Collection of Taxes—read and referred to Com. on bills on second reading.

A resolution from the Com. Council suspending a portion of the joint rules, was concurred in.

Resolution from the Com. Council that the city ordinances be printed, amended and concurred in.

John S. Rand petitioned that a suitable room be provided for the benefit of City Missionary—Mr. John L. Harmon—referred to Com. on Land and Buildings.

Petition of citizens on Pleasant St. that an Engine be placed on said street, referred to Com. on Fire Dept.

The applications of John W. Fernald to take record of deaths and births in Wards One and Three, and Wm. Bodge in Ward Two, were granted.

A committee was appointed to confer with Gas Co. relative to city supply of gas.

Voted, that J. Horace Kent be appointed City Marshal. Yeas, Fernald, Giddings, Annable and Mendum, 4; Nays, Marvin, Waldron, Wendell and Hatch, 4; carried by Mayor's casting vote.

Geo. E. Barsantee, Thos. E. Rand, Richard Davidson and Jas. Stearns were appointed Night Watchmen. A motion to appoint two others was lost.

Wm. Batten, Alfred Goss and Reuben Rand were appointed Supernumerary Watchmen.

Chas. A. Shannon was appointed Collector of Taxes, after discussion.

Ald Marvin moved to appoint two Assistant Marshals. Ald. Mendum moved to appoint one. Ald. Hatch moved to appoint but one. Both amendments were lost, and the original motion was carried by the Mayor's casting vote. Geo. E. Barsantee and Thomas Entwistle were then appointed Assistant Marshals—vote 4 and 4, Mayor voting in the affirmative.

Ald. Marvin reported (from committee) in favor of keeping reservoir in Rogers' wood-yard in good order—report adopted. Adjourned.

Common Council.—On motion of Mr. Thompson, so much of the standing rules were suspended as would allow the Council to adjourn to meet again at the call of the Mayor.

A joint resolution was introduced by Mr. Gardner, providing for the proper revision of the city Ordinances, and the printing of the same. The resolution was amended in the Aldermen so as to provide only for putting the Ordinances in proper form for printing at present, and in that shape was finally passed. A revised edition of the Ordinances has been badly needed for some time, the last ones printed being quite out of date.

Adjourned to the call of the Mayor.

☞ New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, I. O. of O. F., of this city, propose to celebrate their twenty-fifth Anniversary on Friday evening, Feb. 10th, with an address, supper and dance. The address will be delivered at the Temple, by P. G. Representative Joseph Kidder of Manchester, after which there will be a supper and dance at Congress Hall.

THE BARQUE NEPTUNE, before reported ashore on Green Island, has been got off, taken to Boston and docked. The following account, which we clip from a Boston paper, pays a the compliment to our ship-wrights (tho Neptune was built here) and to the materials they put into the vessels they construct:—

The planking on her port bilge, fore and aft, was chafed through in many places to the timbers, and the keel torn off where she lay, almost to the garboards, but the hull retained its shape, and her sheer was as true as when launched. If she had not been remarkably well built of the best materials she would have become a wreck, and it would have been difficult to repair her, but as her frames are all in place, her deck-frames, knees and decks firm and without a single mark of straining, she can be repaired easily, and made as sound as when she was built.

A closer inspection of the Neptune since she was in dock shows that a rock about 2 feet long and 18 inches wide had become embedded in her port side quite firmly. If it had worked out after she was hove afloat she must have sank, notwithstanding the fact that she had a powerful steam pump at work. Her preservation from first to last has been remarkable. As she is almost a new vessel, and very valuable, her loss would have been considerable to all concerned. Her starboard side is not damaged in the least, but much of her cargo has been submerged in salt water.

☞ A three-years old Steer, belonging to Samuel W. Norton, Esq., of Cape Neddick, Me., wandered away from home during the late snow-storm, and upon searching for him, was discovered in an old well, (so long unused as to have been forgotten,) dead, having slippind in backwards. It would not be a bad idea to fill up such a place.

☞ McFarland, the drunken murderer of Albert D. Richardson, is said to be "insane" once more, and to be confined in a New York madhouse. It is not stated that he has assassinated anybody this time. The suit to annul his wife's divorce has been annulled.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

		Difference in Gold	Incr'd annual Int. Exchange.	upon investment.
6's, '81, Coupon,		$232.50	3.35	per cent. gold
5-20's, '62, "	6 per cts.	175.00	2.19	" "

10-40's, "	"	165.00	2.36	" "
Central Pacific's	"	39.00	1.29	" "

The cash difference paid on some of the above will be somewhat modified after the payment of the January coupons.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,
Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

Cashier First National Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

COMPLETION

OF THE

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,

COUPON OR REGISTERED,

FREE OF U. S. TAX,

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,

ON A FINISHED ROAD.

FOR SALE

At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

The last rail of this important road was laid on the 26th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles shorter than any existing route and 65 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.

By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central or any other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.

The D. C. R. & M. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $40,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscription to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Towns and Counties through which the Road passes, which have enabled the system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.

The earnings of the Road in its incomplete condition, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When is added to this lucrative way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as heretofore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.

A small amount, $400,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect rapid sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.

All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

this vale of tears. But you'll know her in heaven, if you behave yourself well enough to get there, by her wings; she'll have the biggest of any of them, seeing they're commenced to sprout on earth."

And thus rallying his thoroughly captivated friend, the two made their way to the house of an acquaintance, with whom they were to remain that night, and go on the next day to their destination—St. Louis.

After the first salutation, our hero went to his room, to remove some of the evidence of his long ride from New York. He had removed his coat, vest and collar; he had splashed and soaped washed, till his damp curls clung close to his shapely head; when he made a startling discovery.

Flushed and breathless he burst into the next room, upon his friend.

"Townsend," cried he, "what upon earth do you suppose? I've changed baggage with the Angel of Mercy. Look at that slipper. See that thimble. Contemplate that glove."

"It's evident you've got the lady's satchel. And what was there in your own?"

"Don't bring up that dreadful idea," said Dick. "Cigars and a hair brush, a pack of cards and a comb, pocket-flask and a tooth brush—everything disreputable. If I am judged by that bag, I'm a lost man."

"And this I took for a clean shirt," and Dick held up a frilled and fluted sack, such as do duty for more extensive silk dresses with ladies when travelling. "I'd like to see Angelica when she opens my satchel."

And Dick fell to musing, with the slipper perched on two fingers, and the frilled white sack spread out tenderly upon his knees.

* * * * * *

In an upper apartment of a handsome mansion in St. Louis, on the evening of the day our heroine first made the reader's acquaintance, beautiful Belle Alden, the petted and only daughter of the house, sat contemplating the various articles her confidential maid was disposing upon the table—articles taken from no less a receptacle than Dick Marcy's travelling bag.

The cards and cigar case lay side by side, and a highly scented party they were.

"What's in the little silver flask, Rosa?" said the fair mistress.

"Brandy, ma'am," replied the maid.

"He cannot be very dissipated, to travel with such a little bottle. That is in case of sickness I suppose," returned Belle.

"It's my belief," said Rosa, who was a shrewd girl, "that the gentleman was a mighty nice one, else you would not so readily excuse the cards and the bottle."

"For shame, Rosa. All gentlemen play euchre travelling, and even clergymen take a little brandy in case of sickness. And this gentleman was a gentleman, and a liberal one, too, for he gave the poor emigrant woman ten dollars. What, is that Rosa?"

For, at that moment, Rosa held between her fingers a letter.

SAN DOMINGO.—The question of the annexation of this island to the United States has caused great conflicts and the fiercest debates in Congress. In all that has been said, and in the long newspaper discussions, we have not seen any account of the history of the place, nor of its present condition.

We will not go into it largely at this time, as in our judgement there is little prospect of its annexation. It may be said that it is one of the West India islands, and was discovered by Columbus on his first voyage in 1492. He first landed at St. Salvador, and then sailed south to what is now San Domingo. It became independent some years ago, and has a Minister at Washington. Its population is 136,000. The religion is Roman Catholic, only 1000 being Protestants. The number of square miles is 838. It is only a part of the island, and is quite small for one State if annexed,—small indeed for two States as some have proposed. J.

☞ Much excitement exists in Brooklyn, N. Y., on account of a mania which has sprung up among boys to stab women, over a dozen cases having been reported within ten weeks, five of them serious. The latest attempt was on Saturday night, Jan. 28, when a boy attacked a Mrs. Veryian and attempted to stab her, but was frightened away by her screams. $250 reward is offered for the detection of the young wretch. Since the foregoing was in type, we read that a German girl was stabbed twice by a boy, on Feb. 1st; he was pursued but escaped.

☞ The name of Brooks, whose admission to the Arkansas Senate created great excitement, has been striken from the rolls, and his credentials referred to the proper committee. The articles of impeachment against Lieut. Gov. Johnson, for illegally swearing Brooks in, have been indefinitely postponed.

☞ Prince Charles of Roumania is threatening to abdicate his throne, the constitution being too liberal. Turkey is said to intend occupying the Danubian principalities in case Prince Charles resigns.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of mankind, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough kind of feeling in the throat, it is the best remedy that can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

THE LATE JAMES BLUDSO, ESQ.

BY A DISGUSTED ENGINEER.

I've read that screed about Bludso,
Who run on the Prairie Belle;
Whether him or the man that wrote it,
Was the biggest fool I can't tell,
But there's one thing that's dead certain,
The fellow who spun that yarn,
Knows more about haystacks than smokestacks,
And I think that he'd better larn—

Before writing of boats and engines,
And engineer's work and the like,
A safety valve from a throttle,
Or New York slang from Pike.
And as for a couple of wives or so,
And things as bad or worse,
I hold those are private matters,
And not fit subjects for verse.

What I look at is the foolishness,
That he puts in an engineer's lips,
About "holding her nozzle agin the bank,"
And the way that he passed in his chips.
Does he think that a greaser uses a pole,
To poke a steamer along?
Don't he know that an engine 'll go herself,
If you open the throttle strong?

A man that runs on the Mississip,
Has trouble and worry enough,
Without being saddled after he's dead,
With a lot of disgusting stuff;
Why a fellow that didn't know more than him,
He couldn't have held a place,
On a "wheelbarrow" boat to tow coal scows,
Much more on a packet to race.

If he had "seen his duty" at all,
He'd have known that he could do more,
By letting up on that "yelling" of his,
And helping the others ashore."
But if he was such a dod rotted ass,
As to stay and be cooked that night,
I know what a Pike county verdict would be,
'Twould be "served the derned fool just right."
—Prov. Herald. P. T.

—The personal appeals by ladies to the New Haven liquor-sellers to close their places on Sunday having failed, they caused prosecutions against eight offenders. The court ruled that the places could not be kept open on Sunday for any purpose, notwithstanding one of them produced testimony to show that he lived in the same building, and could not carry on his housekeeping unless he used his bar-room and the front door leading thereto. This has been a favorite dodge of the New Haven saloon-keepers, and this unexpected decision will be the means of closing all the drinking-places on Sunday.

—Here is another item for the woman's rights ladies: "In the Ushant isles," says Michelet, "the girls unblushingly make the marriage proposal; woman there becomes harder than man, and even taller and stronger." Girls who are inclined to say "you sha'n't," should take warning from the character of the Ushant women.—Chicago Mail.

—Governor Merrill, of Iowa, on lately addressing the inmates of the State penitentiary, began with the awkward remark that "he was glad to see so many there." He afterwards took it all back with as good grace as possible.

—The Atlanta Sun asks: "Why are we not today the riches people in the world?" The Louisville Journal presumes it is chiefly because there are other people in the world who have the advantage of us in point of property.

—It is a curious fact that most of the great musical composers have been childless. Handel, Haydn, Beethoven, Corelli, Pergolesi, Rossini, Spontini, Auber, Wagner and Schumann are among the instances.

—The rich Democrats controling the Erie Railroad pay their lawyers enormous fees, but do not pay off their poor laborers and workmen during the two hardest winter months.

—The inquiry as to where all the pins go to has been satisfactorily answered. The theory now is that they go into the ground and become terra-pins.

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills, are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH
cannot be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of CUTANEOUS AFFECTION. It speedily eradicates PIMPLES, SPOTS, SCORBUTIC DRYNESS, INDURATIONS of the CUTANEOUS MEMBRANE, etc., dispels REDNESS and INCIPIENT INFLAMMATION, HIVES, RASH, MOTH PATCHES, DRYNESS OF SCALP OR SKIN, FROST BITES, and all purposes for which SALVES or OINTMENTS are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a TOILET APPENDAGE of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, SAFETY and EFFICACY—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation; used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1871.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Feb. 2, Mr. Saulsbury of Delaware, being in the condition for which he has made a national reputation already, moved to reconsider the vote on the resolutions expressing sympathy with France. One senator voted to reconsider, — the gentleman from Delaware.

The committee on naval affairs held a long session for the consultation of the House bill regulating rank in the navy. It was finally concluded that the Secretary of the Navy should be instructed to forward to the committee all information in his possession on this subject, together with whatever private recommendations he might see fit to make.

The committee heard a number of naval officers in opposition to favorable action on the line and staff bill.

The House finally defeated the St. Croix Railroad bill.

THE WAR.

Gambetta seems anxious to prolong the contest, as also does the city of Bordeaux.

The Prussian General Manteuffel refuses to respect the armistice, and 80,000 of Bourbaki's men have been driven into Switzerland. 15,000 of that army have been captured, with 10 guns, 7 mitrailleuses and 2 eagles. 8000 men have escaped and are moving on Lyons, with Manteuffel in pursuit. Gen. Bourbaki is recovering.

☞ The coppery papers have a vast deal to say about "radical corruption" in connection with land grants, leading the ignorant of their party—and that takes in a good many of 'em—to suppose that the pure democracy never gave away an acre. But a Connecticut Representative made a vigorous speech in the House, on the St. Croix Railroad bill, in reply to the standard democratic fustian that the radical party is wholly responsible for the large grants of land made by this Congress, showing that for the largest grant ever made—that for the Northern Pacific Railroad — twenty democrats voted, who with those who refrained from voting constitute the majority of the democratic side; while the leader of the northwestern democracy, Mr. Eldridge, was the prominent advocate of the bill before the House.

A GREAT SUCCESS.—The following, from Burlington, Iowa, Jan. 26, announces the successful completion of an important line of railroad:—

The last rail was laid and the last spike was driven on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railway, near Solon, to-day. This completes the Grand Trunk of a Railway which brings St. Louis and St. Paul 90 miles nearer than ever before, and shortens by 40 miles the route from St. Paul to Chicago. A contract has been made between the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad and this new road, whereby the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad sets apart forty per cent. of the gross earnings on business received from the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railway, to be invested at par in the First Mortgage Bonds of the latter road. When it is known in the market that, in this way, James F. Joy of Detroit buys the bonds, this road every day, few will hesitate to take the security.

Three trains between St. Paul, St. Louis and Chicago run daily. Henry Clews & Co., Bankers, New York, are the Financial Agents of the Company, and meet with success in the sale of these bonds.

—The funeral of Jimmy Haggerty, of Philadelphia, was a grand travesty upon his life and death. Murdered in a drunken brawl for the simple reason that he was not quick enough to save his own life by himself committing murder, he was buried with honors not often accorded men who have done as much to bless society as he has done to curse it. White flowers were heaped over the coffin containing the body of the murdered ruffian, a large cross of solid silver lay upon the rosewood casket in which the remains were inclosed, and thousands of interested dwellers in the Quaker City, with sympathizers from New York, gathered to take a last look at his rough features. White crape shrouded the body, with fragrant roses and wreaths of immortelles. Four horses, with plumes of white and black, drew the hearse, and seventy carriages followed to the cemetery. This was the last tribute to a man whose life and whose death were equally inglorious; whose only benefit to society was conferred when he violently left it; and yet whose decease brought together the largest crowd of men, women, and children in Philadelphia since the body of President Lincoln lay in state in that city. But there is no one of whom, years hence, some good may not be said, and if Jimmy Haggerty his Philadelphian eulogists remark that except when drunk he never attempted to murder any one.

—A teacher, catechising his scholars, put the following question: "What was made to give light to the world?" "Matches!" cried one of the youngsters, after a short pause.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

COMFORT is a great desideratum in our necessary clothing. Every one dreads the "breaking-in" of a new boot, and the economical have a holy horror of the "breaking-out" of an old one. The goods fastened with CABLE SCREW WIRE are not only perfectly easy on the first trial, but they never rip until the substance of the sole is entirely worn away. May be procured of all first-class dealers.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as any body." Try it.

Don't think because snuffs and strong or poisonous solutions will not cure Catarrh, that you cannot be cured. The proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offers $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure. It costs but fifty cents for a package which prepares one full pint. Sold by druggists, or send sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., and get it through the mail. A pamphlet free. The Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private U. S. Government stamp on each package.

Suggestions of the Season.

Thousands regard the winter as a season of trials; and the truth is, that if there is a weak point in the system, winter is pretty sure to find it out. Constitutional tendencies to disease are generally aggravated by damp and cold. (Rheumatism sometimes lies perdu all the summer and fall, to pounce upon its victims in the season of cold.) As a means of fortifying the body against all the diseases which prevail most extensively in winter, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS cannot be too urgently recommended. There would be fewer cases of the pulmonary complaints tending to consumption, if all feeble systems were invigorated during the season with a course of this inestimable vegetable tonic and alterative. Constipation, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and a general sluggishness of the secretive organs, very generally prevail at this period of the year. To all these ailments experience (the most trustworthy of all mentors) teaches us that the Bitters is a reliable remedy. Warm clothing is a good external defence against atmospheric cold and moisture, but vigorous activity in the vital organization which generates heat and delivers it to the surface, is also essential to health, and this activity is secured through the operation of the Bitters. The skin sympathizes with the stomach, and if digestion is regular and perfect, the exterior circulation will be brisk, and damp and cold may be encountered with comparative safety.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF

HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To feet, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application's
Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure,
And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub
For in that time what misfortunes may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil
Does make me pause, tightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a totally hopeless case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a place which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible for cold to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when that is the case, they will see some increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reason for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, & disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw an average of one hundred and five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that native of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southernmost part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily cured as I regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, a cure will be effected, if cure is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then allows the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free or a mild cathartic pill is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach, and get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, night creeping chills and night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for them? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise in the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as he may feel inclined to, which will keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is easily cured in any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by the three.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should have a supply on hand. Invaluable! They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its baleful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a cathartic medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa threatens, a dose of Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you without pain

☞ The next lecture in the Kittery Lyceum course at Armory Hall will be delivered by Ex-Gov. Chamberlain of Maine, on the "Battle of Gettysburg" or the "Surrender of Lee." The last lecture was by Rev. C. M. Dinsmore of this city, on "An hour with the Philosphers," and is highly complimented by those who heard it, as a very interesting and instructive discourse.

....It is stated that the Unitarian church in this city is the oldest of that denomination in the State, having been organized in 1715. The North Parish of this city was founded in 1671, and incorporated in 1816. The first church built here by the Universalists was in 1784. The Episcopal society was incorporated 1791. The Middle St. Baptist church was incorporated 1827 and organized the following year. The first church for the Methodists was built in 1827. The Christian and Pearl Street Free Will Baptist Societies, Second Advent and Catholic Churches were organized many years later. The ten churches of our city are in a prosperous condition, and their mission work has done great good in times past, as now.

GAS.—The Nashua Telegraph wonders why gas should cost $4.25 per 1000 cubic feet in that place, while Manchester people only have to pay $3.50 per 1000 feet, and but $3 if the gas bills are settled monthly. We would like to solve the conundrum for the Telegraph, but can't do it, any more than we can explain why gas should be so much dearer in Portsmouth than in Manchester. Perhaps the latter is caused by the extra difficulty in getting coal to this city.

....In the window of the grocery store of Lafayette Laighton, is to be seen a specimen of some of the bark taken from the "Big Tree" of California, now on exhibition in Boston. The giant from which the sample was taken, measured 46 feet in circumference and 302 feet in height, and is estimated to be nearly three thousand years old. Five men worked twenty-five days in cutting it down. Thirty-two people can dance with ease upon the stump. A newspaper, the "Big Tree Bulletin," was printed in a house built upon it. The thickest piece of the bark taken from the monster measured two feet through, the specimen in Mr. Laighton's widow, being, of itself, an evidence of the wonderful works of nature.

THEATRE.—On Monday evening next, Feb. 6, Mr. John Murray will appear again at the Temple in his celebrated character, "Rip Van Winkle," in which he is second only to Mr. Joe Jefferson. Those of our readers who have once witnessed his splendid impersonation of the jovial, good-natured, drunken Rip, will only need to learn of his reappearance to pay him another visit; and we assure those who have not seen him in this play, that they can enjoy some genuine acting by taking a seat at the Temple on Monday evening—such acting as is rarely seen outside of first-class theatres in large cities. See adv't.

OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE.—A quiet citizen of Portsmouth recently had a letter returned to him from the Post Office, to be postage-stamped; and as he was confident that he had put three cents' worth of the article on the letter once already, he got kind of mad, stuck two-cent and three-cent stamps on the note wherever there was room, and wrote on one corner of the envelope as follows:—

"The postage on this letter is paid, if the —— postage stamps only stick,—mind that, old Post Office."

The post officials are too courteous to treat any civil message with contempt, and the irate letter-writer was soon soothed by the reception of the following communication:—

"Old Post Office" acknowledges the payment of postage on letter addressed to Miss —— of ——, and suggests that the correspondent request his friends to put triple postage on all letters they write, as it will be of great benefit to the U. S. Government. O. P. O.

—One thing that is noticeable on the streets, especially evenings, is the crowds of loafers who gather on the corners of the streets, to insult every lady who passes. By reference to another part of our local columns, it will be seen that one of these scamps has been brought to justice, and if the nuisance is contined, this case will be only the forerunner of others.—Biddeford Journal.

The scamp mentioned was fined some $8.25 for his trouble in ornamenting the street corners with his pitiful carcase. Our heart warms toward the Biddeford magistrate who fined him, and we hope he'll do so some more,—for our own streets are too much pestered with crowds of street loafers for us to have sympathy for the troubles of any of the genus. The "cold snap" did manage to abate the nuisance somewhat, but unfortunately the thermometer does not always mark 8 below zero, and the nuisances muster in crowds as soon as the weather moderates. Cannot Portsmouth follow the virtuous example of Biddeford, and fine a few of them? or hang them—or something?

☞ Mr. Geo. W. Butler has been elected Assistant Cashier of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank, and Mr. Joseph Grace, Teller.

☞ The Mechanics and Traders' Bank have petitioned to withdraw their petition for the bankruptcy of Francis Skinner & Co. of Boston.

☞ A seal, weighing about 100 lbs., was brought in on Thursday evening by the fishing schooner Celia, having been found on a set-line hook, dead, near the Shoals. The line had been set two days, and the unlucky seal had propably attempted to filch a fish from it, but got caught himself. He attracted some attention on Friday, in front of Mr. John Stockell's store on Market Street.

MIXED UP A LITTLE.—Our good friend who batters "democratic thunder" out of the local copper kettle, on Friday drummed out his regular weekly tune, accompanying his instrumental performance with his regular song about "economy," "clique," "party whips," etc.,—which amuses him and hurts no one.

The "spendthrift clique" is composed of Messrs. Marvin, Fernald, Giddings, Waldron and the Mayor; these were all that "would tread up square under the party whip" and "must be made to put the programme through," which they did "without any kicking in the traces." The Mayor read the following:—"Voted, That J. Horace Kent be, and hereby is, appointed City Marshal." Mr. Fernald called for the yeas and nays, and "the vote stood a tie, Aldermen Giddings, Fernald, Waldron and Marvin voting yes, and Aldermen Mendum, Annable, Wendell and Hatch voting no. The Mayor voted yes."

It is too bad that the kettle-drummer should have wasted so much real good indignation against the "clique" he picked out with such care—but the yeas were Ald. Fernald, Annable, Mendum and Giddings; and Messrs. Marvin and Waldron, "under the partly whip" and "without kicking in the traces," voted no, with Messrs. Wendell and Hatch. But such trifling inaccuracies in mere statements of facts don't trouble our friend the drummer—he's so used to making them that he don't mind it a bit. But he needn't throw away his thunder altogether—he can keep his "clique" and "party whip" to use the next time Messrs. Marvin and Waldron vote against his economists.

—Mr. Tweed has introduced a bill in the New York senate prohibiting the employment of Chinese or cooly labor, saying that he did so at the request of the working-men of New York, and he was not prepared to say that he was in favor of it. The bill invalidates all existing contracts for cooly labor and carries a penalty of one year's imprisonmentand $1000 fine.

To forbid a man to hire another, under a heavy penalty for so doing, is a "just protection to the working man." But to forbid him to sell the working man stuff that will make him wretched and poor, a nuisance to himself and to others, and quite possibly a criminal, is an "infamous outrage on personal liberty." Bah!

☞ As David M. Webber was riding down the hill leading to Rice's Bridge in York, Me., the breeching gave way, starting the horse (which was a young one) into a run down a steep bank. Mr. W., fearing he would run into the river, managed to throw the horse into a ditch; but before he could secure him, he cleared himself from the wagon, which was a complete wreck, and ran a short distance, when he was stopped uninjured. Mr. W. came off unharmed, which is a wonder, considering the danger to which he was exposed.

—A gentleman, if aggrieved, has a right to pull a blackguard's ears, but he should not cut them off. They should be left on for the accomodation of other aggrieved persons.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have how built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.
Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

COMPLETION
—OF THE—
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.
THE FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,
COUPON OR REGISTERED,
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ON A FINISHED ROAD.
—FOR SALE—
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
The last rail of this important road was laid on the 20th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles shorter than any existing route and 65 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.
By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central or any other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.
The B. C. R. & M. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $40,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscription to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Towns and Counties through which the Road passes, which have adopted this system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.
The earnings of the Road in its incomplete state, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When is added to this lucrative way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as heretofore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.
The small amount, $400,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect rapid sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.
All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from yesterday.

BELLE ALDEN'S TRAVELLING BAG.

Whether it was wrong to read a stranger's letter vexed Belle for a moment, as her eyes glanced at the superscription and handwriting.

"Why, of all things!" exclaimed the delighted girl, seizing the letter. "Why Rosa, this is Jenny Marcy's writing, and addressed to Richard Marcy, her darling brother, who was in Europe when we two graduated at Madam Ritter's, in Brooklyn."

Belle read rapidly until she reached the middle of the letter, when she burst into a merry laugh.

"Hear this, Rosa," she said, and she read from the letter.

"Above all things, Dick, dear, don't fail, while in St. Louis, to see my best friend and school-mate, Belle Alden. I known you will fall in love with her, for, besides being the best girl in the world she's a beauty and an heiress, and father's choice, above all others for his son's wife. He used to talk it over at home, and hope dear Belle would not marry before you came home from Europe. She is full as anxious to know you, and wears your hair and mine in a locket father gave to her last year. Give her lots of love, and beg of her to overlook your many imperfections, for the sake of her old school-fellow, Jenny."

"Then this gentleman is, of course, Miss Jenny's brother," said Rosa, "and what will she say when she hears of your having met in this romantic manner?"

"I don't intend to tell her of it till I go to New York this fall. Perhaps her brother will call," said Belle.

But in this supposition Belle was wrong. The month passed, and she saw no more of the golden-headed Richard.

And she carefully separated the yellow lock in the little keepsake from the dark tress of Jenny's and put it back into its place alone, while another locket held the bit of Jenny's. And, somehow, Belle looked very often at the wee golden curl, and she never did so but the rest of the handsome head sprang up beside the lock; and she would sit and contemplate the picture her fancy wrought for her, little dreaming the interest she was allowing to grow in her bosom for Jenny's brother.

In the fall, Belle and her father went to New York, and the first day after her arrival, found her sitting with her old friend, who after the first effusive meeting was past, sat down to empty her soul.

"I'm so glad you are here this month," Jenny said, "because I'm to be married in October, and I have always been crazy to have you for a bride's-maid, and Dick is to be Harry's best man."

Belle blushed.

"But Dick has fallen hopelessly, madly in love!"

Belle turned pale.

"Yes, I was so dreadfully provoked when he passed through St. Louis, and never went near you. But he went wild over some lady he met on that fatal trip."

He will talk by the hours of his Angellica. And when I have spoken of you he has been positively rude, and asked me to have done bothering him about my freckled school friends—you know your picture shows freckles; but bless me, you haven't any now! And your picture don't look any more like you than it does like me, not a bit."

"But, tell me," said Belle, "is your brother engaged to this lady?"

"Engaged! Why, dear heart, he don't know her name. He just found some of her old clothes somewhere. He's got her old slippers under a glass case; he's got her gloves stuffed under another; he's got her night-gown done up in lavender; he's got her gold thimble hung on his watch chain; and I do believe he's got a hair brush and some hair pins next to his heart. Oh! it's folly to interfere! He's beyond all hope! I did think the excitement of my wedding would wean him from it; but not a bit. He looks at my new things as calmly as an oyster, and only said—it's not not kind of you to repeat it, though," broke off Jenny.

"What," was it he said?" inquired Belle, laughing now heartily. "Don't fear for my feelings."

"Why," he said, "I'll stand up with your friend, Belle, and see you safely married; and then I'm off to winter in Paris. I'm done with love on my own account. It's positively awful."

And so Belle thought, as she looked at her old slipper and glove lying beneath a globe on either side the faithful Richard's mantle.

"And," said Belle, "since he desires only to meet me on the morning of the wedding, so it shall be. I will be introduced only as we are leaving the house, and he can do as he pleases about continuing the acquaintance afterwards."

Belle was radiant with happiness when she returned to her father, and delighted his fond heart by the change, for Belle had been very quiet of late.

Jenny and Belle shopped and talked and visited together for the next few days, and when the eventful morning arrived, and amid a bevy of beautiful girls, Belle shone like a queen, the bride was eclipsed, and delighted in it.

"O, Belle!" she said; "I long to have old stoical Dick see you—Hark! there's his step. Come into the next room, and be introduced. Don't wait till the carriages come—it's an hour yet."

And Belle with a beating heart, swept through the door and stood even as Dick first saw her, only, in place of a gray travelling dress, a magnificent white satin fell in rich folds about her, and upon her lovely white throat lay the turquois locket that held Dick's golden curl. Upon the beautiful head, crowned by its chestnut hair, a coronet of pearls added to the grace and beauty of an image that, shrined in Dick's heart, was already an angel.

Belle did not look up, but she felt the presence, as Richard Marcy came up and was introduced to little Jenny's old schoolmate. Then, as he held out his hand, she raised her eyes, and laying her tiny palm in his, said:

"I think we had better rectify that mistake about the travelling-bags, Mr. Marcy!"

"Good Heaven, Jenny!" said Dick Marcy. "Why didn't you tell me that your friend Belle was my Angel of Mercy?"

"Because I didn't know till last night, and then Belle made me promise not to tell. And besides, you didn't want the freckled school girl till it was positively necessary," returned Jenny.

It would be hard to say which of the four that made Jenny's bridal party was the happiest that day.

Dick did not go to Paris that winter. He found that St. Louis contained more attractions than any foreign city.

But the next fall will see Dick and Belle on their wedding tour, and he vows he will have the two old romantic travelling bags brushed up for the occasion. Doctor Townsend, who is to go along, says he knew the minute he saw the girl, she would one day be Angelica Marcy, as he "felt it in the air."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else can reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, this is the same remedy.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large doses and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

☞ The following Hymn was written for the semi-centennial anniversary of the Universalist Church at Boston Highlands, Jan. 4th, 1871, by Mrs. Jane L. Patterson, formerly of this city:

Our fathers saw the vision bright,
Which came to Jacob while he slept,
And marked the dawning of the light,
Like him, with vows inviolate kept.

"God's house" arose, a pillar fair
Of faith, which knows no shadows dim,
A ladder from the altar stair,
To heights of perfect bliss with Him.

And where in gracious ministry,
The angels go, and come again,
And God above it, tenderly
Sends down his promises to men.

Along the years we count to-day,
What hosts these hallowed aisles have pressed,
Who here have found the shining way,—
The very gate of heavenly rest.

For all thy gifts, O God, to us,
A people blest beyond compare,
Our grateful hearts in sacred trust,
Would onward still the vision bear.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 28.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

PROF. DYER H. SANBORN.—Gilmanton was granted to 24 persons named Gilman, of Exeter and vicinity, and 153 others. It was chartered May 20, 1727. The name in the charter is Gilmantown, from Gilman, so numerous among the proprietors; afterwards "ton" was substituted for "town." It was not settled until 1761.

Dyer Hook Sanborn was born in Gilmanton, July 29, 1799. The town was large, including what is now Gilford, and at the time of his birth had a population of 3500.

An Academy was chartered in the town in 1794, and went into operation in 1795. When Mr. Sanborn was of suitable age he entered the Academy, and continued three years, when he was prepared for college. After this he continued his studies, going over much of a collegiate course. He then engaged in teaching, which became his life work. For the first years he was in Salem, Lynn, and Marblehead, Mass. Then in Meredith, Sanbornton, New London, Washington, Pittsfield and perhaps other places in New Hampshire.

In 1836 he published a grammar, which as opportunity afforded, he had been 12 years in preparing. It was called "An Analytical Grammar." Waterville college conferred on him the honorary degree of A. M. in 1833 and Dartmouth college the same in 1841.

He was Representative in the legislature from Sanbornton in 1845 and '46. Also Representative from Washington in 1850. He was a delegate from Washington in the Constitutional Convention of 1850.

In 1856 he had a clerkship in one of the departments at the seat of the National Government at Washington. He did not find this congenial to his tastes, came back, and was for a time engaged as professor in Teachers' Institutes. He was admirably adapted to this, having been School Commissioner of Sullivan County in 1850 and '51.

In 1868 he was appointed Post-master of Hopkinton, and this place was his home till death.

Prof. Sanborn married, in 1826, Miss Harriet W. Tucker, who survives him. One of his brothers was Prof. E. D. Sanborn of Dartmouth college.

Prof. Sanborn for several of his last years was engaged in preparing a Genealogy of the Sanborn Family in America. Two years ago he informed me that he had carried it through eight generations; it was nearly complete, and he hoped it would be published. Probably it has never gone to press, but we hope it will. It will be useful to the extensive Sanborn Family and other connections.

Prof. Sanborn died Jan. 14, of this year, aged 71.

THE STAGE.—The Christian Union says, when Dr. Bellows, a few years since, made a notable move toward a social and ecclesiastical recognition of the stage and its professors, as among the great moral agencies in the elevation and purification of mankind, sock and buskin exulted; dramatic associations complimented the Doctor on his truly enlightened and charitable Christianity, and then forthwith turned the stopcock of damnation, and let in upon the town a cataract of blond wigs, ballet-legs and French opera bouffe, which has done more to demoralize and debauch our youth than the "legitimate drama," granting all the beneficence it claims for itself, can undo in a generation.

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills, are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE, ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a TOILET APPENDAGE of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, SAFETY and EFFICACY—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an Injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation; used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1871.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Feb. 3, the bill granting pensions to persons concerned in the war of 1812 was amended and passed.

The House went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill, which appropriates $19,333,111. The discussion took the usual range concerning the coast survey, League Island and New London navy-yards, &c.; but without disposing of the bill the committee rose.

The Senate joint resolutions for the relief of sufferers by the war in Europe were passed.

THE WAR.

The election in Paris was to take place Feb. 5, and in the provinces Feb. 8. All the conditions are grossly in favor of the Republicans. The opposition demand fair play.

Bordeaux is still enraged at Favre, and will support Gambetta, Flourens, Thiers, Grery and Rollin for the national assembly.

The Germans will ignore any election in Alsace.

The condition of Paris is terrible. The populace are violently excited against England. Favre has requested the German authorities not to allow any Englishmen to enter. He considers their lives unsafe.

J. C. Gunther is on his way to Paris with despatches for Minister Washburne, and the funds contributed by Americans at Dresden for the assistance of their countrymen in Paris.

In the east the fighting still continues. Bourbaki's army is destroyed, and Garibaldi is retreating. Bismark offered to include the eastern department in the armistice, but Favre refused, as the surrender of Belfort was one of the conditions.

The London Times denounces the terms offered by Germany as exorbitant. Prussia has called out 300,000 more men, and will wage the war relentlessly if peace does not result from the armistice.

RELIEF FOR FRANCE.—The Boston committee having in charge the raising of funds to load a ship with breadstuffs and provision for the suffering people of France, report the receipt of subscriptions to the amount of $29,291.67, in sums from $50 to $5000. Any amount, however small, will be received by the treasurer of the committee, Mr. P. T. Jackson, No. 24 Franklin Street, Boston. As the government will undoubtedly furnish a ship, the stores can probably be landed and distributed in France at a cost scarcely beyond the original price of the flour here. Every one should bear in mind that eight dollars will send a barrel of flour to a peasantry now reduced to the utmost poverty, and to whom charity offers the only rescue from starvation.

BOLD BANK ROBBERY. — About 7 o'clock P. M., Feb. 2, three men disguised as policemen went to the Kensington Bank, Philadelphia, called out the watchman and told him the bank was to be robbed that night, and they had been detailed to remain in the bank to capture the robbers. The watchman admitted them and was immediately overpowered, gagged and handcuffed. The thieves failed to open Lillie's safe, containing the bank funds, but broke in another, containing a large amount of property belonging to customers, including coupon and registered bonds, money and other valuables. They made a clean sweep of all the convertible property, the amount of which cannot as yet be ascertained. The bank is not responsible for this class of deposits, which are only taken for the convenience of customers. The robbers worked from 7 P. M. to 3 o'clock next morning, going through the boxes systematically and rejecting all the unconvertible property. The amount taken was about $65,000 in coupon and government bonds. The vault of the bank was damaged so that it could not be opened next day, disarranging business considerably.

☞ Antonio Millan, the Peruvian agent for the purchase of iron-clads in this country, has recovered $73,000 from Captain John Graham, for false imprisonment in consequence of Millan's alleged failure to perform a certain part of an agreement in the transfer of monitors.

☞ The Virginia court of appeals has granted a new trial to George Chahoon, ex-mayor of Richmond, sentenced by a lower court to five years imprisonment for forgery. His first trial was a farce on justice, and was instigated by political malice.

—Objects of interest—Bills payable.

DR. HELMBOLD, the great druggist and monarch of "Buchu," has amassed a vast fortune by his enterprise and energy in his business. Seven years ago he had $20,000; now he has an immense "pile," and owns $80,000 worth of horses and carriages alone. He is emphatically a self-made man, and is fully alive to the advantages of judicious and persistent advertising. The merits of "Buchu" are set forth in 3,150 newspapers. He buys his own merchandise, and contracts for his advertising in such a manner that he is prepared to discount at seven per cent. per annum any obligation that may be presented. He has recently held a grand reception at his medical palace—for it is no less, unless all the New York papers tell fibs—and Our Society, the leading New York fashion paper, has an elborate account of it, and of his splendid business establishment as well. It says that the visitor to any of Helmbold's establishments may feel morally confident that he will be treated well; that he will be waited upon with alacrity, tact, urbanity and intelligence; and that he will escape that artistic snubbery which is so often practiced by the subordinates of important and celebrated establishments. He is to open two other big establishments soon, one in New York and one in Philadelphia. We do not marvel at his success in business, for any man who has a good thing to offer to the public, and who in addition knows how to advertise judiciously, and does advertise to such a vast amount as does the Buchu king, must succeed; but we are greatly puzzled to account for a man with so much brains being a democrat.

A BRAVE GIRL.—Our heroine lived in Bartlett, N. H., and was a descendant of the old Crawfords. Her father was a Crawford, and followed the profession of a guide among the mountains. Her name was Bessie, and she was the only daughter remaining at home—a dark-eyed, brown-haired girl, of slight but compact frame, just entering her nineteenth year. Her mother had been dead several years, and upon her devolved the whole care of the household.

One day, late in summer, Mr. Crawford went with a party of travellers away to the headwaters of one of the many mountain streams that enter the Saco, and Bessie was left alone. Even the dogs had all gone with the pleasure seekers. Near the middle of the afternoon, while the girl was sitting by an open window, a man came up from the road and asked her if she would give him a drink of water. Bessie had seen this man before, and did not like his looks. He was a stout, broad-shouldered, ill-favored fellow, and the bits of moss and spikes of the pines upon his clothes indicated that he had slept in the woods.

But Bessie did not hesitate. She laid aside her work and went to get the water. When she came back the man had entered the room. She did not like this, for she was sure that he must have come in by the window; but she handed him the dipper without remark. The man drank, and then set the dipper down on the table. Then he turned upon the girl and drew a broad bladed knife from his pocket.

"Look ye, my young lady," he said, "I know there's money in this house, and I know you are alone. Show me where the money is! If you don't I shall kill you, and then hunt it up myself! I'm in earnest, and there ain't no time to waste. Don't make a fuss, for if you do you'll feel this knife quick."

Bessie shrank back and looked in the man's face, and could see that he meant just what he said.

"If I show you where the money is, will you promise to do me no harm?"

"Show me honest, and I won't harm you."

"Then come with me. But you will not take my father's papers?"

"Only the money, girl."

Bessie led the way to a small bedroom on the ground floor, where there was an old mahogany bureau, the upper drawer of which she unlocked. The man, when he saw this, thinking, doubtless, that Crawford's gold was within his grasp, shut up his knife and put it into his pocket. The girl opened the drawer, and quick as thought drew forth a heavy navy revolver—one with which she herself had killed a trapped bear—and cocked it.

"Villain!" she exclaimed, planting her back against the wall, and aiming the weapon at his bosom, "many a wild beast have I shot with this good pistol, and I'll shoot you if you don't instantly leave this house! I will give you not even a second! Start, or I fire!"

The ruffian could read human looks as well as could the maiden, and he could read very plainly in the firm set lips and in the flashing eyes—but more clearly in the steady hand which held the pistol—that she would not only fire, as she had promised, but her aim would be a sure and fatal one.

And he backed out from the bed-room—backed into the sitting-room—then leaped from the window and disappeared.

Bessie kept her pistol by her side until her father and his guests came home; and when she had told her story, search was made for the ruffian. But he was not found. Our heroine had so thoroughly frightened him that he never came that way again.

☞ There has been a great demonstration in Brussels, Belgium, in favor of the temporal power of the Pope. Immense numbers of pilgrims from all parts of Belgium traversed the streets, singing litanies.

☞ The sheriff of San Diego, (Cal.) county and party have killed two and captured four of a gang of horse thieves and recovered 53 horses. MEAD'S STATUE OF LINCOLN.—The work upon which the Ames company of Chicopee are at present specially engaged in the casting department, is one in which the nation will take a deep interest, because it commemorates more faithfully and appropriately than has ever been done before, the martyr president Abraham Lincoln. The statue, cast after a model sent from Florence by Arthur G. Mead, the sculptor, is to be placed on the monument erected by the Lincoln National Monument Association at Springfield, Illinois; the monument itself, which is of granite, consists of a broad base, then a pedestal, and finally a shaft, the whole to rise 60 feet. On the pedestal in front of the shaft stands Lincoln, 12 1-2 feet high, with the emancipation parchment extended in his hand. At each of the four corners of the pedestal are four other columns of pedestals, supporting as many symbolic bronze groups of Peace, War, the Army and the Navy, of heroic size, and also to be cast at Chicopee. Directly under the statue is a bas-relief coat of arms, representing a life size American eagle, not in his convential attitude of dignity and repose, but with excited energy of beak and claw tearing asunder the chains of slavery. The head of the statue is thirty feet from the ground, or just half the distance to the top of the shaft.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE CABLE SCREW WIRE BOOTS AND SHOES are growing daily in popular favor. Their guarantee not to rip means something. Of 140,000 pairs manufactured by two firms in Massachusetts last season, and warranted, not a single pair was returned. Durability, comfort and economy commend them to the public. All prominent boot and shoe stores have them.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Suggestions of the Season.

Thousands regard the winter as a season of trials; and the truth is, that if there is a weak point in the system, winter is pretty sure to find it out. Constitutional tendency to disease are generally aggravated by damp and cold. Rheumatism sometimes lies perdu all the summer and fall, to pounce upon its victims in the season of cold.) As a means of fortifying the body against all the diseases which prevail most extensively in winter, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS cannot be too urgently recommended. There would be fewer cases of the pulmonary complaints tending to consumption, if all feeble systems were invigorated during the season with a course of this inestimable vegetable tonic and alterative. Constipation, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and a general sluggishness of the secretive organs, very generally prevail at this period of the year. To all these ailments experience (the most trustworthy of all mentors) teaches us that the Bitters is a reliable remedy. Warm clothing is a good external defence against atmospheric cold and moisture, but vigorous activity in the vital organization which generates heat and delivers it to the surface, is also essential to health, and this activity is secured through the operation of the Bitters. The skin sympathizes with the stomach, and if digestion is regular and perfect, the exterior circulation will be brisk, and damp and cold may be encountered with comparative safety.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heart-ache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application 's
Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure,
To insure, perchance to profit—ay—there's the rub
For in that time what premiums may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil
Some may be paying lightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A DRESSING which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from falling gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. It contains no those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a decayed lung or lungs of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the interior, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Merriman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, by the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air more dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles more over a lake, and it seems almost impossibleto take cold there. The ladies in Florida complain of being troubled with headache at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally recover in flesh, and throw the lungs off disease.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than elsewhere, and it seems less intempestibleto take cold there. NAVAL.—Lieut. Comdr. John H. Howland is detached from the Tuscarora and ordered to the command of the Dictator. The other officers of the Tuscarora are placed on waiting orders.

Commander C. C. Carpenter has been detached from this station and ordered to the U. S. S. Yantic.

☞ The little schooner Edith Belle Nason, from Dover for Galveston, Texas, arrived out on the 16th of January after a stormy and perilous passage,—and having the crew desert while the vessel was waiting to warp through the draw at Portsmouth bridge, taking with them the ship's armament (a revolver) and other articles. She is to run in the coasting trade from Galveston.

☞ On Thursday evening, Feb. 16, James P. Bartlett, Esq., will read some choice Dramatic Selections at the Temple, the proceeds of the evening to go to the fund for assisting the owners and crew of the White Rover, who lost their property and imperilled their lives in rescuing others from an otherwise certain death. The tickets will be disposed of at 50 cts. each; and setting aside the fact that Mr. Bartlett's reading is of itself an entertainment of a high order, the object of the movement should—and will—crowd the Temple to its utmost capacity.

Messrs. Starkey & Howard, of Keene, have erected a building 140x36 feet, where they will employ about forty hands in making earthen and stone ware, together with drain tile and water pipe.

In Dublin, Jan. 30, two Kibbin boys were tried for assaulting Curtis Wood, a school teacher, and taking from him a loaded revolver. The oldest boy was bound over for trial at a higher court, and the younger was acquitted.—Probably Mr. Wood carried the revolver to "teach the young idea how to shoot."

The Kearsarge Fire Company of Concord have voted $18 to furnish a glass eye for Mr. Wm. Badger, an ex-member, who lost his eye by accident last December.

The Boston & Maine Railroad are to put a new iron steamer on Lake Winnipisaukie, to run between Alton Bay and Centre Harbor next summer.

The boiler in Appleton's hosiery mill at Laconia exploded Feb. 3d. Patrick O'Shea, aged 16 years, was killed, his head being blown off. Wm. Belfort, who was in the boiler-house, was thrown several rods, but not much injured. The main buildings were badly shattered.

A Vermont man named John Sargent attempted to commit suicide on Monday, Jan. 30, at Story's Hotel in Hopkinton, but was prevented by the clerk, who found him hanging to the bed-post in his room by his scarf, and cut him down.

A wonderful invention of a weft-thread knitting-loom is now on exhibition in Manchester. It is said to produce the best woollen cloth extant at the enormous rate of nearly a yard a minute. Practical cloth manufacturers pronounce it a success and believe that it is destined to revolutionize the entire system of weaving woollen goods.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATISTICS.—The following are the aggregates of the several agricultural productions of New Hampshire, as prepared by the census bureau at Washington. The comparison with the returns for 1860 show a steady decline in almost every item. There are some curious facts to be drawn from an examination of these figures. It seems that there has been a decrease of 78,000 in the number of acres of improved land and of 115,000 in the acres of unimproved land. Where it has all gone to puzzles us, we confess, seeing that New Hampshire has ceded none of her territory to Canada or to any other State. Another fact not less perplexing is that while there is less land under cultivation and a decrease in very nearly every article of production, the value of farms has increased eleven million dollars. Again, there has been a decrease in every kind of live stock except mules and asses, the total reduction amounting to nearly 133,000 head, and yet the value of live stock is set down as nearly 50 per cent. greater than in 1860. Something of the discrepancy is due of course to the change of valves, but the difference is so great as to give us some suspicion of the accuracy of one of the enumerations,—we cannot tell which. The manufacturing statistics of New Hampshire will tell a very different story from the figures of production by the tillage of its granite soil.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, thus limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.
Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

COMPLETION
—OF THE—
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.
THE FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,
COUPON OR REGISTERED,
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ON A FINISHED ROAD.
—FOR SALE—
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
The last rail of this important road was laid on the 26th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles nearer than any existing route and 65 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.
By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central and other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.
The B. C. R. & M. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $40,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscription to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Towns and Counties through which the Road passes, which have adopted this system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.
The earnings of the Road in its incomplete state, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When is added to this innumerable way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as hereto fore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.
A small amount, $460,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.
All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

A PATRIOTIC JURY.—Mr. Charles M. Lee was a well-known criminal lawyer of Rochester, N. Y. He summed up a case with a superfluity of gesture, and an affluence of perspiration, that would have astonished even John Graham in his vehement and melting moods. Lee was defending an old revolutionary soldier for passing a forged promissory note for some $30. There was hardly the faintest doubt of his guilt; but Lee contrived to get before the jury the fact that the prisoner, then a dare devil boy of nineteen, was one of the storming party that followed Mr. Anthony Wayne in his desperate night assault upon Stony Point, and helped to carry the wounded General into the fort during that terrible fray.

In summing up, Lee, after getting over the ugly points of evidence as he best could, then undertook to carry the jury by escalade on the ground of his revolutionary services. He described in graphic language the bloody attack on Stony Point, the impetuous valor of Wayne, the daring exploit of his client, and wound up with this stunning interrogatory: "Gentleman of the Jury, will you send to the State Prison, for passing a contemptible thirty dollar forged note, an old hero of three score and ten, who, in his youth, cheered the heart of his country in the darkest hour of the revolution, by storming Stony Point?"

This was a poser. The chins of some of the jury quivered, but the foreman, a bluff farmer, put on an air which seemed to say, that storming Stony Point was a good thing enough in its line, but what had it to do with passing this forged note? After being out a couple of hours, the jury returned to the Court-room, when the clerk went through the usual formula:

"Gentlemen of the Jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?

"We have."

"Do you find the prisoner at the bar guilty, or not guilty?"

"Not guilty, because he stormed Stony Point," thundered the stalwart foreman, who, it was afterwards learned, was the last to come to an agreement.

The audience applauded, the crier rapped to order, the District Attorney objected to the recording of the verdict, and the judge sent the jury out again, telling the foreman in a rather sharp tone, that they must find an unconditional verdict of guilty or not guilty. After an absence of a few minutes, they returned, when the foreman rendered a simple verdict of not guilty, adding, however, as he dropt into his seat, "It was a good thing, though, Judge, for the old revolutionary cuss, that he stormed Stony Point."

HORACE GREELEY ON FARMING.—Greeley gets some hard hits on his attempts to teach agriculture. The Kansas City Bulletin gives him one in the following shape:

"A Missouri farmer inquired as to the probable profit of raising broom-corn in this State. Mr. Greeley felt assured that it would be profitable, but advised his correspondent to raise the plain-handled variety of brooms, inasmuch as they were a more hardy variety than those with red and blue rings around the handles."

A LOUD DISPATCH.—One evening last week a couple of chaps, evidently from the rural districts, came into the telegraph office for the purpose of sending a dispatch. The message was taken by the operator, and the pair proceeded down stairs. They had just reached the sidewalk when the gong at the "Snell House" was sounded for tea. Whereupon, one of the pair went into the air several feet, exclaiming "By Jerusalem! there it goes, Jim!"—Aroostook Pioneer.

—An inquiring widow, who appealed to her departed husband to advise her whether she had better make a purchase she was contemplating (or at least is said to have appealed), has been answered, the "communication" being published in the Banner of Light, and being in effect as follows: "My answer is, do just as you please, because I know you will any way. I don't forget people's dispositions, even if I have been through death. So, Nancy, do just as you please. If you want to buy, buy, and if you get into trouble by it, get out of it. You are smart enough."

—There is no joy so great as that which springs from a kind act or a pleasant deed; you may feel it at night when you rest, in the morning when you rise, and through the day when you are about your business.

—"Bridget, I wish you would step over and see how old Mrs. Jones is this morning." Bridget returned in a few moments with the information that Mrs. Jones was seventy-two years, ten months and eight days old.

—A deacon who became rich in a grocery not a hundred miles from a certain State House, used to boast how much he had done for the cause of temperance, by mixing at least a gallon of pure water with every gallon of liquor he sold.

—A Western organist was asked to play something appropriate at a wedding in church. He played "Put me in my little bed," and the unreasonable couple got mad.

—A presidential election, a revolution, an insurrection and several volcanic eruptions make times lively in Mexico just now.

— Greeely says the horse de combat is the best for carriage purposes, but too delicate for farm uses.

—"Bloomfield Democrat" is the name of a potato extensively grown in Sonoma county, Cal.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough which has long worn every one to bed. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the parent the anguish of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

MICE ON FRUIT TREES.—Mice breed rapidly, and it may not be generally known that an immense number of them are usually destroyed, in autumn, by the filling of the ground with water and its freezing. This is one of Nature's modes of checking the multiplication of these pests to a degree that would make them worse than the frogs in Egypt.

But the past autumn and winter, thus far, have been in many parts of the country unprecedentedly dry. We hear from some sections of so great a lack of water in cisterns and wells, that much anxiety is felt for the result. In some cities the fountains are so completely dried up that large extra fire patrols are organized to watch against conflagrations. With the above facts in mind, it will be well for all having fruit and other trees to look out that they are not girdled by the redundant mice that still burrow in the dry soil.

We well remember that, some twelve or fifteen years ago, after such a dry autumn, there were hundreds of thousands of fruit trees girdled and destroyed soon after the first heavy fall of snow. In many cases large orchards were ruined. Mice seldom, if ever, gnaw a bare tree, or one around which the snow is firmly trampled. The simplest protection, therefore, against their ravages, is to either keep the snow cleared away from any tree or shrub in danger, or to trample it firmly down around the trunk as soon as it falls. To leave a light snow around a tree for a day or night will furnish a fine cover for the depredators to work under.—Am. Agriculturist.

HOW TO LOAD A WAGON.—Some three or four weeks ago the question was asked through the columns of the Rural New Yorker whether a wagon should be loaded heavier on the hind than on the front wheels. Your reply, though not asserted to be conclusive, implied that the load should be equally distributed. I propose a scientific elucidation of the subject, which will prove that the load should be heavier on the hind wheels, in the proportion of their diameter to the diameter of the front wheels.

A wheel is a lever, whose long arm, theoretically, is the distance from the ground to the centre of the axle; the short arm is a pivot; but, practically, it is impossible to construct a lever of such proportions. Hence, in calculating the advantage of the lever, a wheel or a lever, allowance must be made for the size of the axle, and for friction dependent on size, other things being equal.

Without going into too elaborate a discussion, it will be sufficient to say in general terms that the power gained by a wagon wheel is in proportion to its semi-diameter, and hence that the load on a wagon should be placed proportionally to the diameter of the front and hind wheels. Suppose the front wheels are four feet, and the hind wheels five feet in diameter—then five-ninths of the load should rest on the hind wheels and four-ninths on the front wheels.—Cor. Rural New Yorker.

—Now is the time to prepare for any emergency that may occur in the busy season. An extra spade or whiffletree, and a reserve supply of seed to replant in case of failure, are often of the greatest importance. Next month, active operations will be crowding, and even now, at the South, out-of-door work is going on. Trees should be ordered at once. Stock of some kinds may be very scarce, and it may be necessary to apply to more than one dealer, in order to procure the desired varieties. The assortment of seeds is at its best this month, and it is well to secure them now. The same with implements; purchase the best, and have extra ones or duplicates of parts that are liable to be broken. Test seeds, as far as possible, to be assured from your own knowledge that they are good. It is a great advantage to the purchaser and a convenience to the vender, to order trees, seeds, and such things, well in advance. Seedsmen now have their catalogues ready and their stock in store.—Am. Agriculturist.

—The editor of The Providence Press has received one dollar and sixteen cents for his services as a witness before a United States marshal, but having a doubt if he earned it, has put it to interest as a nucleus of a fund for the benefit of discharged office holders. The gift shows a generosity of spirit, but lacks value in amount. The editor however sings:

"I give thee all I can, no more, Though poor the offering be."

—A fashionable but ignorant lady wanted a costly hair shawl, but her husband bought her a cheap imitation of the article. On examining it she found the name of the manufacturer on one corner and wanted to know what that was. "That," said the husband; oh, that's the name of the camel of whose hair the shawl is made!" The wife takes great pride in her shawl, and has no doubt of its genuineness.

—Jean Paul says his washerwoman may possibly go to heaven, but he has no idea that she will ever be allowed to do up Abraham's bosom.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1871.

THE WAR.

A large portion of the French press bitterly denounce the decree of the Bordeaux delegation proscribing from seats in the national assembly those who have held office by appointment of Napoleon.

The Germans have fined a newspaper in Rouen 2000 francs for printing the Gambetta decree, prescribing electoral disabilities.

Garibaldi has accepted the candidacy for the representation of Nice in the national assembly.

Bismark, in addition to his protest against Gambetta's decree, sent a note to Favre on the subject. The latter replied, declaring that the limitations of the freedom of elections were abolished.

It is now believed that the conditions of peace as published, were inaccurate so far as they related to the cession of the province of Lorraine, the colony of Pondicherry, and the delivery to Prussia of twenty first-class war vessels. It is, however, considered certain that Germany intends to retain in her possession the city of Metz and the entire province of Alsace.

It is officially stated that Germany does not want any of the French foreign possessions.

It is reported that 180,000 prisoners were taken in Paris, with 1500 cannon and 400 field-pieces and mitrailleuses. The gunboats in the Seine and the rolling stock of the railways were also appropriated by the Germans.

Bordeaux, Marsailles, Lyons and Toulon call loudly for war to the last, and Bordeaux wants Gambetta to be president of the committee of public safety.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Feb. 4, a joint resolution authorizing the president to furnish one or more national vessels to carry charitable contributions to Germany, was passed.

M. J. Kramer was confirmed as minister to Denmark.

In the House, a bill to pay Theodore Adams $112,740, in full of all claims for building 38 mortar boats and 8 steam tugs, was passed.

Bills to credit Paymaster George F. Cutter for money stolen from him, and restoring George A. Stevens and John N. Quackenbush to the active list of the navy as lieutenant-commanders, were passed.

A bill limiting the duration of Territorial legislatures to forty days, was passed, as was also one making Alaska a county of Washington Territory, with the county seat at Sitka.

☞ Francis Sanders, one of the Camden (N. J.) rioters and constable of Camden county, has been convicted on two indictments charging him with preventing colored voters reaching the polls at the last election. The jury were out 20 hours. The severest punishment for Sanders' crime is $500 and three years' imprisonment.

☞ Lieut.-Gov. Johnson of Arkansas, while reading a letter announcing the death of a relative, in the State senate on Saturday, Feb. 4, was so affected as to faint, causing great excitement. On learning the facts the senate adjourned.

☞ Rev. Alonzo Hill, D. D., for 43 years pastor of the First Unitarian Church in Worcester, Mass., was buried from that church on Saturday, Feb. 4th.

☞ Maurice O. Crawford, 22 years of age, shot himself in New York, Sunday morning, Feb. 5, in a paroxysm of jealousy at his mistress.

☞ The Pope has bestowed an apostolic blessing upon King Amadeus of Spain, whose father, Victor Emmanuel, he excommunicated.

☞ In the International Conference at London, the only motion yet on the Eastern question is a motion to adjourn.

☞ Kossth is said to be dying at Turin.

—The Bangor Whig says that in the evening of one of the cold days of last week, three men went upon the lower edge of the ice in the Penobscot, some 8 or 9 miles below Bangor, to take in some nets which had been set for fish. While engaged in this work, the piece of ice they were on seperated from the main body and floated down stream on the swift-running tide. Effort to escape was useless, and the men remained on the cake of ice all through that bitter cold night, until the returning tide forced it back, and they landed in the morning, half-frozen, at Bald Hill Cove. It was almost a miracle that they were not frozen to death.

—Private benevolence is to erect a strangers' hospital in New York city at a cost of $150,000.

—A memorial for woman suffrage has been presented in the Missouri legislature.

HIND PART BEFORE.—The New York Herald says, speaking of Gen. Stevens' bill to regulate line and staff rank in the navy, that the "staff officers hope to carry their point of obtaining the assimilated rank that will at the same time give them the right to command; and the latter is the bone of contention, the point which the line officer very properly objects to submitting to. The line officers offer no objection to staff officers having all the rank, all the pay, all the honors, all the gold lace, all the buttons, all 'the pomp and circumstance of glorious war;' in fact, everything they want but the right to command, and this they cannot concede." This would be very fine, if it was true; but unfortunately every statement in it is exactly opposed to the real facts in the case.

The line officers do "offer objection to staff officers having rank," pay, honor, etc., and the entire crusade of the former against the rights of the latter has been to keep them from getting either rank or pay according to their length of service; for no staff officer ever asked for "command in the line," and no line officer ever really feared they would ever ask for such command. Even the Sievens' bill, concerning which the writer above quoted speaks, expressly stipulates that the staff shall have all the pay and powers of their rank, except the right to command in line; and this he must have known when he wrote.

The same ingenuous writer says: "It is to be regretted that knowledge of the actual duty of a line officer of the navy is so very limited. Were it properly understood the present difficulty would not last long; indeed, it never would have occurred." With this we agree. If it was throughly understood that the duty of a line officer is to have full command in his own department only, and not to interfere with the details of the medical, engineering and pay departments, of the duties of which he has no knowledge whatever, the difficulty would be over; and that it is beginning to be well understood is evidenced by the nearly unanimous vote in the House of Representatives in favor of Gen. Stevens' bill.

We hope the Senate will pass the bill, and promptly, for at present we have but a hot-bed of caste pride in our navy. Even Spain, a country that has been considered the stronghold of caste and blue-blood prejudice, is far—very far ahead of us in the democracy of her navy; for in the Spanish navy medical officers attain the rank of vice admiral, enjoy equally with the line naval honors, rewards and pensions, and count seven years on entering for the time occupied in studying their profession; while in our navy the highest rank at which a surgeon can arrive is that of commander, and even then he is "not an officer," according to the simon pure line. Let the Senate pass the House bill and the staff will be officers, even as they are now educated gentlemen and as essential to the navy as the officers of the line.

New Hampshire Items.

A party of gipseys that recently wandered into Moultonborough, have been arrested and sent to the County House of Correction for six months, and their little ones to the Town Farm.

Mr. D. B. Story of Hopkinton lost a horse recently by the breaking of an axle, which threw a load of ice upon the animal, breaking his legs.

Mrs. Sarah Sleeper Smith, for many years Principal of New Hampton Female Seminary and since 1847 a resident of Siam, is on a visit to her friends in Concord and New Hampton. Her husband is a missionary at Bankok, Siam.

Two boys quarrelled in school at Enfield Centre, Feb. 2; one pulled the other's hair with vigor, and got a bad gash on his hand from the Bitters.

The blacksmith shop of L. C. French, in Bedford, was burned Feb. 2, with all the tools therein. Loss $300; no insurance.

William C. Josselyn, superintendent of the Vale Mills at Nashua, was tried Saturday afternoon for an assault with intent to kill Isaac C. Johnson, a former employee of the company. A careful investigation of the circumstances showed that Johnson had threatened to take Josselyn's life but an hour before, that the assault was without provocation, and that Josselyn acted in self-defence.

☞ The ice on the Hudson river is breaking up. Four fishemen were carried away by the breaking up of the ice in Haverstraw Bay, Sunday. They were rescued at midnight. Their hands and feet, noses and ears were frozen. About 170 persons were caught on the ice when it started. Many of these jumped into the river and swam ashore.

☞ Nilsson is recovering.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE CABLE SCREW WIRE BOOTS AND SHOES are growing daily in popular favor. Their guarantee not to rip means something. Of 140,000 pairs manufactured by two firms in Massachusetts last season, and warranted, not a single pair was returned. Durability, comfort and economy commend them to the public. All prominent boot and shoe stores have them.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

$1,000 Reward is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery, for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all severe lingering Coughs, "Liver Complaint" or Billousness, and all diseases arising from impurity of the blood, as Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Boils. Sold by druggists. The Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private Government Stamp on the outside wrapper. This private Stamp has the Doctor's portrait, name and address, and the words "U. S. Certificate of Genuiness" engraved on the same.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Suggestions of the Season.

Thousands regard the winter as a season of trials; and the truth is, that if there is a weak point in the system, winter is pretty sure to find it out. Constitutional tendencies to disease are generally aggravated by damp and cold. (Rheumatism sometimes lies perdu all the summer and fall, to pounce upon its victims in the season—of cold.) As a means of fortifying the constitution against all the diseases which prevail most extensively in winter, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS cannot be too urgently recommended. There would be fewer cases of the pulmonary complaints tending to consumption, if all feeble systems were invigorated during the season with a course of this inestimable vegetable tonic and alterative. Constipation, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and a general sluggishness of the secretive organs, very generally prevail at this period of the year. To all these ailments experience (the most trustworthy of all mentors) teaches us that the Bitters is a reliable remedy. Warm clothing is a good external defence against atmospheric cold and moisture, but vigorous activity in the vital organization which generates heat and delivers it to the surface, is also essential to health, and this activity is secured through the operation of the Bitters. The skin sympathizes with the stomach, and if digestion is regular and perfect, the exterior circulation will be brisk, and damp and cold may be encountered with comparative safety.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

in the world, and deserves to be, for it is the safest and the best. As a dressing after the dyeing, use dawimjan28tmh26

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question. Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune Or take a policy against those dangers, And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear, No more; and by a policy to end The heartache and the thousand natural shocks That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application's Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure, And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub For in that time what premiums may come Before I shuffle off this mortal coil Does make me pause, tightens my purse, And makes me rather pay the bills I have Than fly to others I know not of. Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that a knowledge of this country that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important thing is for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is over a mile from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the cure is half done.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the track of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a tender throat, a deadened stomach, disordered bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. My practice was extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, I has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of consumptives. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a good stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk, or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to clean out the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry—I have hopes of such. With a healthy appetite food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is always followed by healing of the lungs.—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prestrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy-five degrees, which should be kept regular at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking to and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. Let such a patient use this system, and come do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper treatment used. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be sure to find one or more cases of consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than any other pill, and leave no harmful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have eaten too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take one of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of climate, or the ill effects of eating fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may take the fruit, even pickles, cucumbers, apples, then drink water, and eat water-melons, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Wednesday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can hear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

☞ Rev. C. M. Dinsmore, of this city, lectured in four different lyceum courses last week, viz: at Winchester, Keene, Winchenden, Mass., and Kittery, Me.

COOL.—On Sunday morning the thermometer marked 15 degrees below zero in this city. On Monday "the boys" walked from Liberty Bridge to Peirce's Island on the ice.

☞ The U. S. S. Tuscarora goes out of commission to-day. Her very limited number of seamen are to be paid off and discharged, the time of most of them having expired.

☞ A freight train on the P. S. & P. Railroad ran off the track near South Berwick, Saturday night, and ten cars were capsized and somewhat broken. No one hurt. The road was cleared on Sunday, and no stoppage of trains occurred.

☞ Attention is called to the advertisement of Mr. Joseph A. Grace, in another column, — of stock of Dry Goods and Business Stand for sale. Mr. G. having been appointed Teller of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank, is relinquishing the business in which he has been engaged for over 20 years.

☞ The Aroostook Times says that Elwood's Female Minstrels, who performed here awhile ago, are in trouble. The other night the musicians mutinied and left, because their wages were not paid, and the manager eloped with the clog-dancer. The next day the two end men abdicated, and the "twenty talented artists" are now reduced to six.

☞ We learn that Gen. Chamberlain, Ex-Governor of Maine, is to deliver the next lecture before the Citizens' Lyceum at Kittery Foreside on Monday evening next, Feb. 13. Subject, "Surrender of Lee." Tickets may be obtained at the Kittery Post Office and of the Lecture Committee. Many of our citizens will doubtless avail themselves of this opportunity of listening to one who ranks with our ablest orators.

☞ The cold weather is giving evidence of its great severity by the masses of ice which are floating up and down the river with the tide. Immense cakes of fifteen or more inches in thickness obstruct the passage of the little Emerald as well as the boats of the Navy Yard workmen. Some of the latter were over an hour in cutting their way out into the open river on Monday morning, and in two or three instances egress was impossible.

☞ The Temple was well filled last evening, as was expected would be the case by those who saw Mr. John Murray in his character, "Rip Van Winkle," when he was here before. The performance was such as to justify the assembling of the large audience and to send them away highly pleased. This evening "Treason"—a new play, written expressly for Mr. Murray—is on the bills; and another full house will doubtless greet this fine actor and good supporting company to-night.

THE WHITE ROVER. — The Boston Daily News and the Transcript warmly commend the heroism of the crew of this little vessel, and suggest that some substantial testimonial be given them. Movements are already on foot in this city to raise something toward that end, Jas. P. Bartlett, Esq., (as may be seen by an announcement in another column,) being shortly to give a Dramatic Reading for that purpose, from the receipts of which there will be "no deductions for expenses;" and the same gentlemen received $100 from a Boston gentlemen for them, some days ago, as before announced. We regard the act of the hardy Shoals fishermen as being as worthy of honorable fame and substantial recognition as the deeds of Frederic Jerome and others whose names have rung almost throughout the civilized world; and we claim to know something about it, having enjoyed the dubious pleasure of working for dear life in a freezing gale, ourself. And we also hope that the schooner's owners, who risked and lost their little all to aid their suffering fellows, will have their entire loss made up to them, at the least.

☞ The Chicago Mail thinks that if the Illinois Legislature were to assemble in that city it would result in great moral improvement among the members, but doubts if Chicago morals could stand the shock.

☞ The cadet barracks at West Point were partially burned Sunday morning. Loss, $50,000.

Correspondence.

RYE, Feb. 5.

A loud report, followed by a severe concussion which very perceptibly shook houses and the furniture in them, was heard and felt by many persons in this town on Sunday morning, at about 6 o'clock. Whether it was an earthquake or some other convulsion of nature, has not been discovered as yet by any one in this vicinity; but if the effect from it, if there ever is any, will cause the thermometer to ascend a few degrees—and made this terrific North wind blow a trifle more gently, it will cause much rejoicing. Such weather as we have had for several days past was hardly ever known before, and its rigor has kept everybody in-doors, unless absolutely obliged to go out.

There is a movement among a few of our prominent young men towards having a course of lectures, by local talent principally, and the prospect is now that it will be a success. It is proposed to have them free to all, and the Baptist Church will probably be the place in which they will be delivered.

It is reported that petitions will soon be prepared and circulated in Hampton, North Hampton and Rye, for a road along the beaches from Boar's Head to the Sagamore House at Frost's Point. It won't receive many signatures in Rye.

There has also been more or less talk about having a railroad, or rather two of them, one a branch from the Eastern and the other from the Concord, branching off at Greenland and running to Straw's Point. If business continues to increase at the beaches, a railroad will be a necessity before many years, unless the proprietors of the coaches which convey passengers from the station to the beach increase and improve their present conveyances. H.

THEATRE BURNED.—The Adelphi Theatre in Boston was burned Saturday night, Feb. 4, the alarm being given about an hour after the close of the performance. Had the fire taken place while the audience were in the building, a terrible loss of life must have resulted, for a more perfect trap than the Adelphi could hardly be devised,—it was as much as a crowd could do to get out at the best of times. The Boston News says the loss is about $80,000, and hopes there isn't "a grain of Phœnix in the ashes" of the theatre—from which we gather that the News does not feel very sorry about the accident. The night was terribly cold, and one hose-carriage driver had his hands and feet frozen.

☞ The British government have peremptorily ordered the Dominionites to restore the license system to our fishermen, which would practically give them the right to fish in shore; but the Canadian official organ at Ottawa fiercely denies the right of England to interfere in the question, and says the naughty calf won't mind the old Bull, nor concede the freedom of the fisheries without a reciprocity treaty as an equivalent. Look out for squalls.

☞ The Empire Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York receive $97,500 for re-insuring the outstanding risks of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Life Insurance Company, (suspended,) and was the only company whose proposition was considered satisfactory by the authorities.

☞ Captain Selfridge of the Darien expedition writes that he has discovered a route for the canal, the summit of which is but 300 feet above the ocean. The route commences near the mouth of the Abrato River.

☞ Mrs. Elizabeth Styles of Camden, N. J., was convicted on Friday, Feb. 4, of the murder of Anna Lipsett by performing an illegal operation. No defence was offered.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $30,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.
Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

COMPLETION
—OF THE—
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.
THE FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,
COUPON OR REGISTERED,
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ON A FINISHED ROAD.
—FOR SALE—
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
The last rail of this important road was laid on the 26th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles shorter than any existing route and 63 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.
By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central or any other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.
The B. C. R. & M. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $40,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscription to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Towns and Counties through which the Road passes, which have adopted this system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.
The earnings of the Road in its incomplete state, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When is added to this lucrative way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as heretofore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.
A small amount, $400,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect rapid sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.
All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

STATE PROTECTION TO THE INSURED. The New York Herald of January 24th, has a careful article on the Life Insurance system as developed in this country, and particularly under the strict insurance laws of New York and Massachusetts. Its text is the failure of the Monitor Fire Insurance Company, of Boston, and the stoppage of the Farmers and Mechanics', and Great Western Mutual Companies, of New York. In England there have also been failures which have aroused distrust and called out parliamentary debate. Discussing the question of governmental interference, Hon. Mr. Lowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the British House of Commons, referred to the "despotic" control exercised over the Life Insurance companies of New York by the State Superintendent. The Herald believes that this "despotic" control has greatly benefitted the assured, and obtained for the Life companies of New York the confidence of the public. It goes on to say in support of its opinion:

The important practical advantages of the "despotic" control referred to by Mr. Lowe were conclusively shown by the prompt energy with which Mr. G. W. Miller, the able Superintendent of the Insurance Department at Albany, recently enforced, to the great benefit of policy holders, the supervision held over the life assurance companies of New York city. No sooner had the Great Western Mutual become involved in financial difficulties than it was compelled, under a decision of the Superintendent and in accordance with the strict law of the State, to surrender the management of its affairs.

Mr. Sidney Ashmore, editor of the Protector, an influential journal devoted to insurance interests, says that the failure of this company cannot be attributed to any defect in the system, but rather, perhaps, to mismanagement. He adds that its significance is in the exemplification it affords of the admirable working of the law, which, having carefully watched the "reserve fund" in the hands of the company, comes forward at once, when this is threatened with encroachment, to protect the interests of the assured.

It is manifestly on a vigilant supervision of this "reserve fund," and on prompt interference so soon as the discovery shall be made that it is in danger of being infringed upon, either through mismanagement or through dishonesty, that the public can mainly rely as both preventive and remedy against insurance frauds and failures. The distrust which some have expressed in life and fire insurance companies on account of the costly buildings erected by them and of the princely salaries accorded to their chief officers is altogether unfounded.

Such palaces as the Equitable Life Assurance Society and other great companies have lately built are not only architectural ornaments to the city, but are also very remunerative investments. The Equitable Building, for instance, which cost a little over two millions, yields a yearly rental of more than one hundred and twenty thousand dollars, besides leaving the offices of the company rent free, thus making it equivalent to a ten per cent. investment. The kind of investments in which alone a charter of a New York company allows it to place its continually accuring funds is in itself a valuable guarantee. No security can be selected which would not be acceptable to the most careful investors, such, for example, as "bonds of the government and of the State in which the society resides, and real estate within the State of New York, or immediate neighborhood of the city of New York, either to hold in fee or to grant loans upon."

The salaries paid to the principal officers of the great New York companies compare reasonably with those received by officers of the great companies in England, where experience has established the fact that only ample salaries can secure the requisite combination of the best executive talent and the highest integrity.

With such guarantees as we have specified, with regular and frequent sworn statements of the auditing committees, with strict accountability on the part of the officers for even minor outlays, with thorough examinations on the part of the State inspector, with the utmost vigilance over the condition of the reserve fund, and with the rigid enforcement of all the provisions of the State insurance laws, insurance frauds and failures must henceforth be rare exceptions, which only prove the rule that the Massachusetts and New York companies are, for the most part, worthy of the confidence enjoyed by them throughout the country.

☞ The following is a correct statement of the the Public Debt, as appears from the books and Treasurer's returns in the Department at the close of business, Jan. 31, the cash in the Treasury being taken into the account:—

Debt, Feb. 1,	$2,328,026,807.00
" Jan. 1,	2,332,067,793.75
Decrease during Jan.,	4,040,986.75
Dec. since Mch. 1, '70,	$110,301,670,17

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, and it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as the reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach the case, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same treatment.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses freely one or four times a day.

For Croup, give frequent and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. It may be often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other medicine. Parents, keep in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

ASHES AS A CATTLE FEED. — The Maine Farmer says: One of our substantial subscribers — in a recent conversation—gave his experience in training neat stock affected with a habit of eating wood, chewing bones, etc. His cattle were one spring affected in this way, they became thin in flesh, refusing to eat hay, and presenting a sickly appearance. He had an impression that their food lacked the constituents for making bone, but his neighbors used bone meal without noticing any good results whatever.

Last spring he put about four bushels of leached ashes in his barnyard and threw out to them about a shovelfull each day. They all ate it as with evident relish. After turning them out to pasture he put one peck of dry ashes per week on the ground in the pasture. They ate it all up, and gnawed off the grass where it had been lying. The cattle began to improve, gaining flesh and looking better than they had for several years. He says this morbid appetite was unnoticed years ago, from the fact that the land was new and ashy from the burnings of the woods and the land clearings.

He has another proof of the value of ashes for stock from this incident. He had a large tub full of leached ashes which remained in it some time. It was afterwards used as a watering tub. In a short time the cattle nearly devoured the tub; actually biting out pieces and eating them. Latterly he gives one quart of ashes mixed with the same quantity of salt, to twelve head of cattle, about once a week, and finds it to agree with them wonderfully.

THE BIRDS, Dr. Fitch says, are "our best friends to assist us in destroying the wire worms. The robin is very fond of these worms. The blackbirds and the thrushes are constantly hunting the grass for them and other larvæ and pupæ. But the bird before all others for his efficiency in this work is the crow, in this country, and his brother, the rook, in Europe. Wire worms and their progenitors the snapping beetles are the favorite food and the principle sustenance of these birds." It is said the "crow can distinguish by the eye what no farmer can—every plant that has a worm at its root—and that various crops are pulled or dug up to get the worms preying on their roots. Also that the wire worms and their parents the snapping beetles, appear to contitute the principle nourishment of the crow;" as they are largely fed to him while yet in the nest. In examining some in which the pin feathers were only just started, "their stomachs were found literally stuffed and distented with elators, each bird having between 70 and 80 of these beetles in its crop." Each crow before leaving the nest, has fed to it by the old birds, some thousands probably, of these snapping beetles.—Country Gent.

DON'T GET SWINDLED.—A farmer at Bucksport writes that "D. P Matthews' Patent Compound"—a sort of cattle feed—is being introduced in that section, and many hundreds of dollars are being carried off by agents selling it—two hundred dollars from the town of Bucksport alone having just left, "and without any positive proof of the real value" of the article for which it has been paid. The agents claim that "three cents worth fed to stock a day, will pay ten in flesh and fat, besides they do not require but about two-thirds the feed, and cows gain in milk and are in better condition generally." He writes that he "looks upon it with suspicion," and well he may. Our advice to farmers is to keep their money, and let all such patent compounds alone. They are of little value, and may, in fact, be really injurious to stock. Feed good hay, and take the money paid for "patent compounds" and purchase corn or meal, and you will be sure you are feeding nothing injurious, nor encouraging a set of swindlers, and your stock will be in better condition. Look out for patent rights of all kinds!—Maine Farmer.

—A man who is slack in paying hired men, does a great injury to two classes—himself and everybody else. Poor men suffer for want of the money, and he suffers because the best laborers will not work for him. I knew a young farmer who would never hire a day's labor unless he had the money in his pocket to pay at night, and he always maintained the practice. The result was that the best workmen were always at his command; both always met with pleasant faces, and the men worked cheerfully and heartily.—Ex.

—Western critics, in their agony, speak of Nilsson as "the great sympathetic public's sweet-faced girl emerging from her icy Norseland, etc." Whatever airs she may have brought with her from her "icy Norseland," she evidently comes upon these woodland gushers of the West like a January thaw, melting them away into what Carlyle calls "a greasy chaos of sentimental flabbiness."

—A Connecticut paper avers that the floor of a Litchfield church is so uneven that in passing up the aisle a person sinks out of sight thirteen times.

—Lent begins February 22, and ends April 9.

Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills, are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1871.

THE WAR.

The two French mis-governments, at Paris and Bordeaux, denounce each other as illegal. An open division is imminent. The foreign ambassadors recognize the Paris Government.

The northern French journals denounce Gambetta and his decrees, and say that France wants peace.

The Orleans party is stronger in Paris than Gambetta's party is at Bordeaux.

Garibaldi is at Bordeaux.

The Parisians threaten to shoot Trochu. The city is generally tranquil.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Feb. 6, a number of bills from the committee on commerce were passed.

Alexander Rives was confirmed as United States district judge for the western district of Virginia.

In the House, the Senate bill appropriating $10,000 for the expenses of the Ku-Klux investigating committee, was amended to read $20,000, and passed.

The Senate resolution granting U. S. ships to carry provision to Europe was amended and passed.

AWFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A terrible accident occurred on the Hudson River Railroad at New Hamburgh, N. Y., Feb. 6th. An axle of the oil train bound south broke when prssing New Hamburgh and dragged along the ground till it reached the drawbridge, when striking the timbers, it threw the car off its track and upon the up track, in face of the second Pacific express. An attempt was made to stop the express, which was then approaching, but there was not time enough, and it struck the oil car, and the fragments of the oil car scattered in every direction and at once ignited, enveloping the entire express train in flames. The express train was composed of a locomotive, one baggage car, one express car and five or six sleeping cars. The locomotive was at once hurled into the river and the engineer killed, and the baggage and express cars were piled on top of the engine.

At the same time the Chicago sleeping car was one sheet of flames, and, though desperate efforts were made to rescue the passengers, it is said that not one got out alive. Two other sleeping cars next to it were also wrapped in flames, but the passengers in them all got out safely, and then the bridge took fire. In less than ten minutes afterwards the whole structure fell, carrying with it the Chicago car, and burying it and its inmates out of sight under the water and among the ruins of the locomotive and express cars. This terrible result settled all doubts as to the probability of rescuing any one, dead or alive, and then there was nothing to do until daylight. Charles Cossum, conductor of the train, states that there were 65 sleeping-car tickets, and that he has found the owners of 52 of them, indicating that but 13 are missing. The passengers say, however, that the Chicago car contained 25 or 30 persons, and that not one got out alive. 16 bodies have been recovered, including two children.

BREVITIES.

The Fenian exiles will be publicly received in Brooklyn, February 22.

Mrs. Fair has been indicted at San Francisco for the murder of A. P. Crittenden.

Cabral has been driven to the Haytien frontier, and his troops are in a bad plight.

The Spaniards have been quite successful in Cuba of late, and the revolution is nearly at an end.

A fresh attempt has been made at revolution in Hayti by the relatives and adherents of Salnave, who are reported to be marching on Port-au-Prince.

George Haub, of Evansville, Indiana, stabbed his wife on Sunday, and himself too, because she had deserted him and become an inmate of a house of ill fame.

Mrs. Maria Mills, of Chicago, has brought another suit against Rev. Mr. Knapp, being the third. This time it is for breach of promise and $10,000 damages.

A girl 17 years of age, employed in a paper mill at Hamilton, Ohio, fell through a trap door, on Saturday, from the third floor into the hopper used for grinding rags, and was torn to pieces.

A kerosene lamp exploded on Sunday night at the residence of Dennis Hickey, in Brooklyn. Three persons were severely and one fatally injured.

☞ Gen. Sickles has presented his credentials as minister to King Amadeus of Spain, and was received with distinguished honor.

RADICAL CORRUPTION.—The democratic press have many and loud complaints to make about that branch of "radical corruption" exemplified in the granting of big slices of the public lands to thieving speculators, and urge the deposition of the republican party from power as the only means of preserving any portion of Uncle Sam's farm. If that is all the reason they can give for so doing, the remedy would be worse than the disease; for the biggest land grant ever made was engineered through Congress by a leader of the Western democracy, and was voted for by twenty or more of that party; while the present "radical" and "corrupt" set at Washington, with a clear majority in both branches of Congress, have decidedly snubbed the land-grabbing lobby, —and as yet show but little inclination to hand out four or five millions per annum in the shape of steamship subsidies, either.

Editorial Correspondence.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 2.

The unsophisticated individual who, en route to the "land of hope and blessed promise," locates his corporeal capacity in the respectable sized cities 'tween Boston and Washington, is liable to deception and is soon in some way fleeced of the scales which may have been attached to his mental vision. He will find no hotel that excels in every respect the cosy, quiet American House, Boston. The Astor at New York has had a reputation which just now should be a thing of the past. Its only recommendotion is its location down town. The famous new Continental at Philadelphia is an elegant building, elegantly furnished, with plenty of food nicely cooked, and—exorbitant prices.

En Route, we found Portsmouth boys at every point. The first man we saw at the New York Pier was the venerable Richard Fisk Robinson, and at New Brunswick, N. J., Ex-Alderman William E. Hadley, who has been recently engaged in the leather business at Newark, and has just disposed of his interest therein.

It was our fortune (good or bad) to encounter a fog off Hell Gate—a fog so thick that the Old Colony dared not push on, e'en though Admiral Fisk waited for her coming. A four hours' delay in Narragansett Bay caused a loss of a day to the impatient voyagers who wished to take the early train for Washington. So the minority of the delegation remained in charge of Gen. Ingalls, while the majority venturned on inspection duty in the "City of Brotherly Love."

Throughout New Jersey the snow was evidently less demoralized than in New England, but we were hardly prepared to see it piled two feet high in the land of Penn—at the sides of the streets. The observer of the party noticed that in New York the draught horses were not overloaded and abused as they were in Boston—thanks to the humane Bergh, perhaps. Mr. B.'s friends need to organize thoroughly in the metropolis of New England.

New Jersey shows an uncivilized contrast to the cultivation of New York and the cleanliness of Philadelphia. The latter city is the squarest place in the country, and furnishes an example which all enterprising people are glad to see has acted as an incentive to Boston. The Quaker simplicity of the place crops out in various ways, easily noticed. The white shutters to the dwelling houses attract the attention of strangers, particularly. Why the leading papers use small type for their reading matter and advertisements, has been an unanswered conundrum for scores of years.

New York may be sinful and wicked, but we opine that Philadelphia and Boston are not very far behind the heathenish ways of the chief city of the Union, though one be externally modest, and the other in the hands of that highly moral (?) force, the State Constabulary.

A midnight drive to the depot will bring us once more in conjunction with the remainder of the party, and our brief visit to this city is at an end. The gay capital may furnish items of more general interest.

TURN 'EM OUT.—The majority of the sub-committee of the military committee which lately visited West Point to examine into the condition of affairs and the causes of the recent troubles among the cadets, have made a report to the committee, recommending the dismissal of the entire first class (except four) and censuring the officers.

☞ The small-pox is spreading in St. John, N. B. The Commercial Bank in that city was burglarized on the night of Feb. 5, and a large booty stolen.

☞ Secretary Boutwell has addressed a letter to the ways and means committee against a repeal of the income tax.

☞ The Senate special committee on outrages, now investigating affairs in North Carolina, have determined to subpœna prominent democrats from that State in order to hear their story, the committee's object being not to foster or to irritate political animosities, but to discover, if possible, the method of pacification and security and justice.

☞ Bismark has lately recalled, positively, his declaration of July, 1868, that North Germany intends to acquire any territory on this continent, or the possession of any of the adjacent islands. This is to avoid interference with the Monroe doctrine or any measure of acquisition which our government may choose to adopt.

☞ Philadelphia is a pleasant place for enterprising journalists and reporters. The roughs of that city have notified the reporters that they will "shoot on sight" any person who dares to report their doings through the public press.

☞ The Cologne Gazette acknowledges in glowing terms the fact that United States Minister Washburne has during the siege of Paris given the needed succor to seventeen hundred Germans.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE CABLE SCREW WIRE BOOTS AND SHOES are growing daily in popular favor. Their guarantee not to rip means something. Of 140,000 pairs manufactured by two firms in Massachusetts last season, and warranted, not a single pair was returned. Durability, comfort and economy commend them to the public. All prominent boot and shoe stores have them.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Suggestions of the Season.

Thousands regard the winter as a season of trials; and the truth is, that if there is a weak point in the system, winter is pretty sure to find it out. Constitutional tendencies to disease are generally aggravated by damp and cold. (Rheumatism sometimes lies perdu all the summer and fall, to pounce upon its victim in the season of cold.) As a means of fortifying the body against all the diseases which prevail most extensively in winter, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS cannot be too urgently recommended. There would be fewer cases of the pulmonary complaints tending to consumption, if all feeble systems were invigorated during the season with a course of this inestimable vegetable tonic and alterative. Constipation, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and a general sluggishness of the secretive organs, very generally prevail at this period of the year. To all these ailments experience (the most trustworthy of all mentors) teaches us that the Bitters is a reliable remedy. Warm clothing is a good external defence against atmospheric cold and moisture, but vigorous activity in the vital organization which generates heat and delivers it to the surface, is also essential to health, and this activity is secured through the operation of the Bitters. The skin sympathizes with the stomach, and if digestion is regular and perfect, the exterior circulation will be brisk, and damp and cold may be encountered with comparative safety.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

MOST POPULAR HAIR DYE

in the world, and deserves to be, for it is the safest and the best. As a dressing after the dyeing, use dawinjan28tmh26

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN.

SAFE! PROFITABLE! PERMANENT!

JAY COOKE & CO.,

Offer For Sale at Par and Accrued Interest the

FIRST MORT. LAND GRANT GOLD BONDS

—OF THE—

Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

These bonds are secured, first, by a First Mortgage on the Railroad itself, its rolling stock, and all equipments; second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than Twenty-Two Thousand Acres of Land to each mile of Road.

The Bonds are free from United States Tax; the Principal and Interest are payable in Gold—the Principal at the end of thirty years, and the Interest Semi-annually, at the rate of SEVEN AND THREE-TENTHS PER CENT. per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

The Trustees under the Mortgage are Messrs. Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company.

These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable at TEN PER CENT. PREMIUM (or 1.10,) in exchange for the Company's lands at their lowest cash price.

In addition to their absolute safety, these Bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first-class security. Persons holding United States 5-20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacific, increase their yearly income one-third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.

HOW TO GET THEM.—Your nearest Bank or Banker will supply these Bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our Agents, who will allow the highest current price for ALL MARKETABLE SECURITIES.

Those living in localities remote from Banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific Bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further information, pamphlets, maps, etc., call on or address the undersigned, or any of the Banks or Bankers employed to sell this Loan.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF

HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That this world is heir to. Yes, my application 's
Devoutly to be wished; apply, insure,
And pay the premium: ay—there's the rub
For in that time what premiums may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil
Does make me pause, tightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

☞ See new advertisement of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank—announcing interest on all deposits made previously, to commence March 1st. This Bank has now more than $300,000 deposited, and is said to have loaned in this city about $70,000, and is thus doing a good work.

FREE LECTURE UPON THE TARIFF. Mr. A. Lloyd, agent of the American Free Trade League, will address the citizens of Portsmouth this evening at the Court House on the subject of Tariff-Taxes, treating the question simply in its economic relations, without regard to partisan parties.

☞ Charles Roberts, recently a resident of this city, has been arrested in Manchester, charged with stealing a horse and sleigh in Vassalboro', Me. He has acknowledged his guilt and says he left the team at Portland, fearing arrest. His family reside in Manchester, from which place he was formerly sent to the Reform School. He is 19 years old, and a mighty poor stick.

THE THEATRE at the Temple on Monday and Tuesday evenings was very successful, both as to audiences attracted and the character of the performances. Mr. John Murray is an actor of great ability, and his only rival as "Rip Van Winkle" is Mr. Joe Jefferson. The new play, "Treason," is full of incident and dramatic effect, and the principal character was finely rendered by Mr. Murray. The supporting company is good, and the audience on both nights were much pleased.

☞ There has been a great deal said and considerable written of late, about cold schools—but when it is found impossible to keep the best buildings comfortable, is it reasonable to expect to warm the school-houses, even with the most approved fixtures? In any such exceptional weather as we have recently had, it is useless to expect to heat up a large school; and when this cannot be done to a comfortable degree, the only way would seem to be, to do as other folks do, and suspend business during the arctic term.

CITY MISSION.—Mr. Charles H. Joy has tendered Rev. L. L. Harmon the use of a room over his store in Exchange Buildings, for the accommodation of the City Mission. Office hours will be from 11 to 12 A. M. and from 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 P. M., at which hours Mr. Harmon will be in attendance to receive any money or articles of clothing that the charitably disposed may hand in for the benefit of the poor. Mr. Harmon has had much experience as a missionary among the destitute of this city, and is the very man to distribute the offerings of the benevolent so that they shall do the greatest amount of good to the most needy.

☞ The lease of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad to the Eastern Railroad was ratified at the meeting of the stockholders of the latter road in Boston on Monday.

The Directors were authorized to make a contract for the use of the Portsmouth, Saco & Portland Railroad, on such terms as could be procured.

The following gentlemen were chosen Directors for the ensuing year:—Geo. M. Browne, Sam'l Hooper, Franklin Haven, Thornton K. Lothrop and Benj. E. Bates, of Boston; Ichabod Goodwin of Portsmouth, and Henry L. Williams of Salem.

WRITING AND SINGING.—The Y. M. C. A. opened a writing class free to all, under the charge of Mr. Montgomery, in the large hall formerly occupied by Mr. Tilton, Tuesday evening; and Mr. E. A. Tilton is soon to commence the instruction of a class in singing, free to all members of the Association who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity to learn to read music, at the same place. Both classes should be fully attended, and we hope some of our occasional contributors will have grace enough to avail themselves of Mr. Montgomery's instructions at least. Our compositors suggest that quite an important moral reform might ensue if some of the Portsmouth editors would also attend, as such a course would go far to reduce the aggregate of bad language used in the city.

NAVAL.—Chief Engineer Thomas A. Shock is ordered to duty at this Station.

☞ The lecture this (Wednesday) evening in the P. M. L. A. Lyceum course is to be delivered by George W. Haven, Esq., and will be a good one, whatever the subject.

DEACON HAINES.—A Deerfield subscriber sends us the following genealogical and biographical account of the late Deacon Haines, formerly of that town:—

Deacon Daniel Haines was born at Deerfield, August 6, 1792, and died at Janesville, Wisconsin, Dec. 19, 1870, aged 78 years, 4 months and 13 days. In September 1814, he enlisted in Capt. Samuel Collins' Co. of infantry, was first sergeant, and stationed at Fort McClary, Portsmouth harbor; was afterwards captain of the 7th Co. of infantry in the 18th Regiment. He was Representative to Concord in 1824-25; was selectman and town agent for a number of years at Deerfield, was chosen deacon of the Freewill Baptist Church at Deerfield in 1833; in December, 1837, removed to Hooksett; the next year, 1838, removed to Manchester, and was chosen deacon of the first Freewill Baptist Church of that city.

In 1849, at the time of the California fever, when so many were seeking the golden shores of the Pacific, Dea. H., then past the meridian of life, joined a company and made the then difficult and dangerous journey across the isthmus. After his return, not satisfied with adventure, he removed to Minnesota, where he resided (at Northfield) until last year, when the infirmities of age coming upon him he removed to Janesville, Wisconsin, where his son Joseph Warren Haines, Esq., resides.

Deacon Haines was the son of Dea. David Haines, late of Deerfield, who was born at Epping Nov. 4, 1747; grandson of David Haines, who was born in Greenland June 24, 1817; great-grandson of William Haines, who was born at Portsmouth (the part now Greenland) January 7, 1679; great-great-grandson of Samuel Haines, Jr., who was born at Portsmouth (now Greenland) in 1646; and great-great-great-grandson of Dea. Samuel Haines, who was born at or near London, England, in 1611.

Dea. Samuel Haines was one of the nine original founders of the First Congregational Church at Portsmouth, and was ordained deacon at the organization in the year 1671. Dea. Daniel Haines was the 6th generation from Dea. Samuel Haines; he was the last of a family of ten children.

THE GOLDEN AGE.—Mr. Theodore Tilton will issue, on the 1st of March, a new weekly journal, to be called The Golden Age, to be devoted to the free and untrammeled discussion of all the living questions of Church, State, Literature, Art, Society and Reform. He proposes to give to this paper his undivided energy, and hopes to win for it an honorable place in the periodical literature of the country. Terms $3 a year, cash in advance. Persons wishing to subscribe can do so by remitting the money to Theodore Tilton, P. O. box 2848, New York city.

☞ The Wohrens Wochenschrift of Vienna confidently predicts a Turkish war in the spring, and another between England and the United States next autumn. A paper with a name like that would predict anything.

☞ Generva, N. Y., has burned up $170,000 worth of property.

☞ Old newspapers for sale at this Office.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.
THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OF IOWA,
have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about
180 MILES OF RAILROAD,
which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open
The First Through Line Across the State
from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give
DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.
This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The
First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,
which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.
The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.
Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

		Difference in Cash	Incr'd annual int. Exchange.	upon investment.

COMPLETION
—OF THE—
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.
THE FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,
COUPON OR REGISTERED,
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ON A FINISHED ROAD,
—FOR SALE—
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
The last rail of this important road was laid on the 26th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles shorter than any existing route and 65 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.
By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central or any other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.
The B. C. R. & M. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $60,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscription to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Towns and Counties through which the Road passes, which have adopted this system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.
The earnings of the Road in its incomplete state, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When is added to this lucrative way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as heretofore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.
A small amount $400,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect rapid sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.
All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, and has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a faithful friend to many and them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy for the severe and fatal forms of incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could avail, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take one dose this evening, and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

THE STORY OF A VALENTINE.

"Now, doctor, there was a queer thing happened to a student in my class in the seminary. I don't suppose that you are much interested in a love story, but I would just like to tell you this one, because I think you dare not apply your woman's rights principles to it in every part. Theories often fail when practically applied, you know."

"Go on, Hu, go on; I'd like to hear the story. And as for my principles, they'll bear applying anywhere!" and the old doctor rubbed his hand together confidently.

"This friend of mine, Henry Gilbert," said Hu, "was, like myself, poor. A long time ago, when he was a boy, the son of a poor widow, the lot on which he lived joined at the back the lot on which lived a Mr. Morton, at that time a thriving merchant, now the principal capitalist in that part of the country. As there was a back gate between the lots, my friend was the constant playmate from earliest childhood of Jennie Morton. He built her playhouses out of old boards, he moulded clay bricks for her use, and carved tiny toys out of pine block for her amusement. As he grew larger, and as Jennie's farther grew richer, and came to live in greater style, Henry grew more shy. But by all the unspoken language of the eyes the two never failed to make their unchanging regard known to each other.

Henry went to college early. At vacation-time the two met. But the growing difference in their social position could not but be felt. Jennie's friends were of a different race from his own. Her parents never thought of inviting him to their entertainments. And if they had, a rusty coat and a lack of money to spend on kid gloves would have effectually kept him away. He was proud. This apparent neglect stung him. It is true that Jennie Morton was all the more kind. But his quick and foolish pride made him fancy that he detected pity in her kindness. And yet all this made him determined to place himself in a position in which he could ask her hand as her equal. But you do not understand, doctor, as I do, how irresistable is this conviction of duty in regard to the ministry. Under that pressure my friend settled it that he must preach. And now there was before him a good, ten years of poverty at least. What should he do about it?

In his extremity he took advice of a favorite theological professor. The professor advised him not to seek the hand of a rich girl. She would not be suited to the trials of a minister's life. But finding that Henry was firm in his opinion that this sound general principle did not in the least apply to this particular case, the professor proceeded to touch the tenderest chord in the young man's heart. He told him that it would be ungenerous, and in some sense dishonorable for him to take a woman delicately brought up into poverty and trial, incident to a minister's life. If you understood, sir, how morbid his sense of honor is, you would not wonder at the impression this suggestion made upon him. To give up the ministry was in his mind to be a traitor to God. To win her, if he could, was to treat ungenerously her whose happiness was dearer to him a thousand times than his own."

"I hope he did not give her up," said the doctor.

"Yes, he gave her up, in a double spirit of mediæval self-sacrifice. Looking toward the ministry, he surrendered his love as some of the old monks sacrifice love, ambition, and all other things to conscience. 'Looking at her happiness, he sacrificed his hopes in a more than kindly devotion to her welfare. The knights sometimes gave their lives. He gave more.

For three years he did not trust himself to return to his home. But having graduated and settled himself for nine months over a church, there was no reason why he shouldn't go to see his mother again. And once in the village, the sight of the old school-house, and the old church revived a thousand memories that he had been endeavoring to banish. The garden walks, and especially the appletrees, that are the most unchangeable of land marks, revived the old passion with undiminished power. He paced his room at night. He looked out at the new house of his rich neighbor. He chafed under the restraint of his vow not to think again of Jennie Morton. It was the old story of the monk who thinks the world subdued, but who finds it all at once about to assume the mastery of him. I do not know how the struggle might have ended, but it was all at once stopped from without.

There reached him a rumor that Jennie was already the betrothed wife of a Colonel Pearson, who was her father's partner in business. And indeed Colonel Pearson went in and out at Mr. Morton's gate every evening, and the father was known to favor his suit.

Jennie was not engaged to him, however. Three times she had refused him. The fourth time, in deference to her father's wishes, she had consented to 'think about it' for a week. In truth Henry had been home ten days and had not called upon her, and all

HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

SOUTHERN "OUTRAGES."—Speaking of the sum set apart by Congress for the expenses of the investigating committee, the Patriot remarks:

"The committee probably find the job more 'costive' than they expected, and have to pay a higher price for 'outrages' than formerly; hence the larger sum demanded of Congress."

The democratic press of the North may sneer at the stories of "outrages," but the following from the Shelby County (Ala.) Guide, a straight-out democratic paper, gives them an answer:—

"The latest ku-klux outrages are of a horrible character, and were perpetrated upon the persons of two negroes in Jackson county, in this State. The battle-cry of the Democracy in the late canvass was 'law and order,' and the 'fools and thieves in power.' Gov. Lindsay has been installed in his office now over two months, within which time a number of these cold-blooded murders have been committed and all of the victims except one were negroes, yet not in one single instance, except the murder of the white man, has a reward been offered by his excellency for the perpetrators of these diabolical deeds. In our own county one of these horrible murders has been committed, and no notice taken of it. Our opinion is that a few thousand dollars in rewards for these murderers would bring some of them up dangling at the end of a rope, and would have a tendency to stop their outrages and perhaps put an end to Parsons' reconstruction. But strange to say, some of the Democratic press of Alabama, instead of rebuking these crimes, encourage them either by silence or innendo, and even to-day some of them are, in an indirect manner, pointing Parsons out as a good subject for one of these outrages. If the Democratic party mean peace and 'law and order,' let them begin at once to bring it about—Gov. Lindsay by offering suitable rewards for the perpetrators of these crimes, and the press by denouncing them in the severest terms."

And in the State of Kentucky, which is quite democratic, the military committee in the legislature proposes that half a million of dollars be appropriated "to ferret out the perpetrators of the cowardly outrages perpetrated by unknown and disguised parties;" and its chairman pledges "every Confederate soldier to speak with a voice that cannot be mistaken, that law and order, and the peace and dignity of the State must be maintained;" that "outlawry must be wiped out, even if in the blood of the perpetrators;" and the democratic Louisville Courier-Journal warns its party that they, and they alone, will be held responsible for the "outrages" of the democratic ku-klux.

The Carolinas may be more free from violence than Alabama or Kentucky, but more tales of crime have reached us from the former than from the latter States; and good democratic authority shows that the latter are in a fearful condition which may also be the case in the former.

THE WAR.

The Paris government has annulled the decree of Gambetta concerning the elections, and there appears a growing sentiment in favor of the moderate party.

The national and mobile guards in Paris have been disbanded.

The bombardment of Belfort is still going on.

Great destitution still prevails in Paris, and the want of provisions is keenly felt. The Prussians are charged with purposely delaying the revictualling of the city.

Gen. Ducrot has not committed suicide, nor been hurt.

It said that the national assembly will not meet at Bordeaux, fearing popular tumults.

The Republican sentiment is growing in Paris.

Henri Rochefort's new paper has made its appearance, and does some ranting.

The German censorship of the French press is relaxed, and will be abstained from till the elections are over.

Gambetta has resigned his position as head of the Bordeaux government.

FIRES.—There were a number of disastrous fires on the 7th. Twenty-three dwelling-houses and Smith & Porter's locomotive works, in Pittsburg, were burned; loss $150,000. A dry goods store on Broadway, N. Y., was damaged $170,000. Two $70,000 fires were reported in Mississippi.

☞ An Irish begger named Elizabeth Harley, 65 years old, was found dead recently in N. Y. city. She lived wretchedly with $2000 in bank, and had $70 about her when she died.

☞ Minister Washburne's courier was lately robbed of 3000 francs by a German who had sought protecting of the American flag.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Feb. 7th, the Chorpenning claim was referred to the Court of Claims.

A bill for the relief of loyal citizens of Virginia whose property was seized by Gen. Sheridan during the rebellion, was passed.

In the House, a bill was passed forbidding the prosecution of any claims against any of the departments by any persons lately in office in the departments.

The ways and means committee reported in favor of abolishing the income tax.

The deficiency bill was reported; it appropriates over $10,000,000.

Editorial Correspondence.

NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C., } Feb. 6.

We met numbers of New Hampshire men on the way here, but now they show themselves by scores. Senators Cragin and Patterson, and Representative Ela, though overworked with business consequent on the closing hours of the session, are as attentive to their numerous constituents as if their leisure hours were as many as those of their visitors, while the obliging Lord Secretary of the Senate Naval Committee is indispensable to the welfare of all new comers. Among the arrivals from the old Granite State for the week, are Hon. E. H. Rollins and District Attorney Rolfe, of Concord, Dr. Hatch of Keene, Ruel Durkee of Croydon, Messrs. Crosby and Fisk of Manchester, several from Portsmouth and others whose names we fail to call to mind.

Constructor Isaiah Hanscom took charge as Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair on Monday, and takes to the business as naturally as a duck to the aqueous element. Harry Vanderbilt, Chief of the Appointment Division of the Treasury Department, and our old friends Rufus K. Oxford and Benj. D. Laighton conduct their arduous duties with system and vigor. Vanderbilt is the right man in the right place, and the other gentlemen are at home among the many million dollars' worth of vouchers closely packed on numberless shelves.

Hon. Thomas L. Tullock, Collector of the District, has shown us myriads of documents in his possession, and among the most interesting are the papers which he has methodically arranged, relating to the memorable Reconstruction affairs. The Congressional Committee were especially fortunate in obtaining his valuable services in the campaign of 1868, which ended in the triumphant election of Gen. Grant. Mr. Tullock has the full roll of every loyal man in the then unreconstructed States. The labor must have been immense. The future historian may find information of great value in the carefully filed letters in Mr. Tullock's possession.

We have at last found an acceptable Hotel, after various trials, and it is managed by New Hampshire men, Messrs. Frank Tenney and Dr. Jones, formerly of Manchester. The proprietors at once make their patrons feel at home, and every department is looked after vigilantly. Their cuisine must be in good hands; we have not yet found its equal in Washington. The waiters are as diligent and vigilant as their employers. Since taking charge, Tenney & Co. have rapidly improved the house in every respect and it is a favorite resort of New Hampshire men and the general public. At present the National is full and as lively as beehive.

The mechanics of Portsmouth and vicinity will be rejoiced to learn that orders will be speedily issued for the employment of several hundred additional workmen at the Navy Yard. The indefatigable efforts of Senators Patterson and Cragin, and Representative Ela, are crowned with success. The assignment of Chief Engineer John W. Moore to the charge of the Steam Engineering Department at the Navy Yard is especially satisfactory; and the appointment of Capt. Freeman F. Sanborn, by Secretary Robeson, as Clerk in the Ordnance Department at the Yard, is evidence that the soldiers who fought for the country's preservation are not forgotten by the faithful representatives at the Capitol.

The bill to regulate rank in the Navy, which was drawn up by Gen. Stevens, and afterwards passed the House of Representatives by nearly a unanimous vote, meets with opposition in the Senate Naval Committee and from the Secretary. The line officers are here in force and have secured an extensive lobbying interest.

☞ The annual meeting of the New England Agricultural Society was held in Boston on Tuesday, Feb. 7. Officers were elected and action was taken favorable to holding the next annual fair at Lowell, Mass.

NAVAL.—The U. S. S. Shenandoah is at HAVRE, France.

The survivors of the U. S. S. Saginaw, wrecked on Ocean Island, have arrived at San Francisco in good health.

The frigate Franklin and the sloop Richmond were at Nice at last accounts. The former is to go to Marseilles.

Admiral Lee has ordered the Nantasket to remain at San Domingo city to render the commission any service which is required.

DEMOCRATIC FINANCIERING. — The State of Alabama is insolvent; a member of the legislature openly stated in that body that necessaries for the public institutions could not be obtained without the money was paid down, and that mechanics would not work on the State House until they had the cash in hand to pay them for their labor. Alabama is Democratic enough, but it hasn't got much credit.

—Mr. Joseph Shelly, keeper of the hose depot in Albany, has discovered that gunpowder is not proper fuel for stoves. He put a half pound flask of the article into his stove on Sunday night. The new stove has nearly dried the mortar on the ceiling.

—Terre Haute claims more banks than any other city of its size. One is a national, and the other thirteen or so are of the faro and keno varieties.

—In a debating society out West the man who got the best of the argument got the worst of a jack-knife, having been stabbed eleven times.

—Good Lady—"Little boy, do you know what road leads to perdition?" "No, marm; you'll have to ask the policeman."

—The ability to "jerk justice bald-headed" is the latest Cairo compliment to a rural squire.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

IMPERVIOUSNESS is a quality not to be lightly considered in the character of our public men,—in clothing for the feet it is a leading requisite for our variable Northern climate. The CABLE SCREW WIRE BOOTS AND SHOES are the dryest and most comfortable goods in the market. For sale everywhere.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this making man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

$1,000 Reward is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery, for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all severe lingering Coughs, "Liver Complaint" or Billiousness, and all diseases arising from impurity of the blood, as Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Boils. Sold by druggists. The Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private Government Stamp on the outside wrapper. This private Stamp has the Doctor's portrait, name and address, and the words "U. S. Certificate of Genuiness" engraved on the same.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Suggestions of the Season.

Thousands regard the winter as a season of trials; and the truth is, that if there is a weak point in the system, winter is pretty sure to find it out. Constitutional tendencies to disease are generally aggravated by damp and cold. (Rheumatism sometimes lies perdu all the summer and fall, to pounce upon its victims in the season of cold.) As a means of fortifying the body against all the diseases which prevail most extensively in winter, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS cannot be too urgently recommended. There would be fewer cases of the pulmonary complaints tending to consumption, if all feeble systems were invigorated during the season with a course of this inestimable vegetable tonic and alterative. Constipation, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and a general sluggishness of the secretive organs, very generally prevail at this period of the year. To all these ailments experience (the most trustworthy of all mentors) teaches us that the Bitters is a reliable remedy. Warm clothing is a good external defence against atmospheric cold and moisture, but vigorous activity in the vital organization which generates heat and delivers it to the surface, is also essential to health, and this activity is secured through the operation of the Bitters. The skin sympathizes with the stomach, and if digestion is regular and perfect, the exterior circulation will be brisk, and damp and cold may be encountered with comparative safety.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. They are pretty much all lead, and will never be wanted in this country, because all sane people who desire to restore the tinge of youth to their gray or grizzled locks use

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

The Bonds are free from United States Tax; the Principal and Interest are payable in Gold the Principal at the end of Thirty years, and the Interest Semi-annually, at the rate of SEVEN AND THREE-TENTHS PER CENT. per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application's
Devoutly to be wished; apply, insuly
And pay the premium! ay—there's the rub
For in that time what premiums may come
Before I shuffle off this mortal coil
Does make me pause, tightens my purse,
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Temple—Bidwell's Dramatic Company, Watchwork—Hutchinson. Notice—I. O. of O. F. Coin Magazines Wanted—Horace F. Adwers.

☞ Mr. A. Lloyd is to repeat his lecture on tariff-taxes at the Court House this evening. All are invited—free.

☞ Mr. Charles L. Abbott, formerly of this city, is a member of the Texas House of Representaves. He has been a resident of that State for some years.

☞ By a notice in our advertising columns it will be seen that Dollie Bidwell is to appear here for three evenings next week,—her last engagement before going to California. Mr. R. S. Meldrum is in the company.

☞ Morris Brothers' Minstrels give an entertainment at the Temple this (Thursday) evening. They announce an entirely new programme, and are too well known here to need any introduction to our pleasure-seeking population. Their advertisement will be found in another column.

☞ The Tuscarora has been dismantled, though not out of commission. The crew are to be transfered to the receiving ship Vandalia, to await the arrival of money from headquarters to pay them off with, after which they will severally receive their discharge as the term of service of each expires.

☞ A rumor of disaster to the U. S. S. Tennessee, occasioned considerable anxiety in this city Wednesday afternoon; but a telegram from Secretary Robeson to Com. Pennock, received at 9 P. M., stated that the Navy Department knew nothing of any such disaster—which doubtless occurred only in some sensation-monger's addled brain.

A BIG LOAD.—In San Francisco, poor John Chinaman has rather a hard time of it. He is fond of carrying two baskets, suspended from a yoke across his shoulders, but the authorities have decreed that nobody shall carry baskets after that duplex fashion. But the words of the ordinance are decidedly ambiguous. It says: — "No person shall carry a basket, or baskets, upon any sidewalk suspended from or attached to poles, across or upon the shoulders." For violation of this lucid decree, one Ah Wong was hauled before a Justice. "But," said his lawyer, "my client hasn't been carrying a sidewalk suspended from or attached to poles." Here was a poser. The learned Judge shook his head and said he would think about it. Perhaps he is thinking about it still. But things are worse still here in Portsmouth, for one of the honorable Democratic Aldermen has shouldered the whole City,—sidewalks, streets, lights, finances, law, police and all; and if any one mortal can stand up under all these responsibilities, he must be of good metal. But perhaps, after all, his logic may admit of a double construction, like the ordinance for the heathen Chinee, and the heroic utterances of our Atlas of an Aldermen may turn out to be like tinkling brass, an empty sound.

THE RAILROAD HORROR.—Nineteen bodies had been recovered from the wreck of the trains and bridge at New Hamburg, up to 9 o'clock, P. M. of the 7th. Among the dead are Rev. Merrill Fowler, wife and three children, of Batavia, New York, George F. Benedict, editor of the Cleveland Herald, E. H. Simmons, engineer, James Strafford, baggage master, R. H. Vasburg, conductor, the porter of the sleeping car, and E. L. Mooney, brakeman. Rev. Mr. Fowler preached his farewell sermon and assisted at communion in the chapel of St. Chrysostom at New York last Sunday, and was on his way to a mission at Salt Lake City, to take charge in connection with Bishop Tuttle. The bodies of Mrs. Fowler and two children have been recovered. Three bodies have been taken out that cannot be recognized. The names of twenty-two persons are given, who are supposed to be killed. A laborer had both legs crushed on the afternoon of the 7th by falling timbers, while working at the wreck. It is supposed he will die.

The latest accounts give the number of lives lost at from twenty-four to fifty. The railroad employes are accused of the greatest brutality and inhumanity by the survivors. There did not appear to be any one in authority, and trunks were broken open and pillaged by the wholesale. Articles of female apparel would be pulled out of the trunks and held up to view in sport, and the bodies themselves were roughly fished out, as if they were so much carrion, and then a rope was passed around them and they were dragged over the rough ice to a car. From all accounts the railroad people did nothing except to commence the work of repairing the bridge and the passengers were left to care for themselves as best they might.

"TRUTHFUL JAMES" must have once been a member of a scientific society, judging from the following able report of the last meeting of

The Society Upon the Stanislaus.

I reside at Table Mountain, and my name is Truthful James,
I am not up to small deceit or any sinful games;
And I'll tell in simple language what I know about the row,
That broke up our Society upon the Stanislaus.

But first I would remark, that it is not a proper plan,
For any scientific gent to whale his fellow-man;
And if a member don't agree with his peculiar whim,
To lay for that same member for to "put a head on him."

For nothing could be finer or more beautiful to see,
Than the first six months' proceedings of that same Society,
Till Brown of Calaveras brought a lot of fossil bones,
That he found within a tunnel near the tenement of Jones.

Then Brown he read a paper, and he reconstructed there,
From those same bones an animal that was extremely rare;
And Jones then asked the Chair for a suspension of the rules,
Till he could prove that these same bones were one of his lost mules.

Then Brown he smiled a bitter smile, and said he was at fault,
It seemed he had been trespassing on Jones' family vault;
He was a most sarcastic man, this quiet Mr. Brown,
And on several occasions, he had cleaned out the town.

Now I hold it is not decent for a scientific gent,
To say another is an ass—at least, to all intent;
Nor should the individual who happens to be meant,
Reply by heaving rocks at him to any great extent.

Then Abner Dean, of Angel's, raised a point of order—when
A chunk of old red sandstone took him in the abdomen,
And he smiled a kind of sickly smile, and curled upon the floor,
And the subsequent proceedings interested him no more.

For in less time than I write it, every member did engage,
In a warfare with the remnants of a paleozoic age,
And the way they heaved those fossils in their anger, was a sin,
Till the skull of an old mammoth caved the head of Thompson in

And this is all I have to say of these improper games,
For I live at Table Mountain and my name is Truthful James;
And I've told in simple language what I know about the row,
That broke up our Society upon the Stanislaus!

☞ President Grant has vetoed the bill giving additional compensation to men who built iron-clads by contract during the war. The lobby is badly demoralized thereat.

☞ By a railroad accident in France, Feb. 6th, sixty persons were killed and one hundred wounded.

☞ The London Conference has given out that the Black Sea question is satisfactorily settled.

☞ Henry Steinway, the great pianoforte manufacturer, died in New York Feb. 7.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold: he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage
7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

		Difference in cash.	Incr'd annual int. upon investment.

The cash difference paid on some of the above will be somewhat modified after the payment of the January coupons.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

COMPLETION
—OF THE—
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,
COUPON OR REGISTERED,
FREE OF U. S. TAX,
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold,
ON A FINISHED ROAD.
—FOR SALE—
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

The last rail of this important road was laid on the 26th of January, thus completing the enterprise and establishing a connection between St. Paul and St. Louis 90 miles shorter than any existing route and 65 miles shorter than any contemplated route between the same points.

By this line also the distance from Chicago to the great grain fields of Minnesota is shortened 45 miles, and transportation proportionately quickened and cheapened. The First Mortgage Bonds assume therefore at once on the completion of the line a position equal in intrinsic value to those of the Fort Wayne, Pennsylvania Central, Illinois Central or any other First Mortgage Bonds of completed trunk lines—not one of which sell below par.

The B. C. R. & M. Bonds are a First Mortgage, amounting only to $20,000 per mile on a line of road which has cost $40,000 per mile, the balance having been supplied by liberal subscription to the stock at par, made by wealthy farmers and parties interested along the line, and by similar subscriptions on the part of Towns and Counties through which the Road passes, which have adopted this system of giving their aid rather than issuing Town and County Bonds.

The earnings of the Road in its incomplete state, and while deprived entirely of through connection, have been for the past three months in excess of 12 per cent. on the amount of the Mortgage Bonds, after deducting operating expenses. No Road in the United States can show a better record during its inception. When is added to this lucrative way traffic the profits which will arise from the transportation of the vast wheat crop of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, all of which must seek a market over this line, the result cannot but be a showing which will give large Dividends on the Stock of the Company, after paying the interest to the Bond-holders as heretofore. The privilege which attaches to the Bonds of conversion into Stock at par will shortly assume practical value, as by this privilege the Bond-holders will, by the conversion be entitled to share in any excess of earnings which may accrue to the Road.

A small amount, $460,000 in all, of the issue yet unsold are still offered at the subscription price of 90 and accrued interest in currency. Although the Company feel warranted in the present condition of their affairs in advancing the price of bonds, yet they have concluded to continue for the present the subscription at the same price as heretofore, in order to effect rapid sales and thus free themselves immediately from all floating indebtedness.

All marketable Securities taken in exchange free of Commission and Express charges.

Mor[illegible] Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

the weary waiting seemed in vain. When the colonel's week was nearly out she heard that Henry was to leave in two days. In a sort of desperation she determined to accept Colonel Pearson without waiting for the time appointed for her answer. But that gentleman spoiled it all by his own overconfidence.

For when he called, after Jennie had determined on this course, he found her so full of kindness that he hardly knew how to behave with moderation. And so he fell to flattering her, and flattering himself at the same time that he knew all the ins and outs of a girl's heart, he complimented her on the many offers she had received.

"And I tell you what," he proceeded, "there are plenty of others that would lay their heads at your feet, if they were only your equals. There's that young parson, Gilbert, I think they call him, that is visiting his mother, in the unpainted and threadbare looking little house that stands behind this one. I've actually seen that fellow, in his rusty, musty coat, stop and look after you on the street, and every night, when I go home, he is sitting at the window that looks over this way. The poor fool is in love with you. Only think of it! And I chuckle to myself when I see him, and say, 'Don't you wish you could reach so high!' I declare, it's funny!"

In that one speech Colonel Pearson dashed his chances to pieces. He could not account for the sudden return of winter in Jennie Morton's manner. And all his sunshine was powerless to dispel it, or to bring back the least approach of spring.

Poor Jennie! You can imagine, doctor, how she paced the floor all that night. She began to understood something of the courage of Henry Gilbert's heart, and something of the manliness of his motives. All night long she watched the light burning in the room in the widow's house; and all night long she debated the matter until her head ached. She could reach but one conclusion: Henry was to leave the day after to-morrow. If any communition should ever be opened between them, she must begin it. It was as if she had seen him drifting away forever, and must throw him a rope. I think even such a woman's right man as yourself would hardly justify her, however, in taking any step of the kind."

"I certainly should," said the doctor.

But she could not find a way—she had no rope to throw. Again the Colonel, meaning to do anything else but that, opened the way. At the breakfast-table the next morning she received from him a magnificent valentine. All at once she saw her method. It was St. Valentine's day. The rope was in her hand. Excusing herself from breakfast she hastened to her room.

To send a valentine to the faithful lover was the uppermost thought. But how? She dare not write her name, for, after all, she might offend his prejudices or his pride by so direct an approach. She went fumbling a drawer for stationary. She drew out a little pine boat that Henry had whittled for her many years before. He had named it "Hope," but the combined wisdom of the little boy and girl could not succeed in spelling the name correctly. And here was the little boat that he had given, saying often afterward that it was the boat they two were going to sail in some day. The misspelt name had been the subject of many a laugh between them. Now—but I mustn't be sentimental.

It did not take Jennie long to draw an exact likeness of the little craft. And that there might be no mistake about it, she spelled the name as it was on the side of the boat:

"HOAP."

There was not another word in the valentine. Sealing it up, she hurried out with it, and dropped it in the post-office. No merchant, sending all his fortune to sea in one frail bark, ever watched the departure and trembled for the result of venture as she did. Spain did not pray half so fervently when the invincible Armada sailed. It was an unuttered prayer—an unutterable prayer. For heart and hope were the lading of the little picture-boat that sailed out that day, with no other wind but her wishes in its sails.

She sat down at her window until she saw Henry Gilbert pass the next street corner on his morning walk to the post-office. Three minutes after, he went home, evidently in a great state of excitement, with her valentine open in his hand. After a while he went back again toward the post-office, and returned. He had taken a reply!

Jennie again sought the office. There were people all around with those hideous things that they call comic valentines open in their hands. And they actually seemed to think them funny! She had a reply. It did not take her long to find her room and to open it. There was another picture of a boat, but the name on its side read 'DESPAIR.' And these words were added:—'Your boat is the pleasantest, but understanding that there was no vacant place upon it, I have been obliged to take passage on this.' Slowly the meaning forced itself upon her. Henry had fears that she whom he thought engaged was cogneting with him. I think, doctor, you will hardly justify her in proceeding further with the correspondence?"

"Why not? Hasn't a woman as much right to make herself understood in such a matter as a man? And when the social advantages are on her side the burden of making the advances often falls upon her. Many woman do it indirectly and are not censured."

"Well, you know, I'm conservative, doctor, but I'm glad you're consistent. She did send another valentine, I am afraid she strained this figure of speech about the boat. But when everything in the world depends on one metaphor, it will not do to be fastidious. Jennie drew again the little boat with misspelt name. And this time added five words: "The master's place is vacant!"

"And quite late in the afternoon, the reply was left at the door: 'I am an applicant for the vacant place, if you will take that of master's mate."

"Good," cried the doctor; "I always advocated giving woman every liberty in these matters."

"But I will stump you yet, doctor," said Hubert. "That evening Gough was to lecture in the village, and my friend went, not to hear Gough, but to see Miss Jennie Morton at a distance. Somehow in the stupefaction of revived hope he had not thought of going to the house to see her yet. He had postponed his departure and had thrown away his scruples. Knowing how much opposition he would have to contend with, he thought, if he thought at all, that he must proceed with caution. But some time after the lecture began he discovered the Morton family without Jennie! Slowly it dawned upon him. She was at home waiting for him. He was near the front of the church in which the lecture was held, and every inch of aisle was full of people. To get out was not easy. But as he thought of Jennie waiting it became a matter of life and death. If the house had been on fire he would not have been more intent on making his exit. He reached the door, he passed the happiest evening of his life, only to awake to sorrow, for Jennie's father is 'dead set against the match.'"

"He has no right to interfere," said the doctor, vehemently. "You see I stand by my principles."

"But if I tell the story out I am afraid you would not," said Hubert.

"Why, isn't it done?"

"I beg your pardon, doctor, for having used a little craft. I had much at stake. I have disguised this story in its details. But it is true, I am the hero——"

The doctor looked quickly towards his daughter. Her head was bent low over her book. Her long hair hung about it like a curtain, shutting out all view of the face. The doctor walked to the other window and looked out. Hubert sat like a mummy. After a minute Dr. Hood spoke.

"Cornelia!"

She lifted a face that was aflame, Tears glistened in her eyes, and I doubt not there was a prayer in her heart

"You are a brave girl. I had other plans. You have a right to choose for yourself. God bless you both. But it's a great pity Hu is not a lawyer. He pleads so well." So saying he put on his hat and walked out.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of mankind, it has stood higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the most serious affections of the lungs and throat have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health, by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses often, to keep the phlegm and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Croup, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Crup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

CARE OF STOCK IN FEBRUARY.—February is one of the most critical months in respect to stock, as the weather is changeable, and sudden transitions from mild weather to intense cold frequently take place. Stock should be carefully attended to this month and not suffered to fall away. Horses and working oxen should be kept in good condition, so that they may be strong enough for the Spring work. A few carrots with their grain will aid digestion and appetite, and improve their coats. Ventilate stables and abolish high feeding racks. The main point with a farmer who keeps horses, is to use them in such a way as will give them all the strength and agility the animal is capable of, and to work them all they can stand without injuring either. The poor, half starved horse is an animal any man ought to be ashamed of; but on the other hand, the pampered and over fed and half worked horse, though he may look very nice to some, is an animal I would advise the farmer not to keep, as such animals are more liable to loss than any other.

Young animals should have suitable shelter and provender that their growth may not be checked in winter. When exposed to cold and not supplied with sufficient provender, the error cannot be repaired by any amount of good treatment at a subsequent period. The most successful breeders of horses, cattle, sheep, and swine, keep the stock in good growing condition; not too fat, but always improving. Regularity in feeding and watering, comfortable quarters, personal cleanliness and sufficent ventilation are necessary to ensure success in wintering animals, old and young.

Milk cows to within about six weeks of calving; young cows certainly to that time, if possible, to encourage a habit of holding out well. In icy weather be very careful of cows with calf. Give generous feed of hay and roots, but not much grain. Cut hay or straw steamed, and a little bran or meal added, is profitable. Keep the skin healthy by frequent carding and brushing. Those about to calve should be turned loose into separate, roomy stalls. Watch their time, to give assistance if needed, but do not interfere unless absolutely necessary, and then use gentle means.

Oxen ought to be shod, and kept sharp, whether the ground is slippery or not. Feed in accordance with the labor demanded of them, but on no account let them fall off in flesh. Oxen low in flesh are more liable to meet with accidents than others, and if a poor steer breaks a leg nobody wants the beef, and it is not fit to eat; not so with one in good condition.

Abundant food should be given to poultry in winter, as without it a very few eggs will be obtained. Every poultry house should be furnished with boxes for the hens to lay in, so arranged that they cannot roost over them. Food and water should be given them with regularity, and a supply of lime, gravel, crushed bones and charcoal should always be available.

When the Spring work commences it may perhaps be inconvenient to devote much time to the selection of agricultural seeds, and on this account they should be procured when field work cannot be attempted. Sometimes seeds have to be procured from a considerable distance, and they should be ordered several weeks, or perhaps months before the time for sowing comes around.—Am. Stock Journal.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET,
FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, FEB. 8,
[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 843; Sheep and Lambs 3265; Swine 3100; number of Western Cattle 779; Eastern Cattle 25; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 40. Cattle left over from last week —.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 50 @ $13 00; first quality $11 50 @ $12 25; second quality $10 50 @ $11 25; third quality $9 50 @ $10 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $6 00 @ $9 00 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8c ℔ lb; Country Hides 7½ @ 8c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6@6c per lb; Country Tallow 6c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 25 @ 1 75 each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The trade for Beeves has been quicker than it was one week ago. The number from the West was not quite so large, and the quality not much different. A few of the best lots of Cattle were taken at a commission, costing 12½ @ 13c ℔ lb. Prices upon all grades remain unchanged. There has been a better feeling and butchers bought more readily than they have for several weeks past. The trade has been confined to the Beef trade principally. There has not been any Working Oxen or Store Cattle offered in market for sale. There were a few Cattle in market from Maine, the first for several weeks, all Beeves.

Sheep and Lambs—Most of the Western Sheep are taken at a commission or owned by butchers who have agents at the West buying for them. Western Sheep cost at Albany from 5 @ 7½c ℔ lb. We quote prices—Extra $4 50 @ 7 50; ordinary $2 @ 4 25, or from 3½ @ 7½c ℔ lb.

Swine—Store Pigs—Wholesale 7½ @ 8c ℔ lb; retail 8 @ 10c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs—5000 at market; prices 8 @ 8½ ℔ lb. There has not been much doing in the Store Pig trade of late, and a few Pigs each week is all the market requires.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

☞ Hon. Julius Vogel, Postmaster-General of New Zealand, left San Francisco on Thursday, Feb. 9, for New York, Washington and Europe. In addition to the steamship subsidy matters, he is charged with the negotiation of a loan of £7,000,000 for railroads in New Zealand. Mr. Vogel is of the Hebrew pursuasion, and an able journalist, having established and for several years conducted the Otago Daily Times, a leading political and news paper of New Zealand, published at Dunedin, the capital of Otago Province.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.—Twenty-three years ago last Thursday the streets of Houlton were dry and dusty, the air mild, and the farmers were ploughing in the fields. Thursday of last week presented quite a contrast, the mercury standing 35 deg. below zero, and a couple feet of snow in the fields.—Aroostook Pioneer.

—A runaway couple were getting married in Delaware, when the stern parent got in an appearance. Some [illegible] the knot was nicely tied in the next room. He thinks he was sold.

—At Evansville, (Ind.) youth, after being fined $5 for howling under the window of two girls, got a license, and married one of them right off, quick. He says she can't get him fined for singing any more.

THE CORRUPT RADICALS.—The Patriot of Wednesday makes the following plea for the election of good, pure democrats, who cannot be influenced by corrupt loobies, to Congress:—

Congress is being asked to grant subsidies to ocean steamship lines to the amount of $87,000,000! * * Any plunder scheme can be lobbied through Congress; its leading members are notoriously corrupt, and are ready to become partners in any scheme to draw money from the treasury. * * Many of them have become rich by their connection with the Pacific Railroad, and by their votes the Government has aided that road to the amount of $75,000,000. How can we expect economy and retrenchment from a Congress thus controlled? How can we hope for honest management of public affairs from a party whose leaders are notoriously profligate and corrupt, and habitually employed in swindling the Government? Let tax-payers think of this; let them consider whether it is not time for a change; and let them resolve to vote only for honest men to represent them in Congress. We present such men for their support.

The above, from a democratic paper, would naturally lead any uninitiated reader to suppose that the democracy had nothing to do with any "schemes to draw money from the treasury," and that the republican party is the one "whose leaders are notoriously profligate and corrupt." The Pacific Railroad is especially mentioned; but the radicals have not been the only ones interested in that,—for the biggest grant Congress ever made, that to the Northern Pacific Railroad, was fugled by a democratic leader and supported by many democratic votes. As to the steamship subsidies, they are not yet granted, by any means; and that most corrupt leader of a most corrupt party, President Grant, has just vetoed a bill giving large additional compensation to certain contractors, thereby demoralizing the lobby very extensively.

☞ Mr. H. C. Dorsey, the "prisoners' friend," writes to the Boston Herald that "it is stated that I have made money by manufacturing and selling chips, splits, counters and cards, used by sporting men, and that by this means I am enabled to give dinners to convicts in some penitentiary. I have carried on the business of 'sign and ornamental painting' for 11 years, but I never made or kept for sale a single one of the articles mentioned."

—Judge Barnard of New York announces that he will give no more secret divorces.

—Chicago calls its foundling hospital a refuge for anonymous humanity.

HOW TO MAKE HENS LAY.—People would better understand this matter (says the Country Gentleman) if they consider for a moment a hen to be as she is—a small steam engine, with an egg-laying attachment; and thus there must be a constant supply of good feed and pure water to keep the engine and its attachment up to its work. In addition to keeping before hens who have complete liberty a constant supply of pure water, summer and winter, I have found during the cool and cold weather of fall, winter and spring, a dough composed as follows, fed one day and then intermitted for two days, to produce excellent results:—

To three gallons of boiling water and one-half an ounce of common salt, a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, and four ounces of lard. Stir the mixture until the pepper has imparted considerable strength to the water. Meanwhile the salt will have been dissolved and the lard melted. Then, while yet boiling hot, stir in a meal made of oats and corn, ground together in equal proportions, until a stiff mush is formed. Set away to cool down to a milk warmth.

Before feeding taste to see that you have an overdose neither of salt nor pepper, and to prevent the hens being imposed upon with a mixture not fit to be eaten. The hen mush should not be more salt than to suit your own taste, nor so hot with pepper that you could not swallow it, were so much in your broth. Beware of too much salt, too much lard, and too much pepper; and beware, too, where the seasoning is not high, of feeding this dough too long at a time. Let the hens be fed one day fully with it, then let it be omitted and the ordinary feed given two days, and so on, and the result will be found satisfactory. Hens fed this way will be a good deal less inclined to set, than when fed in the ordinary manner.

☞ The British admiralty court has released the American fishing schooner White Fawn, on the ground that she had broken no law.

NAVAL.—The U. S. steamer Severn, Admiral Lee, has arrived at Havana. She will soon sail for Key West.

☞ George P. Thompson, Esq., of York, Me., has been re-appointed Deputy Sheriff.

☞ The Kennebec river is frozen over at Bath, Me.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

IMPERVIOUSNESS is a quality not to be lightly considered in the character of our public men,—in clothing for the feet it is a leading requisite for our variable Northern climate. The CABLE SCREW WIRE BOOTS AND SHOES are the dryest and most comfortable goods in the market. For sale everywhere.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Suggestions of the Season.

Thousands regard the winter as a season of trials; and the truth is, that if there is a weak point in the system, winter is pretty sure to find it out. Constitutional tendencies to disease are generally aggravated by the damp and cold. (Rheumatism sometimes lies perdu all the summer and fall, pounce upon its victims in the season of cold.) As a means of fortifying the body against all the diseases which prevail most extensively in winter, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS cannot be too urgently recommended. There would be fewer cases of the pulmonary complaints tending to consumption, if all feeble systems were invigorated during the season with a course of this inestimable vegetable tonic and alterative. Constipation, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and a general sluggishness of the secretive organs, very generally prevail at this period of the year. To all these ailments experience (the most trustworthy of all mentors) teaches us that the Bitters is a reliable remedy. Warm clothing is a good external defence against atmospheric cold and moisture, but vigorous activity in the vital organization which generates heat and delivers it to the surface, is also essential to health, and this activity is secured through the operation of the Bitters. The skin sympathizes with the stomach, and if digestion is regular and perfect, the exterior circulation will be brisk, and damp and cold may be encountered with comparative safety.

BULLETS FOR EUROPE.

Lead is wanted in Europe. Send over the millions of bottles of new fangled hair colorers that "remain over" and can't be sold here. Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

The lead-saturated and sulphur saturated nostrums have gone down, down, down, where they belong; while the EXCELSIOR DYE has gone up with a rapidity that taxes to the utmost the facilities for manufacturing it. It is to-day the

NEW ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. I attribute to it what I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more equable, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and provisions cheaper, I admit; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, we may generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, are highly recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take a cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of sudden changes, and, if possible, to Mellonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a tight cough, a deranged bowels, disagreeable cough, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia, every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, also enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my information in regard to it. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and still get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; but these remedies are prepared for such, exclusively for night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, for months, in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach, and get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; for it is the index of health. With a relish for food, the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by the healing of the lungs,—for the cough ceases, and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient is well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have tried this means to go to Florida, who, if the question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the day, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be regulated by a thermometer, and not by the thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will allow, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so still. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment adopted. The fact stands unfriended, that I believe that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been cured from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its mercurial effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and when you then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They are a good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Where a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer will unravel the condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or lesser irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

WANTED!

AN OPPORTUNITY TO WORK, (do anything decent,) between the hours of 3 and 6, P. M. Am now employed until 3 o'clock. Address, JOHN GILES, Care Chronicle Office. Jan27tf

PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To insure or not to insure? That is the question.
Whether t'will be nobler for my family to suffer
The stings and arrows of outrageous fortune
Or take a policy against those dangers,
And, by insuring, end them? To fret, to fear,
No more; and by a policy to end
The heart-ache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to. Yes, my application
'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished; apply, insure.
To insure, perchance to be—ay, there's the rub
For in that policy of insurance what
May come when we have shuffled off this mortal coil,
Must give us pause: there's the respect
That makes calamity of so long life.
And makes me rather pay the bills I have
Than fly to others I know not of.
Thus does meanness make brutes of us all.

THE ODD FELLOWS' CELEBRATION of the twenty-fifth anniversary of New Hampshire Lodge No. 17, this (Friday) evening, will be an extensive and gorgeous affair. The Order will meet at their Hall on Daniel street at 7 o'clock, in full regalia, and march to the Temple, (the Cornet Band furnishing the music,) where they will listen to an Address by Past Grand Representative Joseph Kidder, of Manchester; after which a Supper and Dance at Congress Hall will wind up the celebration. The address and supper are free to all brethren of the Order and their ladies; and tickets to the dance are 75 cts. each.

CRUEL JOKE.—Some heartless individual has gummed on a conspicuous part of our desk the following poem:—

"'Tis sweet to court;
But oh! how bitter
To court a gal
And then not git her."

Every man of taste will fully endorse the sentiment expressed in the first line of the above poetry, and if that was all there was of it we would n't complain; but while we recognize the sublime truth contained in that same first line, we blush to acknowledge ourself a bachelor still. Probably the chap who stuck the poetry where we could n't fail to see it, thought it funny to harrow up our feelings; if so, he should study the ancient history of the boy and the frogs—"what's sport to you is death to us."

☞ Our article headed "Democratic Financiering," in Thursday's Chronicle, displeased a certain coppery politician in this city, who undertook to instruct us as to the exact political standing of the insolvent State of Alabama by informing us that the democrats have but just come into power there. We knew that before—and we also know that until that party came into power the State had some credit, which the copperheads have utterly destroyed by talking "repudiation,"—as the same party would utterly destroy the National credit, and by the same means, if the people would only give them the chance by putting them in power,—which they won't do at present.

ERRORS.—David Murray, Esq., of Newmarket, writes the Exeter News Letter in relation to his communication to the Chronicle, which the News Letter reprinted last week:—

"In the article on Ebenezer Joy, are two errors in the Chronicle. Abigail Barrell should read Abigail Buzzell, and Parker's Hall should read Packer's Falls. The name Peck is quite common, but I never heard of the name Barrell, especially with two l's."

If our old and valued friend Murray was as well posted in the history of York County as he is in that of Rockingham, he would know that Barrell is an old and honorable name, and exists in numerous representatives at this day. And the names of both measures alluded to, are borne by persons in this city now.

SHARKS.—The prospective paying-off of the crew of the U. S. S. Tuscarora has called hither the usual number of those pestiferous creatures known as "land-sharks," who, in plying their vocation, exhibit a wonderful degree of impudent perseverance. Some of them visit the Navy Yard daily, and patiently wait the whole day through to catch the ear of a sailor, who if he once allows himself to be entrapped by their promises will never get out of their clutches with a dollar in his pocket or a decent coat on his back. Some of these robbers are professional gamblers, but most of them are "runners" for houses of ill-fame in Boston and elsewhere. This business of robbing seamen of their earnings is nothing new, we are aware, but it is becoming systematized to such an extent that it is next to an impossibility for a sailor to escape the thieves' unceasing vigilance. We are informed that one of the crew of the Tuscarora has about $800 due him, which is doubtless the result of three years of rigid economy. Such an individual in the hands of the "sharks" would be a prize that would well offset a few days of waiting and watching. It would be a good thing if we had in our midst some organized institution of benevolence that could protect seamen, and aid and assist them in retaining their money in spite of those who would rob them.

CORRECTION.—It is 50 per cent. of the gross earnings of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, proceeding from the business of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Railway, which is to be invested in the Bonds of the latter road, and not 40 per cent., as we stated in a previous issue.

☞ Mrs. Abby Sage Richardson recently gave a reading at Norwich, Ct., before a large and fashionable audience. Her modest demeanor and the pathos of her rendering made her effort highly acceptable.

☞ Daniel McFarland, the murderer of Albert D. Richardson, recently lectured at Newark, N. J., on "Woman's rights and woman's wrongs," to an audience of 90 persons. He made no allusion to his own life, but read his essay with great rapidity, and when he had finished, quietly left the room. The audience was not demonstrative.

DR. SAMUEL H. TAYLOR.—Samuel Harvey Taylor, L. L. D., was born in Londonderry, Oct. 3, 1807. He fitted for college at Pinkerton Academy in that town, and graduated at Dartmouth College in 1832. He then pursued a theological course at Andover, Mass., and graduated in 1837. A part of the time of his theological course was spent in teaching in the Academy at Andover, and as a tutor in Dartmouth College. In 1837 he became principal of Phillips Academy at Andover, and continued in that position up to his death, a period of 33 years.

Mr. Taylor was a distinguished educator, and the Academy was highly prosperous under his charge. Students who went to college from that institution were well prepared. He was a man of fine literary taste, and prepared from the German a "Guide for Writing Latin," also an "Elementary Greek Grammar;" he published a "Memorial of Joseph P. Fairbanks," and a "Method of Classical Study." For about 19 years he was one of the editors of the "Bibliotheca Sacra," published at Andover.

Rev. E. L. Parker, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Derry, prepared the history of Londonderry, but died July 14, 1850, before the work went to press. It was published in 1851, and in it appears a memoir of Mr. Parker, written by Mr. Taylor, who was his son-in-law, having married Miss Caroline P. Parker. It embraces about 50 pages.

Mr. Taylor died suddenly on Sabbath morning, Jan. 29, of this year. He was entering the Academy to teach a Bible class, when he fell and instantly expired, aged 63. J.

☞ Mr. Geo. S. Benedict, editor of the Cleveland Herald, recently killed on the Hudson River Railroad, was formerly an Assistant Paymaster in the U. S. Navy, and resigned at the close of the war. He is highly spoken of by his former associates in the service.

☞ Two women and two children were brutally murdered near Jacksonville, Georgia, Feb. 11th. Their heads were chopped to pieces with an axe. The motives was robbery, and the murderers are supposed to be negro outlaws.

☞ Harry March, a printer, who committed suicide in Boston on the 6th, was a native of this city, and about 40 years of age. He was a step-son of Mr. John T. Gibbs of Dover.

☞ Rev. C. E. Cheney has been convicted by the Ecclesiastical Council at Chicago, of disobeying the canons of the Episcopal Church. He has appealed.

☞ A test vote in the U. S. House of Representatives on Thursday shows the House to be opposed to the repeal of the income tax. Good!

☞ We were mistaken in saying that Rev. L. L. Harmon is the City Missionary; the gentleman appointed is Mr. Martin W. Harmon.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœia, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address DR. H. T. HELMBOLD, Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first-class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty-five miles, which is already graded. They will thus open

The First Through Line Across the State

from north to south, and, by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND ST. PAUL.

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the Great Northwest. The

First Mortgage

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS,

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16,000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20,000 to $40,000,) and are offered at 90 and accrued interest, in currency. About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of, leaving but a small balance unsold, which are being rapidly taken.

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a finished railroad, which is well located for business, are one of the very safest forms of investment.

Parties desiring to secure a first-class security, based upon a railroad practically done, and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success, will do well to apply at the office of the Company, or any of its advertised agents, for a pamphlet and map, showing the characteristics of the enterprise.

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit, beside a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years. Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1,000 Bond a $1,000 Central Iowa Bond, and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond,) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of December 27th, 1870:—

Offer For Sale at Par and Accrued Interest the FIRST MORT. LAND GRANT GOLD BONDS

—OF THE—

Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

These bonds are secured, first, by a First Mortgage on the Railroad itself, its rolling stock, and all equipments; second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than Twenty-Two Thousand Acres of Land to each mile of Road.

The Bonds are free from United States Tax; the Principal and Interest are payable in Gold the Principal at the end of Thirty years, and the Interest Semi-annually, at the rate of SEVEN AND THREE-TENTHS PER CENT. per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

The Trustees under the Mortgage are Messrs. Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company.

These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable at TEN PER CENT. PREMIUM (or 1.10,) in exchange for the Company's lands at their lowest cash price.

In addition to their absolute safety, these Bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first-class security. Persons holding United States 5-20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacifics, increase their yearly income one-third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.

HOW TO GET THEM.—Your nearest Bank or Banker will supply these Bonds in any desired amount, and of any denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our Agents, who will offer the highest current price for ALL MARKETABLE SECURITIES.

Those living in localities remote from Banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific Bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. LEFT-HANDEDNESS.—Many parents try to cure their children of left handedness by using severe measures, such as whipping, or obliging the child to go for weeks with the left hand tied to the body. Some even go so far as to make it a matter of special shaming and mortification. These should never be tried until a patient trial of pleasanter measures has failed. Left-handedness certainly produces an awkward effect, but is not one of the cardinal sins. If a child can be taught to write with her right hand, to use her knife, fork and spoon properly, raise her glass, and offer the right hand in salutation, it is by no means necessary to cure her of using the left hand occasionally. In many cases, to be ambidextrous is invaluable to women. All needle work should be carefully taught with the right hand as needle holder, but left-handedness should not be treated as a crime to be punished. The child should be kindly told its disadvantages, and shown how awkward it looks. A pretty coral bracelet of beads strung on elastic, worn on the right hand, has a marvelous effect on left-handed girls, and is always worth trying.—Hearth and Home.

VENTILATION OF HIVES IN WINTER.—After all that has been written relative to the ventilation of hives in winter, the right principle is little understood. It is true that bees winter better when the moisture is carried off by upward ventilation, provided the heat, is retained; but it is absolutely as necessary to retain the heat generated by the bees in the hive as to get rid of the moisture, if the former object is not even more imperative. Evidently, then, proper ventilation should allow the moisture to escape while the heat is retained. This may be done in the following manner: Cover all upward ventilating passages or openings with some warm material that will absorb the moisture, but retain the heat. Thick flannel or woolen cloth, an old bag, or quilts made for the purpose, will answer. If the honey-board is removed, and a frame covered with wire cloth or strong linen put on instead, and over this some warm material, the moisture would entirely escape, leaving the bees and combs dry, while all the heat would be retained.—Canada Farmer.

FEEDING SHEEP IN WINTER.—Mr. Julian Winne of Bethlehem, N. Y., one of the most noted sheep feeders in the country, says:—"For horses, cattle and pigs, I prefer ground feed; but for sheep, especially fattening, I choose whole or unground feed. I find the sheep will grind it just as well as the mill, to which we must give every tenth bushel, besides having the trouble of hauling the grain to and from it. I also find that fat sheep will hold up to their full feed much better, especially in soft weather, on whole than on ground feed; consequently drawing grain to and from the mill, and paying toll, is, in my estimation, labor and money lost."

—A writer in the Philadelphia Press cites from memory a speech made in that city by Henry Clay more than 30 years ago, in response to the calls of a large crowd gathered in front of the hotel where he was staying:—"Fellow-citizens—You that have wives had better go home to them; you that have sweethearts had better be enjoying their society, and you that have neither had better go home to your mothers. As for me, I intend to spend the evening in the society of these ladies"—pointing to the parlor of the hotel.

—Gen. McClellan wrote a letter to Mr. Lincoln, from the Peninsula, July 2, 1862, giving him advice as to the general politics of the country, and how to carry on the affairs of the nation. Some one said to Mr. Lincoln: "What did you reply?" "Nothing," said old Abe, "but it made me think of the man whose horse kicked up and stuck his foot through the stirrup. He said to the horse, 'If you are going to get on I will get off.'"

—One of the editors of the Lewisburg Chronicle, soon after he went to the printing business, and became entitled to the usual Scottish appellation (Printer's Devil) assigned to the youngest apprentice, went to see a preacher's daughter. The next time he went to meeting he was considerably astonished at hearing the minister announce his text, "My daughter is grievously tormented with a devil."

—Albert Pike was met in Vicksburg, Miss., a few weeks ago, by the editor of the Jackson Pilot, and the latter tells how he was struck, thus: "He wore an old 'slouch-hat,' and his clothes were seedy, but he had that lordly air about him which his seedy clothing and careless habits could not disguise; a leonine aspect—the very face and front of Jove (as we remember Jove)."

—Hon. R. R. Butler is about to bring his acquittal to pecuniary account by suing for libel all the papers that have expressed an unfavorable opinion of him, the damages to his fair fame being estimated at $30,000 in each instance. As there are about 8,000 papers published in America, his prospective profit will be $240,000,000.

—Theresa Young, a Michigan girl, whose brother was hung, and whose father is now doing the state some service at the Michigan state prison, has been sent from San Francisco to the Insane Asylum, after a vain endeavor to shoot a gentleman in that city.

—The Galaxy publishes a striking portrait of Mrs. Edwards, the authoress of "Ought We to Visit Her?" As Mrs. E. is not as handsome as she might be, it would be well to consider the matter.

—Fact in natural history—The beard of the oyster is forked.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this peculiar compound for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, and has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the bottle in your water at night, until the disease is broken up.
For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take it freely.
For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.
For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.
No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. In times by-gone often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents should be in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.
So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.
